GREAT BRITAIN TO CALL OUT RESERVES IN STRIKE CRISIS

Railway and Transport Workers Agree to Join Coal Miners and Quit Work Next Tuesday in Case Efforts at Settlement Fail.

ABOUT 1,300,000 MEN IN TRIPLE ALLIANCE

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 8.—The intention of the British Government to issue an appeal for volunteers for the transport and other essential services, in view of the prospective triple alliance strike, was announced in the House of Commons late today by Lloyd George, the Prime Minister. A royal proclamation would call up the army and navy reserves, he said.

The Government also intends to enroll special constables and form a special emergency force for a period of 90 days to protect the police in the execution of their duty, the Prime Minister added.

All efforts by Lloyd George to bring the miners and the mine owners together to discuss the differences which led to the strike in the coal fields having failed, the miners' executives went into conference this afternoon with their partners in the triple alliance—the transport workers and the railway men—to decide when the members of the allied organizations should be called out in a sympathetic strike.

Time Set for Sympathy Strike.

The railway men and transport workers decided to begin their strike next Tuesday morning in sympathy with the miners, failing the reopening of negotiations for a settlement of the coal strike.

Last night's decision by the Prime Minister, at the suggestion of the more moderate labor interests, to invite the miners and owners to a conference this morning at which the first subject for discussion would be the resumption of pumping to clear the mines of water, led the general public to believe a settlement was in sight, and that the impending strike, promising to be the greatest in the history of the country, would be averted.

The miners, however, were adamant in their stand, insisting there should be no restriction regarding the questions to be discussed by the conferees, and an exchange of letters between them and Lloyd George failed to change their minds.

1,300,000 in Alliance.

The three big unions, known as the triple alliance, have more than 1,300,000 members. Their leaders contend they will paralyze all commercial and industrial activities in the British Isles.

After the consultation between the transport workers and the railroad men, J. H. Thomas, a leader of the railroaders, emerged from the conference room appearing much distressed.

"A 'triple alliance' strike has been decided upon," he declared. "It will be controlled by the joint Executive Committees of the three bodies, which will meet this afternoon to take charge and make necessary arrangements."

During the night reports from many points in Scotland and South Wales told of excesses by strikers, and of volunteers being driven from pumps in mines, in which the waters were gaining.

Contentions of Rail Men.

In announcing yesterday the decision of the railway men to give their support to the miners, the railway men's general secretary said the meeting had unanimously decided that the terms offered the miners were such as justified their refusal to accept them. It would only be the beginning of a general attack on working class conditions and an attempt to bring about the standard of living that prevailed before the war, he declared.

A verbatim report of the conference which the miners had at the Prime Minister's official residence in Downing street yesterday morning shows that an impasse was reached over the return of the pumpmen and other safety workers as a preliminary to the reopening of the peace negotiations. To this proposition, forcefully put by Lloyd George and other Cabinet members, Committeeman Staker of the miners' executive body replied:

"I am not an extremely hotheaded

Henry Ford, through his local attorneys, today applied to the Federal Court here for an injunction restraining the police from interfering with the sale, on the streets, of his paper, the Dearborn Independent. The petition alleges that the action of the police is in violation of the constitutional guarantees of freedom of the press and of individual rights.

In presenting the petition, William O. Reeder, an attorney, said the action of the police in arresting street criers who sold the paper was based on the fact that it has contained articles criticising the activities of Jewish organizations in the United States. As a result of the arrest of four vendors, on March 19 and 28, street sales have been suspended, he said.

After hearing the argument, Judge Faris took kthe papers, and told Reeder he would announce at 4 o'clock whether a temporary restraining order would be granted. The application was in line with Ford's recent announcement that he would fight, in the courts, efforts to restrict the sale of the paper.

NEW LAW FORBIDS HOLDING UP OF TRAFFIC BY 'HOGGING ROAD'

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 8.—Motorists no longer need poke along behind hay wagons or other rural equipage while the driver disinterestedly pokes along in complete domination of the roadway, for Gov. Hyde today signed a bill passed by the Legislature making it a misdemeanor wilfully to hinder, obstruct or delay, or wilfully attempt to delay, hinder or obstruct, any other person in lawfully driving or traveling along or upon a public highway in this State.

LARKIN'S NEPHEW AND NIECE SUE TO BREAK WILL

Charge He Was Incapable at Time Instrument Was Drawn Giving Wealth to Religious Organizations.

GAVE $775,000 TO CHARITY AND SCHOOLS

Couple, Asking That Grants Be Set Aside, Received a Total of $6000—He Cut Off Contestants With $100

Suit contesting the will of Eli Hilles Larkin, 80 years old, a bachelor, who died April 16, 1920, leaving approximately $775,000 of his $900,000 estate to religious organizations, schools and charities, was filed in the Circuit Court today by Bartholomew M. Larkin of Ferguson and Mrs. Annie E. Oliver of Florida, nephew and niece of the testator, who were bequeathed $1000 and $5000 respectively. They allege that Larkin, at the time the will was drawn, a month before his death, was mentally incapable of disposing of his estate.

Among the defendants are the David Ranken School of Mechanical Trades, which, under the will, was to receive stock in the National Ammonia Co., founded by Larkin, valued at about $372,000, and other property which brought the total of the bequest to $577,622; St. Louis Children's Hospital, which received a bequest of $100,000; Christ Church Cathedral, which received $10,000; other religious and charitable organizations which received a total of about $55,000, and a group of relatives who were left a total of $120,000.

A provision in the will stipulated that any contesting heir was to be cut off with $100.

In his will Larkin expressed a desire that some of the money left to the Ranken School be used for instruction in power plant operation, refrigeration, heating and ventilating, and similar subjects. He desired, he said, the establishment of a lecture course for men and boys desiring to engage in mechanical or manual trades or occupations, and suggested that gifts or loans be made to those who may otherwise be unable to pursue work in the school.

Other bequests included one of $10,000 to the Episcopal Orphans' Home, $10,000 to the Home of the Friendless, $10,000 to the Episcopal Old Folks' Home, $5000 to the Little Sisters of the Poor, $1000 to the Salvation Army, $40,000 to the Blind Girls' Home, $5000 to Mullanphy Hospital, $10,000 to Holy Cross Mission, $10,000 to the Christian Old People's Home, $10,000 to the Missouri Association for the Blind, $2000 to the St. Louis Sanitarium, and $5000 to the Mercy Hospital of Fort Scott, Kan.

The relatives named as defendants include Jane C. Larkin, Margaret R. Cooke, Susan and Mary Magruder and Elizabeth H. Lewis, nieces, and Thomas H. Larkin, D. Lynn and Charles A. Magruder, nephews, and Henry and Lynn Adsit, grand-nephews; the St. Louis Union Trust Co., trustee; Charles Cummings Collins, executor, and Bishop Daniel S. Tuttle, representing Christ Church Cathedral, and the other Episcopal organizations, also are named as defendants.

REQUEST THAT L. C. DYER BE NAMED MINISTER TO CHINA

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The American Chamber of Commerce of China at Shanghai has cabled to President Harding urging that either Representative L. C. Dyer of St. Louis or Charles Denby of Michigan, brother of the Secretary of the Navy, be appointed Minister to China. Dyer is the author of the China trade bill, which passed the House by a large majority at the last session of Congress, but failed to reach a vote in the Senate.

The bill would authorize the Federal incorporation of American firms doing business in China and exempt them from payment of excess profits taxes on profits earned in that country.

CITY IS VOTING ON SCHOOL TAX INCREASE TODAY

CITY SCHOOLS CLOSED TO ENCOURAGE VOTING

Passage of Measure Will Give Schools Revenue Estimated at $8,625,000 for Next Year.

Judges and Clerks Must Count Votes in Today's School Tax Election

JUDGES and clerks of election are required to count the votes cast in today's special election after the closing of the polls at 7 o'clock, in the same manner as they count the votes in any other election. They are then to take the boxes and tally sheets to the office of the Election Board in the city hall, where the addition and tabulation, to show the city-wide result, will be done by the board's force.

It was reported to the Election Board that some precinct election officials were under the impression that they were not to count the votes. This idea is erroneous.

Taxpaying voters are determining, in a special election today, whether the school tax rate shall be increased to 85 cents on the $100 valuation. The rate for the past year has been 75 cents, but in the present legal status of the matter, the rate will revert to 60 cents unless the increase is approved today. "Ten Cents More and Progress, or 15 Cents Less and Calamity," is the slogan of the campaign for the increase.

The 600 precinct polling places opened at 6 a. m., and will close at 7 p. m. A vote of about 50,000 has been predicted by Election Board officials. A majority of those voting will suffice to pass the increase.

The schools are having a holiday today. Most of the teachers and many of the older children are engaged in the task of getting voters to the polls.

Precinct election officials are supposed to ask every voter whether he or she is a taxpayer. The policy of the election officials is to construe this requirement leniently, and to admit as large a vote as possible.

A taxpayer, in the interpreted meaning of the law, is anyone who pays taxes on real or personal property, or who pays a State income tax or a manufacturer's license tax, or who owns stock in a State or national bank or trust company, taxes for which are assessed directly against the owner. Husband and wife, jointly owning property on which taxes are paid, are both entitled to vote.

Complaints Are Made.

The Election Board received complaint from some precincts this morning that the judges and clerks were refusing to permit anyone to vote except those who paid direct taxes on real estate or personal property. The board sent instructions to the officials in these precincts, through the police, to recognize also license and State income taxpayers and owners of bank and trust company stock. Some of the complaints in these cases were in the Eighth, Ninth, Twentieth and Twenty-eighth Wards.

Inquiry came from a Fifth Ward precinct whether the purchasers of tickets of admission to theaters and moving picture shows, or customers of soda fountains, would be taxpayers, inasmuch as they pay a war tax with every purchase. "Nothing doing," was the reply in such cases. The war tax is a Federal tax and does not count for this purpose.

Passage of the tax increase proposal will give the schools a revenue estimated at $8,625,000 for next year. If the proposal should fail, the schools would have about $5,036,500 for the year. The revenue available for the schools for the past year was $6,561,000.

The State Constitution limits the tax rate for school purposes to 60 cents on the $100 valuation, unless a majority of the taxpayers, in a special election, annually agree to a higher levy. An act passed by the recent Legislature will make it possible, one year hence, to vote on a rate to continue for four years.

CITY IN MOURNING FOR OUR SOLDIERS; 4 BODIES ARRIVE

CITY IN SILENCE AT NOON TOMORROW

Public Funeral Services Will Be Held From Moolah Temple—Mothers to Ride in Autos.

The 24-hour period of city-wide mourning for the more than 500 St. Louis soldiers who died overseas in the war, began at noon today, when flag-draped caskets containing the bodies of four soldiers, brought back from France, were placed in the city hall rotunda. The original plan was that six bodies should be so honored, but three of them have not arrived, and a fourth, not included in the original plan, that of a negro, has been substituted.

The soldiers whose bodies are to be under military guard at the city hall for the 24-hour period are:

Private August Bollinger, 28, years old, son of Mrs. Barbara Bollinger, a widow, of 1411 South Broadway; served in H Company, 356th Infantry; killed in action Nov. 6, 1918.

Corp. Fred C. Carter, 28, son of Mrs. Emma Carter, a widow, of 3859 McRee avenue; served as a machine gunner in the Sixteenth (regular) Infantry; killed in action, May 4, 1918.

Private Jake Linder, negro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cary Linder, 4324 Cook avenue; served in A Company, 370th Infantry; killed in action, Nov. 4, 1918.

Corp. Edward H. Alewel, 26, son of Mrs. Maddalina Meyer of 915 Elias avenue; served in H Company, 356th Infantry; killed in action on Armistice day, Nov. 11, 1918.

The bodies of the four men were placed in state in the city hall rotunda between 11:30 and noon. A squad of four men from Jefferson Barracks took stations at ease at the four corners of the group of coffins, which are at the foot of the main stairway. At either end of each stair to the first landing of the stairway are an American flag and the flag of some St. Louis post of the American Legion. Floral pieces sent by legion posts are at the foot of the stairway also.

The walls of the rotunda and the balconies overlooking it are draped in black interspersed with American flags. About 600 persons, filling the rotunda, gathered after the arrival of the coffins. City hall employes and others lined the rails of the balconies.

Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Bollinger, mothers of two of the men, went to the building early in the afternoon and stood silently by the coffins weeping. They were accompanied by other relatives.

Three women, not related to any of the men, knelt beside their coffins and prayed. They said they had lost sons in France. Another, Mrs. John Frank of 717 Choiteau avenue, said that her son was reported lost in 1917, and that she had heard nothing further of him.

Persons began to file past the coffins under the direction of the police and a movement in and out of the building become constant.

From noon today until noon tomorrow, by the Mayor's proclamation, flags on city buildings will be at half-mast, in honor of these men and of their comrades whose bodies still remain in France. It is requested that flags be similarly displayed throughout the city.

For the two minutes following noon tomorrow, a period of silence is to be observed, with cessation of the use of industrial machinery. A military and civic procession, escorting the bodies to Moolah Temple, on Lindell boulevard, near Vandeventer avenue, will then begin. At Moolah Temple, public funeral exercises will be held.

The route of tomorrow's procession will be on Twelfth street north from the city hall to Locust street, then out Locust street and by the cutoff to Lindell boulevard.

The three whose bodies are on the way here from Hoboken, N. J., but are not expected to arrive before tomorrow night, are Private Oliver B. Thuet, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Thuet of 4747 Alaska street; Private Gustav Spindler, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Spindler of 2811 McNair avenue, and Rudolph Stubenrauch, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Stubenrauch of 4212 Connecticut street.

The funeral services at Moolah Temple will be conducted by the Rev. Thomas Kennedy, State chaplain of the American Legion, and the Rev. Harold Reader, chaplain of the Memorial Post, of Webster

National Commander of American Legion Pays Heroes Tribute

F. W. GALBRAITH JR., national commander of the American Legion, today sent the following telegram from New York to Jerome F. Duggan of St. Louis, National Committeeman of the American Legion for Missouri, with the request that it be given to Rev. Thomas D. Kennedy, State chaplain of the legion:

"St. Louis today pauses in its busy life to pay honor to those whose lives also were once busy, whose hearts were full of high hope and of promise of rich accomplishment. The heroic dead whom you honor today are the first to come home from the graves of the battle line. It is not the sort of homecoming they longed for in the days of battle, not the sort of reception they looked forward to, but we of the American Legion and all Americans know that they cannot have died in vain. Their sacrifice must be an inspiration to us all devoted to the guarding of our liberties, not in the fury of battle, but here now in the quiet backwaters of peace.

"Permit me to add my voice to the condolences of St. Louis in this hour of solemn bereavement mixed with pride at the glorious deeds of arms of her sons."

ST. LOUISAN, MARINE HERO IN HAYTI, DIES

Sergt. William Button Aided in Expedition That Resulted in Death of Bandit.

Sergt. William Button of St. Louis, who, with Lieut. Herman H. Hanneken, 26, also of St. Louis, won the Congressional medal of honor for putting banditry in Hayti under control by killing the bandit leader, Charlemagne Peralte in November, 1919, died in Hayti last Tuesday.

This fact was announced in a telegram today from Major-General John A. Lejeune, commander of the Marine Corps, to Sergt. Button's parents, Dr. and Mrs. William P. Button of 4222 Manchester avenue. The cause was stated to have been pernicious malaria. It also was stated that the body would be sent to St. Louis.

The story of events leading up to the killing of Charlemagne, as related to the Post-Dispatch by Lieut. Hanneken upon a visit a year ago to his parents, William Hanneken, 820 Allen avenue, was one of amazing ingenuity and valor. Scribner's Magazine for last May printed much the same account.

Killing Was Planned.

Charlemagne was the leader of 15,000 bandits (in reality, revolutionists) who had terrorized the island. The plan of the St. Louis marines, who held rank as Captain and Lieutenant in the Haytian gendarmerie, to capture or kill Charlemagne, was three months in the making. It included the enacting of a mock battle in which one of the St. Louisans feigned being wounded for the purpose of gaining for one of their native officers the confidence of the bandit and hence knowledge of the route to his camp.

The expedition to Charlemagne's stronghold was composed of the St. Louis marines disguised as natives, their bodies blackened, and 18 natives dressed in rags to resemble bandits. The expedition penetrated through the bandit lines to Charlemagne's campfire.

Killing Ended Banditry.

As Lieut. Hanneken related it to the Post-Dispatch: "Button and I advanced alone until we were within about 15 paces of Charlemagne. He was on the far side of the fire and peered over it at our approach. It was about 2 o'clock in the morning. On his right, at about 40 feet, were his guard of 100. On the immediate right and left were sentries. As the sentries halted us at 20 paces, I raised my Colt and fired.

"'Let 'er go,'" I yelled at Button, and he turned his automatic on the guard of 100. They scattered. Someone kicked out the campfire. We were plunged in darkness. I groped about until I found a body. It was that of Charlemagne."

ESTIMATED EXPENSE OF CITY EXCEEDS ANNUAL REVENUE $5,317,690

CITY NOW HAS A DEFICIT OF $800,000

Salaries and Wages for the Next Fiscal Period Will Be $11,235,872, According to Estimates — Nolte Says Cut Must Be Made.

Estimates of proposed expenditures by the various municipal departments for the fiscal year 1921-1922, submitted to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment this afternoon for its guidance in preparing the annual budget, exceed anticipated revenues of the city by $5,317,690.43, taking into consideration the fact that the city begins the fiscal year with a deficit of $800,000. The estimates total $20,017,690.43. The total revenue available for the year, minus the $800,000 deficit, is $14,700,000.

Accompanying the compilation is a statement by Comptroller Nolte in which he calls attention to the fact that the net revenue for municipal purposes will be insufficient by $3,176,050 to furnish means for the mere upkeep of the departments, as estimated, without considering setting aside anything for special purposes or for new public work.

Salaries and Wages, $11,235,872.

Estimates for salaries and wages total $11,235,872; for other personal services, $1,100,067; for materials, supplies and other expenses, $4,540,111, making a total of $16,876,050 for operation and maintenance of all departments.

Estimates for special purposes total $1,201,518.43. Under this heading is included $50,000 for advertising St. Louis; $75,000 for sewer repairs; $33,000 for the city's electric power plants; $326,500 for "repairing certain streets and sewers and other special purposes;" $30,000 for Fire Department motor apparatus; $45,000 for remodeling the laundry and other repairs at the city hospital; $52,950 for improvement of grounds, dairy barns and other special purposes at Robert Koch Hospital; $50,000 for new bathhouse and comfort stations; $110,500 for road reconstruction; $228,100 for constructing walks; $35,000 for cottages at the Buder Recreation Farm; $50,000 for payment due this year on Fairgrounds; and $65,000 for new building at the Bellefontaine Industrial Farm.

Under the heading of new public work it is estimated that $1,940,125 will be required for the following purposes: Street improvement, $79,125; sewer construction, $58,500; bridge construction, $165,000; new buildings, for the Isolation Hospital, $365,000; for the city hospital, $209,000; for the City Sanitarium, $852,000; for the Robert Koch Hospital, $100,000, and for remodeling city hospital No. 2, $100,000; new buildings for the Municipal Lodging House and girls' protective work, $81,500, and amount due hospital fund, $159,000.

Estimates Must Be Reduced.

Comptroller Nolte, in his statement, points out that to permit the setting aside of even a few hundred thousand dollars for public work, and to make up out of next year's revenue the deficit expected at close of this year, all department estimates must be reduced to figures that will bring the total allowance within the appropriations made at the beginning of the fiscal year of 1920-21—$14,900,000—as the city's financial condition will not permit of appropriations for the coming year in excess of that sum.

Charles Regli, secretary to Fire Chief Panzer, said that he would submit to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment a plan, having the approval of virtually all the members of the Fire Department, whereby the firemen would be willing to accept a 12-hour workday in lieu of the eight-hour day authorized by the voters at Tuesday's election. He said that the plan would involve the employment of 146 additional firemen at an added cost to the city of about $270,000. Comptroller Nolte had estimated that under the eight-hour system the Fire Department, if manned by the same number of firemen as at present, would cost an additional $1,300,000 annually.

BOARD CALLS FOR LEGAL OPINION ON SINKING FUND TAX

Comptroller Also Asked for Statement on Fund in View of Charges of Violation of Charter.

The City Board of Estimate and Apportionmennt, at is meeting this afternoon, passed unanimously a resolution directing Comptroller Nolte, one of the three members of the board, to prepare a statement of the condition of all the city sinking funds, and to obtain the opinion of legal experts on the manner in which the fund has been handled, and the tax rate levied for sinking fund purposes.

The board's action was taken on the motion of President Aloe of the Board of Aldermen, and resulted from the publication, in last Saturday's Post-Dispatch, of a communication from former Judge Henry S. Priest. This communication called attention to the fact that, for two years, the tax levy made for the sinking fund had not been sufficient to provide the $1,200,000 required annually by a charter provision for the sinking fund for the payment of bonded indebtedness incurred before 1890.

Said Plan Was Justified.

When questioned about the matter by a Post-Dispatch reporter, Comptroller Nolte and Deputy Comptroller Gunn admitted that the charter provision had not been complied with, but said the provisions of the State Constitution, the supreme authority on matters of finance, had been observed. They gave reasons of fiscal policy which, they held, justified that plan which had been followed, in view of the special circumstances existing, particularly the loss of dramshop revenue, and the fact that in 1922 the World's Fair bonds will be paid off, enabling the city to devote a larger rate to other portions of the sinking fund for a few years thereafter.

The resolution introduced by President Aloe and passed by the Board of Estimate is as follows:

"Whereas, wide publicity has been given through the press and otherwise to certain charges regarding the alleged violation of the provision of the City Charter as to the sinking fund provided by law for paying the principal of various municipal bond issues when due, and

"Whereas, The action of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, and the Board of Aldermen, in fixing the annual tax rate for the purpose of providing said sinking funds, has been taken under the guidance of, and on the recommendation and direction of, the Comptroller, and on his assurance that the provisions of the Constitution of the State and the City Charter relating thereto were fully complied with; therefore,

Expert Opinion Called For.

"Be it resolved, that the Comptroller be directed to prepare a statement setting forth the exact condition of the various sinking funds maintained or required to be maintained by the city; and that the firm of Charles & Rutherford, or some other competent and recognized bond authorities, be employed to furnish an opinion covering the charges made in relation to this matter, and to make further recommendations regarding the present condition and future maintenance of the various sinking funds; to the end that the city's financial standing and credit may be preserved, and its securities maintained at the highest standard."

Aloe, Nolte and Mayor Kiel attended the meeting and voted for the resolution.

The police are seeking a man who was employed in the restaurant as dishwasher and who also roomed at 718A Market street. He went to his room shortly after midnight, packed his grips and departed hurriedly. He has not been seen in the neighborhood since.

Found Unconscious.

Gus Suspulos of 3517 North Market street, business partner of Papparizos, informed the police that about 4 a. m. he received a telephone message at his home from a man who would not disclose his identity, saying that there had been trouble at the restaurant. He said that he went immediately to the restaurant and found his partner lying unconscious on a pile of vegetables in a corner of the kitchen.

Policemen, summoned to the restaurant by Suspulos, found evidence of a fight from the cigar counter in the front part of the restaurant to the kitchen. Tables had been upset and salt and pepper shakers and catsup bottles were scattered about the floor. The cash register was locked, but papers and small change lying all over the floor in the kitchen convinced the policemen that Papparizos had been robbed. Suspulos said that he did not know how much money his partner had, but that he was in the habit of carrying it all in his pockets. Letters and other papers taken from Papparizos' grips were scattered about.

The police found on shelf a root beer bottle which bore evidence of having been used as a weapon. The neck was broken and the bottle was stained with red.

Warrant for Disturbance.

Suspulos told the police that his partner usually closed the restaurant around midnight, which caused the police to believe that the crime was committed about that time.

The order for the arrest of the dishwasher was issued when Suspulos informed the police that the dishwasher a few days ago remarked that he would not be working at the restaurant much longer.

Olin Smith, who shared the room with the dishwasher in the Market street lodging house, told the police that his roommate was accompanied by a short, stout man when he entered the room about 12:15 a. m. and packed his grips. Smith said that he was awakened when the men entered the room, but that he went back to sleep immediately.

GERMANY TO MAKE NEW REPARATION PROPOSITION

Rumor Says Berlin Will Ask Conference of Allied Representatives in Washington.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, April 8.—It was stated semi-officially here today that a fresh proposition on reparations was expected from Germany. Unconfirmed reports are in circulation that the Germans are making another effort to interest the United States in the question by negotiations between Karl Bergmann, German Undersecretary of the Treasury, and Roland W. Boyden, formerly American unofficial representative with the Allied Reparations Commission. Mr. Boyden, however, now is in Vienna, on his way to Constantinople, it is understood.

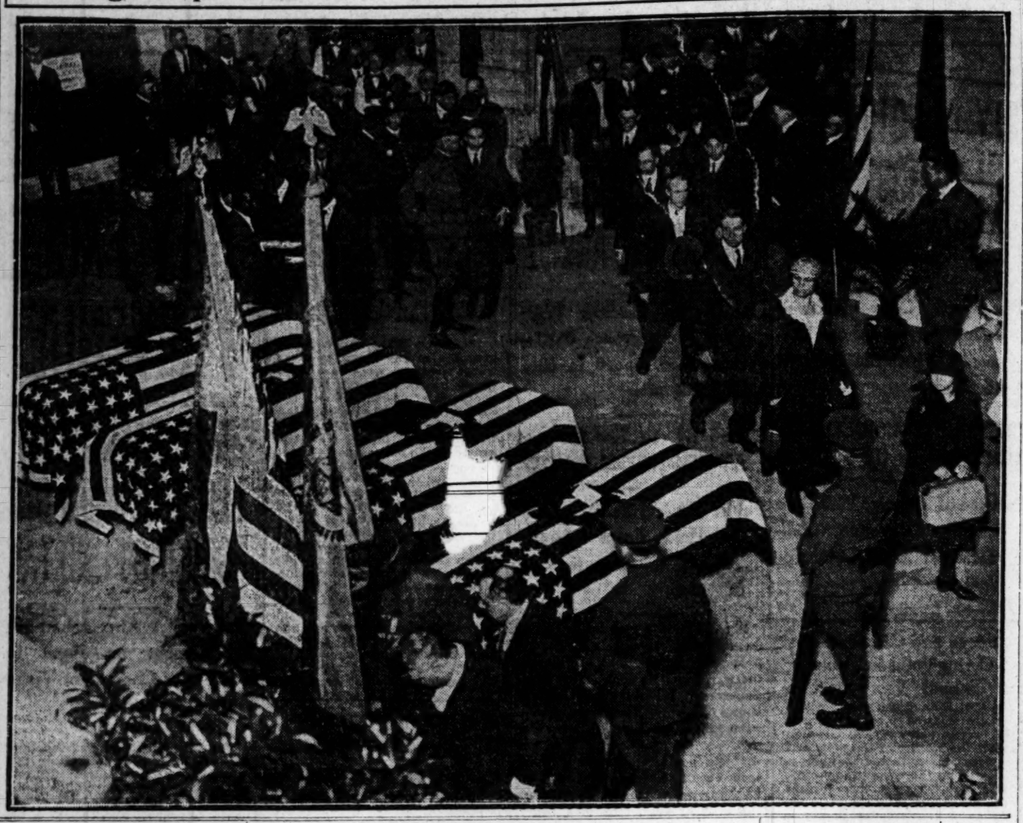

Nothing is known in official circles of a reported invitation to the allies and Germans to meet in Washington to discuss reparations, and it is declared here there is little likelihood of such procedure being favored by the allies.

The present expectation is that the allies will issue an ultimatum to Germany on the expiration of the time limit set for the payment by Germany of 20,000,000,000 marks gold, May 1.

MAN'S BODY TAKEN FROM RIVER

The body of an unidentified man, about 30 years old, was taken from the river at Davis street today by Charles Zeller of 404 West Courtois street. The initials "J. C. K." were on a belt buckle. The man had brown hair, was 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighed about 160 pounds. The body was clothed in a silkstriped shirt, blue trousers, silk socks and black shoes. It was taken to the morgue.

Automobiles are needed in tomorrow's procession, for carrying the gold star mothers, and those who can furnish machines for this purpose are asked to assemble before noon on Clark avenue, west of Twelfth street.

Members of the American Legion have been asked to appear in uniform and form at Thirteenth street and Clark avenue. There are 30 posts of the American Legion in the city, with a total membership of approximately 7500. Each post will delegate two active pallbearers and two honorary pallbearers, and 30 sets of American Legion national colors will be under guard at the City Hall.

man, but I would rather capitulate absolutely than enter into negotiations with a condition of that kind laid down beforehand."

The Prime Minister urged his condition strongly.

"All we are asking," he said, "is that while the negotiations are going on firing shall cease, and the armies stand to their arms."

Lloyd George Answered.

Committeeman Smith, another of the miners interposed.

"Without being fed—that is what your conditions are. It is no use bargaining about this. We have got to get these two fundamental principles agreed to—a National Wages Board and a national pool. Then we can talk about the safety men."

The Prime Minister answered this by saying:

"If you insist upon that, and say the safety of the mines will not be conceded, that you will not permit our taking the necessary steps to insure the safety of the mines until we have conceded beforehand two things which, amongst others, will have to be discussed, then it is an impossible position. That is an ultimatum of a much more serious character."

Frank Hodes, the miners' secretary, confirmed the miners' position by saying:

"That is the decision of the Miners' Federation."

The governmental conferees retired at this juncture and when they returned at the end of 12 minutes the Prime Minister gave the miners an opportunity of conferring privately, which they declined. It was agreed that a full stenographic report of the proceedings be made public and the conference ended.

Miners Firm in Stand.

In their reply to the invitation to the noon conference, the miners said they were ready to meet the owners and the Government, "as soon as we hear from you that the conference to be held will be entirely freed from any preliminary conditions as to what is to be or not to be discussed."

To this Lloyd George replied:

"We have never suggested that any limitations should be imposed upon the discussions, but as regards the order in which the matters be discussed, the national interest in the preservation of the mines is paramount and must take first place.

"While the mines are hourly being flooded and ruined and one of the most valuable of the national assets is being destroyed," continued the Premier, "it is impossible to expect other questions to be debated. Accordingly, safety must first be discussed."

He therefore asked the miners to meet the owners at 3 p. m.

The miners replied with their reiteration that the conditions imposed regarding prior discussion in the safety of the mines prevented resumption of negotiations and they immediately proceeded to Unity House to discuss with the other members of the Triple Alliance the arrangements for sympathetic strikes.

Makeup of the Alliance.

The Triple Alliance, which has now taken over command of labor's side of the controversy, has a membership of 800,000 miners, 300,000 railway men and 250,000 transport workers. It is the child of Robert Smillie, who has been its president since its formation in 1915, and who recently resigned the chieftainship of the miners' federation.

The leadership of the strike, however, will be in the hands of the younger men, who brought about the present situation in the belief that the reduction of wages which the miners were asked to accept would also be forced upon the other workers.

Considerable opposition to the strike among the rank and file of the railway men appeared today. The Liverpool union telegraphed to J. H. Thomas, general secretary of the Railway Men's Union, declaring the Liverpool men would not strike unless a ballot of the men favored such action.

Similar action was taken by the unions at Alfreton, in Derbyshire.

If the strike becomes effective, not only will London's tubes and underground railways be stopped, but taxis will be withdrawn from the streets and all conveyance of food and goods through the city will be left to the Government lorries.

Londoners who have places in the country are scurrying away to them with their families. The theaters must close for lack of audiences and restaurants will lose no time in rationing their customers. More khaki was seen about London today than has been in evidence for the past 18 months and everyone is deeply impressed with the prospect of the perilous times.

Question of American Aid for British Miners Discussed.

By the Associated Press.

MONTREAL, April 8.—The American Federation of Labor is asked to urge the United Mine Workers of America to refuse to mine coal for export to Great Britain or for use by English ships during the British coal strike, in a resolution today before the Executive Committee of the Federated Trades and Labor Council.

The resolution was referred to the committee at a meeting last night after a stormy discussion. Some delegates contended the British miners were able to take care of themselves, while others declared that American miners should not act as strike-breakers.

The Executive Committee was instructed to take any action it deemed advisable regarding the resolution without making any further report to the council.

CHANGES IN LEAGUE COVENANT DISCUSSED

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, April 8.—Examination of amendments to the covenant of the League of Nations, submitted from various sources, has been begun here by the committee of the league appointed to deal with this subject. The committee met Wednesday with A. J. Balfour of England presiding, and with members representing Belgium, China, Colombia, Czecho-Slovakia, Denmark, France, Italy, Japan, Spain and Uruguay present.

It discussed the amendments offered regarding the permanent court of arbitration, the extension of arbitration and conciliation under the league, the relaxation of the unanimity rule in the assembly and the council, the action to be taken with regard to a member state failing to pay its contribution to the league, the method of the selection of the nonpermanent members of the council, and the attachment to the league of states too small to be full members.

These questions were left to a subcommittee which is to report to the amendments committee early in May.

The committee decided to postpone consideration of the Scandinavian amendments as to the economic blockade. It also decided to ask Argentina to submit, if it desires so to do, a statement explanatory of its amendment providing that all sovereign states be admitted to the league at their request.

The representative of Czecho-Slovakia made a statement explaining the purpose of the amendment to article 21 under which the league would be allowed to call regional conferences. The committee requested the Chinese member to explain the Chinese amendment by which the Monroe Doctrine alone would be mentioned in this article, which now refers to "treaties of arbitration or regional understandings like the Monroe Doctrine."

The discussion of the Canadian amendment for the elimination of article 10 of the covenant was postponed until after the return of Rene Viviani from America.

TWO MEN GET FIVE YEARS AND ONE SEVEN FOR ROBBERY

Charles Sargent, 38, of 1027 Armstrong avenue, and Joseph Kearney, 29, of 3443 Clark avenue, were each sentenced to five years in the penitentiary in Judge Hall's court today, after they had pleaded guilty to first degree robbery in holding up Samuel Crowley, 2335 Atlantic street, on Jan. 16 last, and taking $60 from him. Another charge of robbery against Sargent was nolle prossed.

Kenneth Hannah, 20, of 2138 Eugenia street, was sentenced by Judge Hall to five years on a first-degree robbery charge and to two years on a charge of burglary in the second degree and larceny, after he had pleaded guilty. He robbed William Long, 2831 Chouteau avenue, of $40 on Feb. 16 last. The burglary was committed on Feb. 21 last. Hannah was charged jointly with Alfred Gill, Edward Taylor, Lewis Hudson, John Jackson and Robert Wilkinson with entering the store of Henry Fred, 2314 Market street, and taking merchandise valued at $1350. Hannah's alleged accomplices are to be tried April 26. A third charge, of robbery, against Hannah was nolle prossed.

BRITISH TERM U. S. YAP NOTE "PURELY LEGALISTIC"

Allies Expected to Take Position Hughes' Message Bears Upon Issues Which Europe Considers Closed.

By JAMES M. TUOHY.

LONDON, April 8.—The British Government is only willing to discuss with America questions arising from the peace treaty on the basis that present decisions are binding and not that the treaty provisions are still in the melting pot, the Post-Dispatch correspondent learned from an important and influential official today.

While unhesitatingly admitting that the United States is not bound by the treaty, he emphatically pointed out: "Forty-two nations signed it and its decisions have become binding. Of course we are willing to discuss either in a conference of Ambassadors or by diplomatic notes any question the American Government wishes to raise, but such discussions must be on the basis that the treaty is in operation and not still under negotiation."

Discussing the question of the island of Yap, he recalled the fact Japan took it from Germany in 1914 as a prize of war and that at the beginning of 1917, when Great Britain needed further Japanese naval aid against the unrestricted submarine warfare, she agreed to recognize the latter's claim. "The Japanese are there and again their claim has been recognized by the signatories of the treaty," he added.

Regarding Mesopotamia, he reiterated the statement that America will have equal opportunities with other nations, although he humorously pointed out that under the League covenant its members were entitled to greater privileges in mandate territories than nonmembers.

"Of course," he said, "when America refused to join that provision became a mere technicality." Referring to the American request to be consulted regarding the distribution and administration of ex-enemy territory, he emphasized the fact that after the treaty was signed America withdrew her representatives from one allied conference after another at which many of these questions were discussed, and said the nations of Europe couldn't wait until America had decided what attitude to take regarding the treaty.

"Of course we wouldn't have agreed if she had gone in. But I don't recall that America asked the allies to suspend consideration of the treaty pending the presidential election."

Although he did not foresee the possibility of various differences arising between the British and American Governments as a result of the Hughes note, it is plain the British attitude, and most probably that of the other allies will leave America in the position of having taken up what are closed issues on this side of the Atlantic. It is felt here that the Hughes note was written "from a purely legalistic standpoint without consideration of the realities of the situation."

Paris Newspaper Advises U. S. to Negotiate With Japan.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, April 8.—The French Government consider President Wilson's reservations in the Supreme Council regarding the Island of Yap to constitute a basis for negotiations between the United States and Japan, says the Temps today in an article relative to the recent American note maintaining the United States could not be bound by decisions affecting Germany's overseas possessions made by the League of Nations without its consent.

This note was sent by Secretary Hughes to the British, French, Italian and Japanese Governments, whose representatives constitute the Supreme Council. France would be glad, declared the newspaper, if an agreement could be reached by such negotiations.

The reservations of President Wilson, made on April 21 and 30 and May 1, 1919, were mentioned, declares the Temps, in a recent French note on the subject of Yap sent to the United States, and this note was communicated to Japan.

The reservations in question, continues the newspaper, were immediately communicated to the Japanese representative of the Supreme Council. Therefore, it is held, there is no reason for dissolution between France and the United States on that point. So far as the German cables are concerned it is taken for granted there can be no difficulty in reaching a settlement. France has agreed, asserts the Temps, that the title and operation of the Brest-New York cable shall be vested in the United States, France merely making the reservation that the office in Brest shall be operated by the French, a point which, it declares, has encountered no opposition.

LAMPERT MADE 5 WILLS; LAST MADE SISTER SOLE HEIR

Attorney Testifies That in First Will Cigar Man Included Two Other Sisters as Legatees.

CHANGES MADE AFTER TWO DIED

Children of Two Sisters Seeking to Break Will Leaving Entire $1,264,000 Estate to Mrs. Rosa Graff.

In the 15 years preceding his death Jacob Lampert, cigar manufacturer, made five wills, his attorney, Dorsey A. Jamison, testified yesterday at a continuation of depositions in the suit of 11 nieces and nephews to break Lampert's last will.

It was only in the last will, made Jan. 24, last, 26 days before Lampert's death, that he bequeathed the bulk of his $1,264,000 estate to his sister, Mrs. Rosa Graff, of 5349 Pershing avenue. In the other wills he divided his wealth almost equally between his living sisters, after making certain philanthropic bequests.

Jamison testified that one reason which Lampert gave him for cutting off his nephews and nieces without a cent was the conviction that it was a bad thing for young people to receive large amounts of money which they had not earned.

Provided for Sisters.

"The first will, as I remember it," said Jamison, "gave a number of bequests to charity, similar to the ones given in the last will. The amounts were different, however, and most of the legatees were different from those mentioned in the last will. The remainder of the estate was bequathed Lampert's three sisters, Mrs. Graff, Mrs. Flora Van Raalte and Mrs. Tillie Geist.

"He provided that in case of any one of the sisters dying before him her share should be divided between the living sister. In case two should die before him, their shares were to go to the surviving sister." Mrs. Van Raalte and Mrs. Geist died before Lampert.

"I do not mean to say," Jamison explained, "that these bequests were made on equal terms. In some of the wills, perhaps in all but the last one, a special bequest was made to Mrs. Graff (with whom Lampert made his home). In dividing the residue of the estate, Lampert gave Mrs. Graff and Mrs. Van Raalte their shares outright. In the case of Mrs. Geist, however, her share was to be held in trust, she to enjoy the income from it during her lifetime, and her children to enjoy the income during their lives.

Change When Sister Died.

"In all of the first four wills, Lampert made it clear that in no case was William Geist, his brother-in-law, to derive any benefit whatever from his estate. He disliked Geist, and was determined that Geist should not profit from his fortune. This was his reason for discriminating in the case of Mrs. Geist."

With minor changes, the second and third wills were virtually the same, the witness said. There were some changes in the bequests to charity.

Before the fourth will was made, Mrs. van Raalte died, and the fourth will was changed, dividing the bulk of the estate between Mrs. Graff and Mrs. Geist, with the latter's share place in trust, as before.

Last Will Shortly Before Death.

The second will was made in 1910, the third in 1913, and the fourth in 1914, Jamison related. When Lampert decided, about the first of this year, to make a fifth will, Mrs. Geist had also died. Jamison asked Lampert, he said, whether he intended doing anything for the Geist and Van Raalte children.

"No; you know my ideas on that subject; I see no reason for changing them now," he said Lampert replied.

What were his ideas?" counsel asked.

"He had often told me that his nephews and nieces paid him no attention; never came to see him or called him on the telephone. When he went on long trips, such as to Cuba, they never went to the station to bid him adieu.

"He had been greatly humiliated by the action of his nephew, Francis Van Raalte, in inviting him out of a store and offering to thrash him."

Said Children Could Work.

Other witnesses have described this incident, which was the result of a practical joke which Lampert played on his nephew, by pretending to obtain a position in an orchestra for him, when, in fact, he had not done so.

"He also said," Jamison continued, "that he had worked hard for his money, and his nephews and nieces could do the same. It was a bad thing, he thought, for young people to have large amounts of money forced upon them, and often prevented them from becoming men and women."

It developed during the testimony of Jamison and other witnesses that Lampert was not always on the best of terms with Mrs. Graff. Several months prior to his death, it was testified, he left the Graff home and went to live at the Washington Hotel. Shortly afterward, however, he returned to the Graffs' and resided there until his death.

"Who paid the bills for operating the Graff establishment?" asked W. B. Kinealy, counsel for the contestants.

"I gathered from what Lampert said that he paid practically all of them," responded the witness.

Questioned About Home Life.

"What was the status of Mr. Graff in his home?" asked Kinealy, Counsel for the estate objected.

"I want to show," said Kinealy, "that Mrs. Graff exercised such a great influence over Lampert that he supported her husband, maintaining him there in the home, despite the fact that he didn't like Graff."

The objection was sustained provisionally. Special Commissioner Moses Sale agreeing to submit the point to the Circuit Court for a ruling.

Cross-examined by Spencer M. Thomas, his own law partner, Jamison said that none of the nephews or nieces was ever mentioned by name in any of Lampert's wills.

Graff on Stand.

Bernard M. Graff, husband of Mrs. Rosa Graff, was the next witness. He said he was a photographer, but had not been employed as such since last year, when he worked for several months in Albany, N. Y.

"During that time, did you contribute anything to the support of your wife and child?" asked Kinealy.

"In a modest way," replied the witness.

"Who paid the expenses of running your home?"

"My brother-in-law (Lampert) paid most of them. I always contributed something—according to my income."

"What sort of an arrangement did you have?"

"Had No Use for Nieces."

Replying to other questions, Graff said his wife always spoke well to Lampert of the Geist and Van Raalte children, and was continually pleading with Lampert to befriend them. She asked him to take his nieces with him when he went on trips, and asked him to get jobs for some of them, the witness said.

"Mr. Lampert had no use for them," continued Graff. "He said they never showed him any affection, and he didn't want to do anything for them. He spoke about Francis Van Raalte offering to lick him, and said: 'Isn't that a nice thing—for a nephew to threaten to whip his uncle—a man of my age?'"

Asked if Lampert ever referred to any other of the nephews or nieces by name, Graff replied: "He came home one night and said he had seen Sylvia and Willmet Geist on the street, and that they were painted up like Indians." This lent a piquant touch to the proceedings, as those two young women were sitting across the room from the witness.

Mrs. Bush to Look Into Business Administration of School Board First

First Woman Member Approves Present Methods of Instruction, but Wants to Make Sure Children Get Worth of Every Dollar

By Marguerite Martyn.

THAT the first woman member of the Board of Education, Mrs. B. F. Bush of 5334 Waterman avenue, who was elected Tuesday, will be more interested in the business administration of the schools than in the system of instruction, is one conclusion from an interview with her.

She is no sentimentalist, although a woman, a mother and at one time a public school teacher herself. Her first interest in becoming a candidate for member of the School Board was not in order to go into the schoolroom to institute reforms, but, to quote her exact words, "To see that the children get the worth of every dollar expended for them." The slogan upon which the nonpartisan ticket was presented she interprets as meaning just that. "I do not say and I do not know there is graft in the administration of school funds, but that is what I mean to find out about," she said.

Many and familiar are the criticisms of modern public school methods of instructing children. How often we hear parents say that too much time is spent upon the "frills" of education and not enough on the fundamentals. I have heard at least one employer say that when it comes to hiring stenographers he prefers girls from the parochial schools to public school graduates, because the former are better spellers. Another employer of persons in a literary line complains that public school graduates have knowledge of the dramatic, picturesque incidents of history, but little knowledge of history consecutively. And again parents are heard to object that geography is not taught without confusion with other sciences; that penmanship no longer is taught as a special branch; that nature study and many of those subjects naturally fascinating to children are allowed too much indulgence, and that young children are required to do too much "home work."

Mrs. Bush Defends Methods.

When I put some of these objections up to Mrs. Bush she was inclined to take issue with them and defend existing methods. City children, she thought, needed all the nature study they can get. Reading words at sight and learning to spell phonetically and by object lessons, she thought superior to the old oral methods. Learning addition, subtraction, multiplication, division, etc., simultaneously instead of taking each subject successively, she thought an improvement upon older methods.

"I know we have an excellent charter and most comprehensive course of study," she said. "Dr. Judd of the University of Chicago, who may be regarded as an authority, made a survey of the systems of instruction in all the large cities and declared that St. Louis has the best—not one of the best—but the very best system in the whole country. Certainly our schools make provision for all sorts and conditions of children. We have a place for every one, the physically weak and the physically fit, the handicapped and the unusually bright. We have medical and dental clinics, arrangements for feeding the undernourished. We have the open-air schools. I believe we have, in the Night and Day Camp school the only residential open-air public school in the country.

Overcrowding in Schools.

"Many criticisms of the results of public school instruction may be due to the fact that the teachers do not have a fair chance. Seven per cent of our children now are taught in portable school buildings, and all the schools are so overcrowded that it is necessary to double up, dismissing half the pupils while the other [illegible] are in the buildings. Thus every child is deprived of one and one-half hours of time in school daily.

"I am not as familiar with the system of instruction as I intend to be, for I intend to visit the school rooms frequently in the future. A year from now I shall be in better position to be interviewed on this subject. I intend to work toward the end that only competent teachers are employed. But first of all," she added, "I intend to attend all the meetings of all the committees of the School Board and familiarize myself with the duties and methods of the board. I already am busy digesting a large volume explaining the duties of the School Board.

"All recommendations on the system of instruction are presented to the board by the Superintendent of Instruction. I shall take a keen interest in considering and voting on these recommendations. But I am interested in the work of the board from its business standpoint as well as in its educational phases."

Mrs. Bush's husband is president of a great railroad system, the Missouri Pacific, and doubtless association has communicated to her an appreciation of successful business methods.

Reasons for Seeking Place.

Her reasons for becoming a candidate for this position when nominated by that large aggregation of representative women's organizations, were:

"Because I wanted just to give my service to the community. I have the time, the strength and the inclination to serve, and felt in duty bound to do so. Because I love children and because I think there is no public position in which a woman is better fitted or better entitled to serve than in the schools I desired to serve in just this capacity."

Mrs. Bush has served in a number of positions of high executive authority, notably as chairman for Missouri of the Woman's Division, Council of National Defense, during the war, as chairman of the Night and Day Camp, the Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, and as second vice chairman of the Missouri League of Women Voters. In the last three organizations she still is active. She is a tall, stately figure with white hair and of majestic presence, always for these reasons and because of a pronounced friendliness and gift for leadership, a striking figure in any large social or civic gathering. It was as a young woman before her marriage that she taught in the public schools of Wisconsin. Her education was gained in the public and normal schools and she is an ardent partisan in favor of public, as opposed to private instruction. Her one child, a daughter, however, was educated and graduated from Mary Institute.

Not Much of Traveler.

Mrs. Bush presides over two homes, one at 5334 Waterman avenue and a country home, a farm on the Creve Coeur line, where the family will take up its residence the first of May. Although the wife of a railroad president, she says she "probably travels less than any woman in St. Louis."

"I never accompany my husband on business trips and he never travels except on business. We no longer speak of 'private cars' but of 'business cars.'"

The four committees into which the Board of Education is divided are Instruction, Finance, Auditing and Supplies and Building Sites.

Mrs. Bush is the only new member elected unless, as she hopes, the contest in favor of Mrs. Michaels should prove successful. Each member of the board serves upon one of these committees. To which committee Mrs. Buah is assigned will be determined by the appointment action of the president of the board, yet to be elected from the membership.

"Large funds are administered by some of these committees," she remarked. "I do not know that they are not always handled scrupulously but that is the thing which I mean to find out."

WATERWORKS BILL UP FOR PASSAGE THIS AFTERNOON

Ordinance Before Aldermen Provides for the Purchase of 53 Acres in County for $50,000.

An ordinance providing for the purchase by the City of St. Louis for $50,000 of 53 acres of land in St. Louis County, part of a strip known as Strattman Hill, designed for use eventually as a reservoir for water piped from the Missouri River, is before the Board of Aldermen for passage this afternoon.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment previously had approved the purchase of the site, which is owned by Mrs. Emma Bock, mother-in-law of Hospital Commissioner Shutt. Comptroller Nolte, long a real estate dealer, after a visit to the site with Water Commissioner Wall, said $50,000 was a fair price. The owner had asked for $53,000, or $1000 an acre. The records of the Assessor at Clayton show the property was assessed at approximately $300 an acre, and that taxes of $231 were paid on it last year.

Comptroller Nolte said today the ordinance probably would be passed by the Aldermen this afternoon. Water Commissioner Wall selected the site as the best available for the purpose, because it is the highest point in the county. It lies between the Warson and Old Bonhomme roads, south of Olive Street road. The purpose of the passage of the ordinance at this time is to give the city immediate possession. Property in the neighborhood is being sold for residence purposes, and the city officials said that on their visit to the land they found property nearby was selling at $1200 an acre. Frank H. Brown, a real estate dealer in the county, who was consulted by Nolte and Wall, said $50,000 would be a fair price for the Strattman Hill tract.

The city, for some time, has had under consideration plans for obtaining a supply of water from the Missouri River. These plans would call for a bond issue $15,000,000 or $20,000,000 for a water system the approximate capacity of 160,000,000 gallons a day to supplement the approximayte capacit of 160,000,000 gallons of the Chain of Rocks pumping station on the Mississippi Riv.r. Under these plans, two basins, 1042 by 427 feet and 30 feet deep, would be built on the Strathan Hill tract. They would hold 200,000,000 gallons of water.

Water Commissionner Wall, in a report in 1915, pointed to the natural gravity which would facilitate pumping from this point to the city mains. It is planned to build the reservoir in five or six years.

As told in the Post-Dispatch March 15, last, Director of Public Utilities Hooke, in submitting the draft of the ordinance for the purchase to the Board of Public Service, pointed out Mrs. Bock had an offer for the property from a syndicate desiring to establish a residence subdivision.

RIVER BUSINESS SUBNORMAL

Steamer Queen City Withdrawn From New Orleans Service.

By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, O., April 8.—Announcement was made today that the steamer Queen City, which returned from her second round trip to New Orleans last night, would be withdrawn from that service until there was sufficient business in sight.

The steamer will make tri-weekly trips to Louisville.

TWO "UNMARRIED" POLICEWOMEN FOUND TO HAVE HUSBANDS

They Are Asked to Resign and Places Will Be Given to Widows of Policemen.

The discovery that two of its policewomen have been posing as single women, while in reality they were married, has caused the Board of Police Commissioners to request their resignations and to adopt a policy that none but widows of policemen or single women hereafter shall be employed as policewomen.

One of the "unmarried" policewomen has been known as Miss Agnes Tuohy, 25 years old. It now is known that she has been Mrs. John Johnston since last October, residing with her husband, who is an automobile mechanic, at 4820 Hammett place.

The second "unmarried" policewoman has been known as Miss Ellen A. Haffey, 25 years old. She now is known to have been married a year ago to Jason Skinner, a student plumber, and to have resided with him at 3122 Rutger street.

Mrs. Johnston has been a policewoman since May 17, 1920, and Mrs. Skinner has been a policewoman since Feb. 27, 1918.

Because of its new policy, the board was compelled also to ask for the resignation of Mrs. Shellie Johnson, 41, of 4231 North Market street, a negress, who has been a policewoman since Sept. 23, 1919.

75 ELM TREES PLANTED

Seventy-five elm trees were planted in the Chain of Rocks Park by the North St. Louis Business Men's Association, as a part of the association's Arbor Day celebration this afternoon. The Associated Bankers of North St. Louis took part in the celebration, and a tree was planted for each of the 14 banks in the organization.

Members of the Business Men's Association and their families met at Fair Ground Park at 2 p. m. and went to the Chain of Rocks Park in automobiles. John F. Peters presided at the ceremonies, and the principal address was delivered by Lawrence Tully.

BODY OF MISSING MAN FOUND

The body of a man which was taken from the Mississippi River at Davis street, at 11 a. m., today, by Charles Zeller of 404 West Courtois street, was identified this afternoon by Herman Toenyes of 1712A Menard street as that of John C. Kastner Jr., 25 years old, of 2217 Pestalozzi street.

Kastner disappeared from the Alexian Brothers' Hospital, where he was under observation, March 24. He had been a department manager of the Koken Barber Supply Co.

STILLMAN PAYS $62,500 TO WIFE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Counsel for Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, who is being sued for divorce by James A. Stillman, New York banker, announced today they had received a check from the plaintiffs' attorneys for $62,500, covering two months' alimony award by the court, counsel fees and expenses.

Stillman's attorneys said this payment did not mean that the banker had abandoned his intention to appeal from the alimony award made by Supreme Court Justice Morschauser, April 4.

TORRENTIAL RAIN IN ARKANSAS

By the Associated Press.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., April 8.—A cotton gin was destroyed by fire caused by lightning, and roads and bridges have been damaged or washed away in torrential rains in this section during the last two days. The rainfall between 7 p. m. Wednesday and 7 a. m. today amounted to 6.1 inches.

WAGNER GAINS 7 IN CANVASS OF 13 WARDS

Leads Mrs. Michael for School Board by Nearly Seventy Votes.

The official count of ballots cast Tuesday for candidates for the Board of Education, begun today in the office of the Election Board, showed a gain of 7 votes for Stephen M. Wagner, in the close contest with Mrs. Rachael S. Michael, after 13 wards had been canvassed. Unofficial returns, compiled by the newspapers, showed Wagner's election by 41 votes.

Ballots cast for Board of Education candidates were counted first, because the first meeting of the newly constituted board will be held Tuesday night, at which a president will be elected, and it was desired to have the standing of the new members definitely settled before then. Members of the Nonpartisan School Board Campaign Committee, which supported Mrs. Michael, had expressed a belief that she would gain in the official count.

The count of the ballots cast in the First Ward, however, resulted in a net gain for Wagner of six votes, Mrs. Michael losing seven in the official count and Wagner losing one, thus increasing his plurality over her to 47 votes. Mrs. Catherine Bush, who was elected on the face of the returns, gained two votes in this ward. Otto Leffler, an unsuccessful candidate, lost 10, and Mrs. Frances N. Anderson lost five.

The count of ballots in the Seventh Ward did not change the standing of Wagner and Mrs. Michael. William D. Aufderheide lost four and Mrs. Harry E. Wagoner lost one.

In the Eighth Ward the count resulted in a loss for Mrs. Michael of 20 votes, while Wagner's vote remained unchanged.

In the canvass of the Ninth Ward, Mrs. Michael gained six votes and Wagner lost seven. In the Second Ward, Mrs. Michael's vote was shown by the canvass to be the same as in the unofficial returns, but Wagner lost 10.

No change was shown in Wagner's vote in the Seventeenth Ward, but Mrs. Michael gained two. No change was recorded in the Twenty-fifth Ward.

In the Third Ward Mrs. Michael lost 48 votes, and in the Twenty-sixth she gained four and Wagner lost 18.

The Eighteenth Ward showed no change.

80-CENT TAX BILL MAY COST ELECTED MAN MAYORALTY

Payment Not Recorded at Time J. D. Schuster of Maplewood Paid $40 on Realty.

A matter of 80 cents may prevent J. D. Schuster, whose election as Mayor of Maplewood on an annexation platform was one of the outstanding features of the elections in St. Louis County Tuesday, from taking his seat. George B. Komar, City Clerk of Maplewood, said today that he would not administer the oath of office to Schuster unless ordered to do so by the Circuit Court at Clayton.

On last Sept. 1 Schuster went to the City Hall at Maplewood and paid his real estate taxes amounting to $40.88. Through an oversight he failed to pay his personal tax, which was assessed at $0 cents. The personal tax became delinquent Jan. 1, but Schuster's attention was not called to that fact.

Yesterday City Clerk Komar, investigating the qualifications of the newly elected Mayor, Councilmen and members of the School Board, discovered that Schuster had not paid his personal taxes. Mayor Stewart will continue to hold office until his successor qualifies. If the Circuit Court holds that Schuster forfeited his right to be Mayor, another election will have to be held.

TAXICAB DRIVERS MUST COMPLY WITH NEW LAW, SAYS O'BRIEN

An order for the arrest of all service car and taxicab drivers who have not complied by Monday with the "taxicab bill" approved by the Board of Aldermen Jan. 25 was issued today by Chief of Police O'Brien. The order follows a conference yesterday between Director of Streets and Sewers Talbert, Assistant City Counselor Hamilton and Police Inspector Walsh.

Enforcement of the ordinance was held up by an injunction suit filed by the McFall Auto Livery Co. A temporary injunction was refused by Circuit Judge Killoren and the application for permanent injunction has not been passed upon.

The ordinance provides for licensing of taxicabs and service cars. A license fee of $10 is provided. Drivers must pass an examination on their knowledge of the city, ability to drive, and physical condition. Service cars must be provided with signs giving route and fare, and taxicabs must carry meters. Drivers' licenses may be revoked for traffic violations.

TWO MEN ARRESTED AND AUTO AND LIQUOR SEIZED

Negro Informer Examining Bottles in Auto When Dry Agents Arrive.

Two arrests were made and an automobile and 12 bottles of whisky were seized by Federal enforcement agents at Broadway and Walnut street last night on evidence obtained for the agents by a negro informer who picked up the trail at the Hippodrome Hotel, Sixth and Walnut streets.

The agents had received information that a man named Knox was making his headquarters at the hotel and selling liquor. The negro informant went there and met Knox. He reported that Knox agreed to sell him a 12-quart case of bonded whisky for $170. He took the informant to Broadway and Walnut street, where an automobile with a man and two women in it was standing.

In the machine also were two baskets, each containing six bottles of whisky. The negro informant was inspecting the bottles when two Federal agents who had been following arrived and made the arrests. The man who had gone from the hotel with the informant said he was George Knox of 1802 North Twenty-third street, formerly a laundry wagon driver. The man in the automobile also was arrested. He said he was Otto Villinger of 2526 Mullanphy street. The women were released and walked away after the car and the baskets had been seized.

Government experts who sampled the contents of the bottles said they contained a "phoney" whisky made of alcohol colored with burnt sugar. The bottles were labeled "Old Charter." Federal officials believe the labels and the Government stamps on the bottles are forgeries.

Electricians Reject Wage Cut.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 8.—Members of the Electrical Workers' Union have joined the carpenters in refusing to agree to a wage reduction from $1.25 an hour to $1, $200 of them voting unanimously last night to reject the wage reduction proposed by the Building Employers' Association. The majority of the electrical workers argued that increased rents had offset the decreases of other factors in the cost of living. Union officials merely placed the matter before their members for discussion and decision.

ARREST IN JACOBSON SHOOTING CASE MADE

Ex-Convict Taken in Chicago After Wounded Physician Identifies Photograph.

Herman Press of 819 North Twentieth street, known also as Harry Lang, who was released from the Jefferson City penitentiary last January, after serving a term for robbery, was arrested in Chicago yesterday as one of two men who attempted to rob Dr. Jacob Jacobson of 5598 Bartmer avenue, in his office, 1823 Cass avenue, the night of March 28. Dr. Jacobson resisted the robbers and one of them shot him three times. One bullet went wild and hit the other robber, Roy Burton, 19 years old, of 1815 Biddle street, who is a prisoner at the city hospital with a wound in his neck.

Dr. Jacobson, who has recovered and has resumed his practice, identified a Bertillon Bureau picture of Press after information given to detectives by Burton had led detectives to believe that Press was Burton's companion in the attempted robbery. A dispatch from Chicago today said Press would waive extradition and return to St. Louis.

Suspicion first was directed to Press when a man informed the police that a short time after the shooting he saw Press running toward his home with bloodstains on his clothing. He said he tried to stop Press and question him and Press exclaimed: "Don't stop me. I'm in awful bad."

Press pleaded guilty to petty larceny from a dwelling July 22, 1914, and was sentenced to a year in the workhouse. On May 13, 1915, he was convicted of carrying burglar tools and was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. On Aug. 22, 1917, his $2500 bond was forfeited when he failed to appear for trial on a highway robbery charge.

A month later he was captured in Reno, Nev. A detective who was bringing him back placed him in the Denver jail for safekeeping and he sawed his way out of his cell and was sawing a window bar of the jail when his attempt to escape was discovered. He was brought to St. Louis and May 7, 1915, he was convicted on the highway robbery charge and sentenced to four years in the penitentiary. He was discharged from prison Jan. 8 last.

After Press' photograph was identified by Dr. Jacobson and he could not be found at his home it was learned that he had a brother, Otto Press, residing at 2216 Flournoy avenue, Chicago. At the request of the St. Louis police, Chicago detectives watched the house for a week and arrested Herman Press when he emerged from it yesterday.

Burton told policemen it was his companion who shot Dr. Jacobson and beat him with a "billy." He said he met this man on the street and did not know his name.

Since his discharge from the city hospital Dr. Jacobson has telephoned to the hospital daily to inquire as to Burton's condition. He has told policemen he sympathizes with Burton as "just a boy who was misled."

Judge Mix's Court Closed for Day.

City Court No. 2 was not in session today and court attaches said that Judge Mix had arranged the docket so that all cases were postponed for a later date, giving policemen a chance to be at the polls instead of having to appear in Police Court. At Judge Mix's office it was said that the Judge was out working in the interest of the school tax increase.

U. S. PROTECTION ASKED FOR UNION MEN IN ARKANSAS

Leaders of Railroad Strike at Harrison Who Were Invited to Leave Reach Joplin, Mo.

EXPERIENCES WITH ARMED MEN RELATED

Union Officials Say Strikers Wanted Peace and Remained in Their Rooms to Prevent an Outbreak.

By the Associated Press.

JOPLIN, Mo., April 8.—An appeal has been made for Federal protection growing out of the retirement from Harrison, Ark., yesterday of five railway union brotherhood officials who went there in connection with a strike on the Missouri & North Arkansas Railroad, it was announced here last night by M. C. Carey, Port Huron, Mich., representing the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors.

The appeal for Federal protection was sent to railroad brotherhood executives, Carey said. Carey was one of the men who left the town on citizens' request.

Carey and S. M. Eddy of San Francisco, representing the Order of Railway Telegraphers, and another of the union representatives who left Harrison, arrived here last night. They announced that they would keep in touch with the strike from here temporarily. They did not know, however, they said, how long they would remain in Joplin.

The three other brotherhood men who left are on their way to their respective homes, according to Carey. J. L. Saxe and his wife, who was with him at Harrison, are bound for Fort Worth, Tex., and W. J. Potts, representing the dispatchers, and W. E. Hearn have gone to Little Rock.

Describing the ejectment of the brotherhood officials, Carey said that "realizing the seriousness that might result unless they did as requested, they readily agreed to comply with the demands of citizens who visited them in a Harrison hotel."

"We asked for time in which to prepare for our departure," Carey stated.

Union Men for Peace.

"At a meeting of the union workmen of the M. a d N. A., who are on strike at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, a pledge was exacted from them that they would go to their homes and avoid trouble. We had a short time before heard that a mob of armed men were bent on action. The men promised to stay in their homes until 10 o'clock today. I have since received information that the request was obeyed."

"The union men were anxious to come to our aid, but we realized what serious developments might occur, and the order for them to stay in their rooms was the result."

Carey said the union representatives then departed by automobile, going to Branson, Mo. From there they made train connections to their various destinations, he stated.

Carey stated he did not know just what their position would be. "There is so much involved in the matter," he said.

He also was not prepared to state, he said, what action probably would be forthcoming by brotherhood executives. He advanced the opinion, however, that the matter would be taken direct to Washington, and laid before Federal authorities, possibly President Harding himself.

Both Carey and Eddy issued denials that they, or other brotherhood officials in Harrison in connection with directing the strike, had been indicted by a grand jury there several weeks ago.

The two officials declared that none of the brotherhood men had been placed under arrest at any time, nor were they ever placed in jail at Harrison for "safekeeping." Regarding the purported indictments, Carey said:

"We were served with summons to appear before the grand jury and did appear, but were never given the opportunity to testify, although for six days we awaited a possible call by the jury.

"On Saturday, March 26, we were informed by a Deputy Sheriff that we were to be discharged without appearing before the grand jury and last Thursday received our discharges, which call for one day's witness fees."

Carey declared that he knew of only one union striker who had been indicted. "This man was W. C. Jenkins, an organizer in the shops, and now is at liberty under bond on a charge of burning bridges," Carey said.

Adding more details concerning their ejectment yesterday from Harrison, Carey stated that the citizens who were there to force their departure were armed. He termed it an "armed mob," but did not estimate the number of men which composed it.

Carey stated that after departing in automobiles, the party took the road north out of Harrison, going direct to Branson, arriving there early Wednesday night.

Other union brotherhood men who have gone on to their homes will return shortly, Carey stated.

In telephonic communications with union men at Harrison Carey said he had been informed that the situation there is quiet.

About 500 Children Take Part in Downtown Demonstration for Increased Levy.

Uniformed drum corps of 17 public schools marched through the downtown streets this morning, and at the noon hour, carrying banners in behalf of the school tax increase.

The school organizations formed a line of bright color and lively rhythm and lines formed along the sidewalk to cheer the young paraders.

The line of march was from the city hall north on Twelfth street to Washington avenue, east to Broadway, to Olive street, west to Twelfth street. There the parade in behalf of the school tax campaign terminated, but the children continued marching to the city hall, where they paid their respects to the soldiers whose bodies were lying in the rotunda.

The organizations from different schools were in alphabetical order, from Ashland to Woodward. Four girls, as drummers, were in line with the Scruggs School.

Several of the companies of boys were in souave costume, the Harrison and Oak Hill schools being among the gayest of these. The Harrison School had costumes of red and yellow, while the Oak Hill boys were in dainty lavender. Some of the corps included buglers. A. T. Ruff, instructor of drum corps in the schools, was in charge.

The youthful paraders made a noisy demonstration.

Following acquittal of Joseph Caldone, 18 years old, of 615 Franklin avenue, by a jury in Judge Hall's court yesterday afternoon, the Circuit Attorney nolle prossed the case against David Wilson, 19, of 1222 North Eighth street. They were jointly charged with first degree robbery, but Caldone took a severance.

The charge was that Caldone and Wilson held up Andrew Gillride of 3936 Page avenue, at 9 p. m., Jan. 24, on Carr street, between Eighth and Ninth streets. Witnesses testified that Caldone was in a poolroom at Eighth and Carr streets at the time of the robbery. There also was evidence that Gillride was uncertain in his identification of Caldone at the time of the latter's arrest.

DAWES SUBMITS 7 RECOMMENDATIONS FOR RELIEF WORK

Head of Special Commission Suggests Centralized Administration of Work Among Former Soldiers.

WOULD CONSOLIDATE 3 EXISTING BUREAUS

Urges Immediate Extension and Utilization of All Government Hospital and Medical Facilities.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Seven specific recommendations, chief among them the creation of the veterans' service administration to take entire charge of Government relief work among former soldiers and to be headed by a director-general, responsible directly to the President, were submitted today to President Harding by his special commission investigating the care of veterans.

Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, chairman of the commission, told the President as he handed him the report that he believed the recommendations would prove a satisfactory solution of the troubles in the administration of soldier relief. Early action by President Harding on the report is expected.

A New Agency.

Recommendation number one provides for the new agency and gives it jurisdiction over the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, the Rehabilitation Division of the Federal Board for Vocational Education and such part of the Public Health Service as may be necessary to care properly for disabled veterans. It also asks that a director-general assume charge of the new agency, with full authority to obtain necessary facilities when those already available prove inadequate.

This provision would permit the lease or purchase of hospital buildings whenever the demand exceeded the supply.

Care is suggested in the framing of new legislation creating the administration in order to avoid present inconsistencies of laws affecting the three existing bureaus. Particular request is made that no statutory limitations be placed on the Director-General as to the number and salaries of his employes.

Mellon Temporary Head.

No. 3 says that pending the enactment of new laws, Secretary Mellon of the Treasury shall issue orders to the heads of the Public Health and War Risk Bureaus, authorizing the latter bureau to take charge of the public health activities and personnel engaged in providing medical care for the veterans. The effect would be to consolidate these bureaus under one head by executive order without waiting for Congress to act or risk delay from that cause.

The next recommendation provides for an immediate extension and utilization of all Government hospital facilities, together with such mobilization of civilian medical services as may prove practical.

An immediate and continuous hospital building program is asked in the fifth recommendation, which suggests that Secretary Mellon's committee recently appointed to report on sites for new hospitals be directed to report concerning the type and locations of the required buildings. It adds that appropriations should be made available by the Congress which convenes next Monday.

The sixth calls for exertion of humanizing influences to impress the sick and wounded with the fact that the nation is entirely concerned in their welfare and rehabilitation.

Use of Funds Urged.

The last asks immediate use of the $12,600,000 appropriated by the last Congress for new hospitals.

"It cannot be too strongly emphasized," the report says in conclusion, "that the present deplorable failure on the part of the Government to properly care for the disabled veterans is due in large part to an imperfect organization of Governmental effort. There is no one in control of the whole situation. Independent agencies by mutual agreement now endeavor to co-ordinate their action, but in such efforts the joint action is too often modified by minor consideration and there is always lacking that complete co-operation which is incident to a powerful superimposed authority. No emergency of war itself was greater than is the emergency which confronts the nation in its duty to care for those disabled in its service and now neglected.

President Commended.

"The summoning of this commission by you is an assurance to the country that you are convinced of the vital nature of this problem and that you are determined to secure a prompt and effective solution thereof. The man to whom this important mission is entrusted by you will receive in the performance of his arduous duties the wholehearted and enthusiastic support and co-operation of all veterans and all other patriotic Americans. No Cabinet officer or Assistant Secretary burdened with other duties should be the one to whom the man charged with the welfare of the disabled saviors of the country should report. He should report directly to the President. His place should be held in public esteem as one of the greatest honors that the President can bestow, as the services he can render should be of untold value to the nation."

The report was submitted as the unanimous agreement of the commission and Brigadier-General Sawyer, the President's personal representative on the commission. Its introduction reviews the evidence collected during the three days' investigation of conditions affecting Government treatment of ex-soldiers.

THREE PERSONS HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT IN PARK

Driver Loses Control in Averting Collision and Machine Plunges Down Embankment.

Andrew Hochberg, 33 years old, of 4475 Enright avenue, whose automobile plunged down a 15-foot embankment into the River des Peres in Forest Park at 4 p. m. yesterday, was still unconscious and in a critical condition at Barnes Hospital today.

Victor Erickson, 29, of 2803 Finney avenue, and Mrs. Pearl Bonner, 41, of 3961 Westminster place, who were in the automobile with Hochberg, also were injured, Erickson seriously. The machine turned over twice in its plunge down the embankment, and Hochberg and Erickson were pinned beneath the wreckage. Mrs. Bonner was thrown out of the car and suffered only scalp wounds and cuts and bruises about the body.

Driver Suffers Fractured Skull.

Erickson suffered a compound fracture of both collar bones, a fractured shoulder and internal injuries. He also is at Barnes Hospital. Hochberg suffered a fractured skull. Passing automobilists extricated them from beneath the machine.

The police report of the accident said Hochberg was driving north on Jefferson drive, and that as he approached the Franklin bridge, another automobile was going south off the bridge. To avoid a collision Hochberg swerved his machine and apparently lost control of it.

Claude Steek, 14, of 4207 Connecticut street, a messenger boy, suffered scalp wounds and cuts and bruises about the body at 4 p. m. yesterday when he was struck by a motor cycle ridden by Probationary Patrolman John J. Walsh in front of 1313 Locust street. Walsh said the boy ran into the street from between two parked automobiles.

Probationary Patrolman Hurt.

Probationary Patrolman William Harrington of 6145 Elizabeth avenue was riding a motor cycle west on Lafayette avenue yesterday when the wheels caught in the street car tracks and the motor cycle was overturned. He was cut and bruised.

Mrs. Fannie Bobeman, 22, of 2518 North Tenth street, suffered a deep scalp wound and cuts and bruises about the body at 4 p. m. yesterday when she was struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Verdet, 59, of 1160 South Fourteenth street, as she was crossing Twelfth street at Choutaan avenue. Verdet was arrested and was taken to the city dispensary.

Albert Weinland, 24, of 1716 Ohio avenue, East St. Louis, was driving an automobile west on Chestnut street when at Twelfth street the steering gear broke and the machine collided with another automobile, driven by John Huber, who resides at the Laclede Annex Hotel. Weinland was thrown against the windshield of his car and suffered cuts about the head.

Joseph H. Gauss of 4051 Park avenue was driving an automobile belonging to the Brookes Bible Institution west on Park avenue yesterday afternoon, and ran into the rear end of a street car, which was stopped in front of 3909 Park avenue. His daughters, Janet Gauss, 8, and Josephine Gauss, -, who were with him, were thrown against the windshiled. They suffered slight cuts about the face.

FRANCIS OUTLINES HISTORY OF MISSOURI

Tells of Admission of State to Union and Important Developments in Its Progress.

Ambassador David R. Francis, honorary president of the Missouri Centennial Association, speaking at luncheon at the Planters' Hotel yesterday of the St. Louis Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution in celebration of the centennial of Missouri's admission as a State, outlined the history of Missouri in part as follows:

"Missouri as an indestructible state of an indissoluuble union will celebrate this year the centennial of her statehood. For 56 years, over one-half of this 100, I have been in Missouri, born in Kentucky and moving here at the age of 16, and for 37 years, over one-third of this period, have been in public life, having been elected president of the Merchants' Exchange and a delegate-at-large to the national convention which nominated Cleveland and Hendricks in 1884.

History Is Interesting.

"The history of Missouri is absorbingly interesting. Her birth as a state was only after much travail, resulting in the celebrated Missouri Compromise, which was virtually repealed by the passage of the Kansas-Nebraska bill in 1854. This Missouri Compromise had the effect of postponing the discussion of the slavery question for 30 years, but it did not settle this issue, which was a burning one and only smoldered for about one-third of a century.

"Missouri occupied the center of the stage for a time when the Mormon question was a live issue. In the Mexican War the Donovan expedition played a most thrilling part and it was a Missouri expedition under Kearny that issued the proclamation annexing New Mexico and went to California; and Sterling Price's expedition to Santa Fe was very interesting.

"When the Civil War came on Missouri again became the battleground, and if Gov. Caleb Jackson, Gov. Hardin and Senator Vest and others had succeeded in their efforts to have Missouri secede and join the Confederacy the result of that sanguinary conflict might have been different.

Hard and Soft Contest.

"Missouri was the scene of the first 'hard and soft' money contest which caused Thomas H. Benton's downfall after serving 30 years in the Senate of the United States. This State was also responsible for bringing to the front the free silver issue, which split the Democratic party and kept it out of power from 1897 to 1913 and caused Dick Bland to die of a broken heart.

"The history of Missouri shows that this State played an important part in developing the financial and commercial interests of the country. When I first entered commercial life, at the age of 19, after graduating from Washington University, I spent seven years as shipping clerk on the levee, and at that time by far the greater part of St. Louis commerce was borne upon the rivers.

"If the celebration of this centennial of Missouri statehood arouses an interest in the history of this State, it will repay all the labor and money expended thereon, because that record is not only highly creditable to Missouri, but is quite as interesting as a romance and every citizen of the State should be familiar with its history."

By the Associated Press.

ATHENS, April 8.—Princess Anastasia, who is convalescing from her recent illness, may go to America soon, and will take a special steamer to New York, if it can be obtained.

It was originally intended that she would journey to England for the purpose of undergoing a second operation, but in view of the fact that Great Britain has not recognized King Constantine, it was feared that the Princess' Lusband, Prince Christopher, might possibly not be altogether welcome. Princess Anastasia has refused to consider making the trip alone, and is said to be unwilling to leave her husband. Her recovery is being retarded by attacks of nausea.

To Whiten and Clear the Skin

Muddy or sallow complexions, or skins, that are marred by freckles or blemishes, should be cleared and whitened in a very short time by using the following:

Mix some glycerine and sintone and dissolve in water. You will find the result to be a beautiful white cream, and by its liberal use a tremendous improvement will be noted in the complexion within a few days. The ingredients may be obtained in any drug store.

You Who Have so Often Wished for Something That Really Would Take Away the Wrinkles

Just learn what a difference there can be between a cream freshly made at home and one that has been standing for months on a druggist's shelf.

The skin can be brought back to its original plumpness and vigor by the following formula. An astonishing result is the quick disappearance of wrinkles, little and big, crows' feet and lines of age. It is simple and can be prepared in a few moments by adding to half a pint of water one tablespoonful of glycerin and two ounces of eptol, obtained from your druggist. This takes years from your appearance and is always sure and positive in its work if you will apply it liberally every day.

To Have the Arm Pits Soft and Free from Hair.

You can be sure that there is but one sensible way to remove hairs from the arm-pits, and, in fact, from any part of the body. It is foolish to "burn" them off, injuring and spotting the skin. Moisten the hairs with sulfo solution. This will actually dissolve away the hairs completely, and leave the skin perfectly soft and smooth. It will not irritate the most delicate skin.

30 NATIONS TO BE REPRESENTED AT CONFERENCE ON WORLD TRADE

Meeting in New York From May 16 to 18, Inclusive, to Be First of Kind in This Country.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Thirty nations will be represented at the conference of Ambassadors and Ministers on world trade to be held in New York May 16-18, inclusive, the Department of Commerce today announced. The conference has been arranged by the National Association of Manufacturers in an effort to enlist the active co-operation of the nation's producers in stabilizing and stimulating reciprocal world trade, and will be the first of its kind in this country.

Both the Stat and Commerce departments, as well as the Pan-American Union, are strongly supporting the idea and each will be represented by special exhibits and trade advisors, the announcement said.

The National Association of Manufacturers claims to represent 6000 manufacturers who produce approximately 80 per cent of the manufactured products of the nation.

WOMEN TO INVESTIGATE POLITICAL MACHINES

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., April 8.—Every angle of the present-day activity in American politics of political bosses and machines will come up for action before the second annual convention of the National League of Women Voters, which opens here Monday.

This became apparent when the executive board which is rounding out the final details of the convention schedule today announced the program for the study of election methods.

The board had before it today a report on policy submitted recently by Miss Katherine Ludington of Hartford, Conn. In this report the national league is offered a choice between two policies.

One is to develop a well-informed woman electorate in America, to reach all women, teach them how to vote and whom to vote for.

The other is to put through as rapidly as possible a program of legislation considered beneficial to the women of the nation at large.

If amendments to the national league by-laws prepared by the board yesterday are adopted by the convention, national officers will be elected by the delegates instead of being the choices of elected regional directors.

State Women's Voters' League chairmen began arriving today for a conference Sunday between the national board and the State chairmen.

Meetings of the regional directors and chairmen of standing committees also were held today.

ALL GROUND OBTAINED FOR NEW HOSPITAL

Masons' Institution to Front on King's Highway, Clayton and McKinley Avenues.

The last of 11 pieces of property comprising the desired site for the hospital for the charitable care of crippled children which the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine (Shriners) will erect in St. Louis, was acquired last night.

The site has 380 feet frontage on King's highway facing Forest Park, 365 feet on Clayton avenue and 375 feet on McKinley avenue, the tract lying south of the school of medicine of Washington University, so that the new hospital will be an addition to the Washington University group, as stated exclusively in the Post-Dispatch last Tuesday. Two residences now stand on the site.

The cost of the property to the Shriners was $150,000. It was acquired for them by Henry R. Weisels of the Weisels-Gerhart Realty Co., which recently also acquired the site on King's highway between Forest Park boulevard and Parkview place for the new Jewish Hospital for $225,000.

A firm of local architects has been directed to proceed with plans for the hospital and ground will be broken for construction as soon as plans are completed.

"Dyonisia" to Be Presented.

Miss Frances Broermann, who obtained the A. B. degree at Washington University last year, won in the contest for a play to be produced by McMillan Hall girls at their annual May-day affair, May 17. The play, "Dyonisia," is taken from Greek mythology.

NOLTE OPPOSES PLAN TO CREATE NEW BOARD

Comptroller Disapproves Proposal to Have City Take Over Euclid Home for Wayward Girls.

The proposal to turn over to the city the work of Euclid Home, 2800 North Taylor avenue, an institution for wayward girls of 17 years and older, and to establish a special municipal board to conduct the home, was opposed by Comptroller Nolte at yesterday's meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, both on the ground of the expense, $20,000 a year, and on the ground that the number of municipal boards should be reduced rather than increased.

A counter proposal, to place the institution under the control of the Board of Children's Guardians, and possibly to increase that board from seven to 12 members, was discussed.

Home for Older Girls.

The Euclid Home proposal is distinct from the plan for a Girls' Industrial Farm, the establishment of which is proposed in a bill now before the Board of Aldermen. The proposed farm is for younger girls than those received in Euclid Home.

Mrs. Lon O. Hocker, one of the women who has been active in sustaining the work of Euclid Home, appeared before the Board of Estimate yesterday afternoon in behalf of the measure affecting that institution. The board consists of the Mayor, Comptroller and President of the Board of Aldermen.

Mayor Kiel expressed himself as favoring the measure as it stood. Nolte opposed it, and President Aloe of the Board of Aldermen said he would favor taking over the institution, but thought the establishment of a new board unnecessary. He said the Board of Children's Guardians should be able to handle it.

Mrs. Hocker objected to this, saying the Board of Children's Guardians had shown an "unsympathetic" attitude toward the work of the home. Aloe then proposed that the membership of the board be increased, so that persons sympathizing with the work might be added to the membership.

Nolte finally said that, even if the Mayor and Aloe were to vote for approval of the item, he would not feel justified in certifying it to the Board of Aldermen, since the city lacked the money. He said the appropriation for the Board of Children's Guardians might be readjusted to take care of the work, and that if it were found necessary to take over the institution, this plan should be followed.

ENGLISH AUTHOR, CREATOR OF "RAFFLES," DIES IN FRANCE

E. W. Hornung Had Made Amateur Cracksman Character Famous In Modern Fiction.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Word reached here yesterday of the death, on March 22, at St. Jean de Luz, France, of influenza, of E. W. Hornung, the English short story writer and novelist, who created the famous character of the amateur cracksman, "Raffles," thereby setting a fashion that has been followed by many other writers of recent years.

Although he was born in England, in 1866, Australia was given the credit for much of his earlier work, for he had lived there as a youth and had gathered the material for many of his stories, notably "A Bridge from the Bush" and "Stingaree."

The "Amateur Cracksman" appeared in 1889, and was followed by other adventures of the fascinating lawbreaker, one of these later volumes being "Mr. Justice Raffles."

Hornung was married in 1893 to Miss Constance Doyle, a sister of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. Thus the great detective, Sherlock Holmes, and the great thief, Raffles, became, in a sense, brothers-in-law.

SERVICE CAR DRIVER GETS TWO YEARS FOR BURGLARY

Edward Z. Linders Had Youth Remove Another Man's Automobile From Garage.

Edward Z. Linders, 39 years old, of 5654 Theodosia avenue, a former service car owner, was found guilty of second degree burglary in a sealed verdict returned in Judge Landwehr's Court today, and punishment was fixed at two years in the penitentiary.

The principal witness against Linders was Irvin Holzkamp, 19 years old, of 5055A Northland avenue, who testified that Linders employed him to remove an automobile from James Barry's garage at 5729 Chamberlain avenue and deliver it to Linders. The youth said Linders represented to him that he was the owner of the machine.

Linders was convicted Nov. 8, 1918, on a charge of stealing an automobile and the penalty was fixed at three years in the penitentiary. He took an appeal, which is still pending.

GIRL HITS MAN WITH TEAPOT

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 8.—Miss Florence Bernhart, waitress, was arraigned in the Municipal Court here yesterday on an assault and battery charge for hitting a customer with a teapot.

"I aimed at another man, who had been annoying me," she explained to the Judge.

"Your control doesn't seem very good," the Court commented.

"It's spring, and I'm not in form," she replied. The case was dismissed.

Tin Plate Company Plant to Close.

SHARON, Pa., April 8.—Orders have been received here to shut down the entire plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Co., officials announced today. The sheet mill will close Saturday, April 9, and the tin mill Wednesday, April 13. About 2500 men will be affected.

ECZEMA

When people suffer from Eczema it signifies a tainted, vitiated blood, due to mal-assimilation and toxic elimination of certain poisons and waste. Salves and washes help allay the distress, but a thorough course of alterative Blood Treatment is the only logical way to banish Eczema, Rheumatism, Boils, Pimples, Old Sores, Ulcers and the like. Nature provides plant vitamines which act on the blood and glands of the body and bring about gradual changes of the blood and flesh by a thorough process of elimination. Thus elixir Chin Cen purifies the tainted blood, without resort to mercury or potash mixtures, which often do more harm than good. Dr. Lewis Baker, who has prescribed it for years, asserts that it may be taken with benefit indefinitely, being purely a vegetable alterative. Sold by Wolff-Wilson, Judge & Dolph, and all good druggists.

$2.33 PROBABLE TOTAL TAX RATE IN ST. LOUIS THIS YEAR

CITY RATE LIKELY TO BE CUT TO $1.052

State Rate Reduced by Legislature From 18 to 13 Cents —Tax Bill to Be About $2,600,000 Above Normal.

The city Board of Estimate and Apportionment will consider, within the next few days, the question of reducing the municipal tax rate, following the order of the State Board of Equalization, made last week, that real estate assessment valuations in St. Louis shall be increased 30 per cent. Assessor Wollbrinck said the 30 per cent increase would be made on every real estate tax bill.

The tentative proposal, announced today by Deputy Comptroller Gunn, is that the municipal tax rate shall be reduced from $1.27 on the $100 valuation to $1.052. The State tax rate applying here has been reduced from 18 to 13 cents. The total tax rate for all purposes here this year, as Gunn figures it in his tentative estimate, would be $2.33, as compared with $2.55 the past year.

This arrangement, according to Gunn's estimate, and on the basis of the increased valuation, would increase the taxes for municipal purposes (including Library, Art Museum and Zoo, but not including sinking fund and interest) from $10,676,612.36, last year's total, to $11,744,273.60. This is a 10 per cent increase, and is therefore the greatest increase allowable, since the Legislature has provided that no tax bill for municipal purposes shall be more than 10 per cent in excess of the previous year's bill for the same property.

Actual Increase About $800,000.

As the normal increase in the total tax collections for municipal purposes would have been about $500,000, the additional increase due to the new valuation for assessment will be about $800,000. This would about provide for this year's municipal deficit, but the increased payroll of the Fire Department, under the new 8-hour regulation, must also be considered. The Comptroller's office has estimated that the annual added cost of the Fire Department will be $1,500,000. So the city's fiscal officers will still face a difficult problem.

With a rate of $2.20 for all purposes, Gunn estimates, the tax levy on the increased valuation, representing the total bill of St. Louis taxpayers, would be $23,335,670.90, or an increase of $3,167,402.94 over last year's levy for all purposes, which was $20,168,267.96. The normal increase would have been about $500,000, so that the increase beyond the normal will be more than $2,600,000.

All these estimates are taking into account the expectation that the taxpaying voters, in today's special election, will authorize the proposed increase in the school tax levy from 60 to 85 cents on the $100 valuation, for school purposes. If this proposal should fail, the figures which have been cited would be materially affected.

As was told in a Jefferson City dispatch in last Sunday's Post-Dispatch, the State Board of Equalization ordered an increase in St. Louis real estate assessments of 30 per cent, from $658,224,000 to $855,691,200. It did not change the personal property assessment except in the items of domestic animals. It made an increase in the valuation of horses and mules owned here, and a reduction in the valuation of sheep and hogs, the latter two items amounting to less than $500 originally. These changes increased the personal property assesement from $145,688,960 to $145,833,739. The previous total assessment of $803,912,960 was increased to $1,001,530,939.

Last Year's Division of Tax.

Last year's tax rate of $2.55 is composed of these items: State purposes, 18 cents; schools, 75 cents; school bond sinking fund and interest, 3 cents; municipal purposes, $1.27; city sinking fund and interest, 24 cents; Public Library, 4 cents; Zoo, 2 cents; Art Museum, 3 cents.

The readjustment rate of $2.33, according to Deputy Comptroller Gunn's tentative plan, would be distributed as follows: State, 13 cents; municipal purposes, $1.052; schools, 85 cents (assuming that today's tax increase proposal passes); school sinking fund, 3 cents; city sinking fund, 20.2 cents; Library, 3.3 cents; Zoo, 1.65 cents; Art Museum, 1.65 cents.

HOSPITAL SCREENS NEEDED

Dr. Rolla Henry Says 11 Porches Need Protection.

The city hospital is in need of screens for 11 porches, particularly the two porches of the children's ward.

Patients requiring open-air treatment are kept on the porches for certain periods of the day while the weather is suitable, but must be taken inside at the beginning of the fly season. Dr. Rolla Henry, manager of the hospital, said today the need for permanently screening porches had come up annually for several years, but funds never have been available to satisfy it.

MAN, ACCUSED OF SWINDLING ST. LOUISAN, HELD IN EAST

The New York police last night notified the St. Louis police that they had arrested Morris Cohen, who was accused of swindling Max Bierenbaum of 1601 Carr street out of $3000.

The police went to Bierenbaum's place of residence and found that he had been in the East for several weeks. They presume that the swindle referred to is that which occurred last Sept. 30, in a room in the Warwick Hotel, to which Bierenbaum had gone in expectation of purchasing a stock of dry goods worth several thousand dollars for $3000.

Three men were in the room. During the negotiations one of the three leaned toward Bierenbaum and whispered: "You're going to make a million out of this." Shortly afterwards the three excused themselves from the room on one pretext and another. Bierenbaum discovered that $3000 cash he had brought to the room had disappeared from an inside coat pocket.

POLICE RELIEF CIRCUS OPENS AT COLISEUM

Efforts Being Made to Exceed Last Year's Mark of $46,000 for Fund.

The annual Police Relief Association Benefit, in the form of an indoor circus at the Coliseum, opened yesterday afternoon at the Coliseum and will continue with afternoon and evening performances daily up to and including April 17. All of the proceeds, above expenses, go into the fund to pay death, retirement and other benefits to policemen and their families. Last year's circus netted about $46,000 to the fund and an effort is being made to surpass that mark this year.

The show includes 19 acts, many of the performers being professional circus men and women who won fame under the "big tops," and others being vaudeville specialists of established reputation.

There is a herd of performing elephants whose ponderous agility is amazing, and at the other end of the scale are trained poodles and monkeys with most amusing stunts, one of the best of which is an exhibition of tight wire walking by a fox terrier.

Trained horses figure in several of the acts and just to show what can be done by humbler members of the near-horse family, there is a showing of "educated" donkeys.

A troup of Arab acrobats do feats of bewildering tumbling over broad stretches of the arena floor. On the two platforms there is a succession of trapeze and balancing acts and for a grand climax there are two of the best aerial trapeze acts obtainable, those of the Beckman-Todd trio and the Five Flying Fishers.

Corial, a daring balancer, slides down a wire while standing on his head, and several Japanese teams also show their skill in trapeze and pole balancing.

A company of about 40 clowns interject much comedy, including a burlesque band concert, and there is a most amusing act in which a game rooster valiantly fights a performer in a rooster costume. The show runs about two hours and 15 minutes.

J. B. HOGAN IS INDICTED FOR ROBBING MESSENGER

Ex-Convict Was Paroled After Serving Two Months of Two Years for Burglary.

An indictment charging first-degree robbery and being an habitual criminal was returned yesterday by the grand jury against James B. Hogan of 3035 Cass avenue, a paroled convict, who was identified by Erries Pillow, a negro messenger for the North St. Louis Savings Trust Co., as one of the four hold-up men who at noon last Monday robbed him of a satchel containing $155 in change and more than $60,000 in checks.

After serving two months of a two-year sentence for second-degree burglary, Hogan was paroled on March 28, 1917, by Gov. Gardner to Dr. W. A. Dillon.

Mike Dericks was also indicted on a charge of first-degree robbery. He is accused of being one of four men who held up Walter Laufersieck of 1404 Obear avenue in a saloon and pool room at 4260 John avenue.

REOLO

BUILDS STRENGTH AND ENERGY

Are You Worn Out and Tired at the End of the Day?

To feel weary without having earned it by hard work throws the mind into disorder and confusion.

Too Weary to be Efficient

A hundred people describing their weary condition would each tell it differently. One can't think, another is drowsy, the next feels weak, others are irritable, moody, depressed, apprehensive, as the case may be. To this great class of sufferers comes Reolo, one of the grandest reconstructive agencies ever devised for definite accomplishment. It intensifies the activity of the vital processes, provokes increased flesh, stimulates the production of red corpuscles, contributes to the defense of the system against depletion and consequent exhaustion and in many other ways arouses the functional processes to make you feel that something has touched that one flickering vital spark you thought was about to go out. No amount of description can adequately convey the difference between the feeling of lack of nerve speed and the rebound, the freedom, the liberation from depressions that causes so many men and women to fall in their tracks, to go to sleep at the switch or stand still when the order is to go ahead. If you would really like to get acquainted with your real self get a $1.00 box of Reolo today.

Your druggist can tell you about the wonderful results from Reolo that he has witnessed.

ROCK ISLAND'S NET REVENUE IN 1920 $8,411,141

System Shows Decrease of $6,715,810 From Figures of Previous Year.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Net revenue from railway operations of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway and subsidiary companies for 1920, as disclosed by the corporate and Federal combined income account issued today, aggregated $8,411,141, a decrease of $6,715,810, or 44.40 per cent compared with the previous year.

LABOR MEN SAY GEER LETTER IS AUTHENTIC

Board to Investigate Missive Suggesting Defamation of Labor Organizations.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 8.—The authenticity of a letter signed with the name I. W. Geer, general manager of the Southwest System, Pennsylvania Railroad, at St. Louis, which suggested "defamation of all labor organizations," if necessary to obtain certain information, can be substantiated by witnesses, labor representatives declared before the Railroad Labor Board here today.

The board was asked to call five witnesses, including Geer, to clear up the matter at once.

The letter, dated March 10, 1921, and introduced by labor in the rules hearing, was addressed to all supervisory employes and asked them to obtain information regarding the attitude of employes on a proposed wage reduction.

Those whom the board is asked to summon in addition to Geer are: William Stubbins, foreman of engine house and car department, Bradford, Pa.

Edward Fann, chief clerk to Stubbins.

The board was asked to request the witnesses to produce the letter or copy of it and Stubbins' reply saying that such information could not be obtained.

When the letter was introduced E. F. Whiter, chairman of the Conference Committee of the railroads, stated that Geer in a long-distance telephone conversation with him denied any knowledge of such a letter and Whiter demanded proof of its authenticity. Whiter said today that it was "a trifle to bring before the board, but that the imputation concerning a Pennsylvania official was no trifle" and demanded proof or retraction at once.

The board said it would take the matter under consideration and advise action later.

Pennsylvania Railroad Repudiates Alleged Greer Letter.

"Frank P. Walsh, counsel for the Railway Employes' Department of the American Federation of Labor, produced a letter alleged to have been written by I. W. Geer, general manager of the Pennsylvania system, Southwestern region, in which Mr. Geer was said to have advised supervisory employes 'to defame the labor organizations if necessary to obtain certain information.' At the time the alleged letter was introduced, W. W. Atterbury, vice president, after communicating with Mr. Geer, stated that the letter was not genuine.

"Since then further investigation has been undertaken by the management which is assured by Mr. Geer that he never wrote the letter in question. As far as can be discovered, no one connected with the company ever wrote such a letter, nor can any one who received such a letter be found. Insistent demand has been made upon those who produced the alleged letter from Mr. Geer to authenticate or withdraw it, but no satisfaction in this direction has been obtained up to the present time. As the record stands, there has been made against this railroad what we regard as a very serious charge, without a particle of evidence to support it.

"The company repudiates all responsibility for the letter or the sentiment it expresses."

What purported to be a copy of the letter referred to was submitted by Walsh to the Railroad Labor Board in Chicago, March 22, when he charged that the railroad maintained an extensive espionage system among its employes.

LYRE-OLA PRESIDENT QUESTIONED ABOUT PHONOGRAPH SALES

Arthur F. La Pierre Denies Knowledge of Transactions as Shown in Record of Accounts of Company.

The examination of Arthur F. La Pierre, president of the Lyre-ola Manufacturing Co., 1504 Pine street, which is in the hands of a receiver, was resumed yesterday afternoon in the office of Walter D. Coles, referee in bankruptcy, and will be continued next Thursday afternoon.

La Pierre professed to know nothing about the sale of a number of phonographs, a record of which was found in the accounts of the company and for which the company had received no money. He recognized some of the orders which had been approved by him but said that he did not know whether the machines had been delivered or paid for.

A. S. Bruno, the receiver, who represents the National Phonograph Manufacturers' Credit Bureau as an actuary, said that he was sent here from Chicago by creditors of the company to see if he could rehabilitate the concern. He said that after negotiating with La Pierre for several days he concluded that bankruptcy was the only solution. Bruno was appointed receiver.

ST. LOUIS TOURISTS ARRIVE IN MONTEREY

C. of C. Receives Telegram From Party on Commercial Trip Telling of Receptions Across Borders.

The Chamber of Commerce today received the following telegram from Monterey, Mex., from the St. Louis party on a mission to Mexico under its auspices:

"The delegation of 112 St. Louis business men and their wives, who left St. Louis Tuesday night for a 12-day tour to Mexico City and return, under the auspices of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, was entertained here at 5:30 p. m. today by a reception committee from the Monterey Chamber of Commerce. Following lunch at the Casino, the St. Louis party was taken for an automobile tour of the city and was scheduled to meet Governor-General Garcia at a reception in honor of the St. Louis party before leaving.

"At Laredo, Tex., a committee from the Chamber of Commerce met the train with flowers. The St. Louis party crossed the border this morning at 10 a. m. in the midst of a driving rain, the first this section has seen in many months. The rain made traveling delightful, clearing the atmosphere and increasing the beauty of the district through which the St. Louis special passed.

"The trip to Monterey took the party through the famous Mexican desert sprinkled throughout with low clumps of mesquite bushes and tall Spanish dagger palms. The train also passed the Guadalupe iron mines and Saddle Mountain. From Laredo to Monterey the St. Louis special ran in two sections in order to make better time. Due to a delay at the border and slight engine trouble at Cameron, Mexico, the special is running slightly behind its schedule, but this will be made up by shortening the stay at Queretaro tomorrow to one-half hour instead of three hours, as scheduled. All members of the party are reported well."

Realty Dealer Says Oil Man Disappeared After Borrowing $1200 From Him.

Zell E. Robinson, 30 years old, has been arrested at Little Rock, Ark., at the request of the St. Louis police, on a charge of embezzling $1200 from Ralph W. Mottaz, a real estate dealer, with offices in the Wainwright Building, according to a telegram today from the Little Rock police to the local police. A detective will be sent to Little Rock to bring Robinson to St. Louis.

Mottaz complained to the police several weeks ago. He represents a number of St. Louisans in oil projects at Bowling Green, Ky., and Robinson was in his employ as a field man. Robinson came to St. Louis from Bowling Green, Feb. 25, Mottaz charged, and told him he had to have $1200, of which $1000 was for drillers' wages and $200 for "shut down money." Mottaz said he gave Robinson the $1200, but soon received complaints from his drillers at Bowling Green that they had not been paid. He went to Bowling Green, he said, and was told that Robinson had not returned and had not paid them any money.

WIFE OF CITY FIREMAN IN HOSPITAL WITH CUTS ON FACE

Mrs. George Westbrook Says Husband Attacked Because She Attended a Dance.

Mrs. George Westbrook, 31 years old, of 3820 Blaine avenue, was taken to the city hospital at 3:20 a. m. today suffering from cuts on the face and head which she said were inflicted by her husband, a city fireman. The police are searching for him.

She said she went to a dance last night with her sister and afterward went to the home of her mother, Mrs. Margaret Kelso, 4021A Blaine avenue, as is her custom when her husband is on duty at night. About 2 a. m., she said, her husband came to the house, upbraided her for having gone out with her sister in his absence, slashed her several times with a knife or razor, and ran from the house.

TALBERT'S RESIGNATION IS ACCEPTED, EFFECTIVE MAY 1

Mayor Kiel Thanks Director of Streets and Sewers for Services.

Mayor Kiel yesterday accepted the resignation of Director of Streets and Sewers Talbert, with the request that Director Talbert remain in the city service until May 1. Talbert agreed to this.

It became known last Wednesday, the day after election, that Talbert had joined in the incorporation of a general insurance agency. He has held his present post throughout the eight years of Mayor Kiel's incumbency, at an annual salary of $8000.

The Mayor replied to Talbert's formal resignation, sent to him yesterday, thanking Talbert for his services to the city. A number of men have been suggested as the possible appointee to succeed Talbert. The Director of Streets and Sewers must be an engineer.

$1000 for Robbers, Dead or Alive.

By the Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 8.—Bank robbery became a more hazardous occupation in Kentucky with the offer of the Kentucky Bankers' Association yesterday of a standing reward of $1000 for every robber, dead or alive. Printed notices were being mailed for posting in more than 400 banks of the State reciting that the reward would be paid "if the robber should be killed, the same as if he were convicted in court." LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Music in the Schools.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The time has come when we can no longer close our ears to the cry from our children to satisfy their craving for good music in our schools.

The motion picture industry quickly learned the value of good music—learned that children, as well as grown-ups, wanted to hear the glorious melody which floated out and up from the great, mysterious pipe organ.

I believe the day is approaching when our School Board will realize the importance of the pipe organ as a factor in the uplift and mental stimulant to the pupils in the high schools and will compete with the motion picture houses in quality of music dispensed.

When the Cleveland and Soldan High Schools were being built a place was arranged in which to build a pipe organ, but, as yet, no move has been made to erect those organs.

It will cost approximately $20,000 to purchase and install a pipe organ of highest quality in each school—a trifling sum in comparison to the splendid moral uplift obtained by the students in their daily devotional exercises, accompanied by the pipe organ. E. S. SIEBER.

One Tenant's Experience.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

We have been living in a three-room flat on the South Side for several years. The rent then was $18 a month; it has been gradually increased in the last two years till yesterday we were informed it would be $36. There is nothing private about this flat, nothing up-to-date. The property has been allowed to go to ruin on the inside. The rain, in bad weather, comes right in on the floor and under the carpets in the front room. The front stairway and the back have not been papered since we have lived there. If you want a light, in most cases you have to twist the electric bulbs, as the switches are all worn. The kitchen is damp. The paper in all the rooms is cracking and dirty, and has only been gone over once since we lived here. The landlord lives in the block, but absolutely refuses to do a thing. He has bought an elegant machine within the last year. The Board of Health ought to get after this man, as the alley in the rear is a disgrace.

DISCOURAGED.

The Cost of Cabbage.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In a recent edition was published an article regarding the cost of cabbage in Chicago as compared to the price paid the producer in Texas, and seeking to justify the ultimate cost to the consumer by charging the high cost of transportation as the main contributing factor.

This is, in the mind of the writer, another blow aimed at the railroad worker, and in all fairness to him, his employer and the general public, who has all the burden to carry, I do not believe a little light thrown on the subject will be amiss.

As everyone is aware, commission men from Chicago do not travel to Texas and buy commodities in one-ton lots, and in this analysis I have considered shipments as of carload lots.

The admitted price paid producer for cabbage is $3.50 per ton, or in minimum car lot of 12 tons, $42. The freight rate from Houston, as distributing center, to Chicago is $19.30 per ton, or $231.60 per 12-ton car. Refrigeration cost is $30 per car, making total cost at the track in Chicago $303.60 per car, or a little less than $30 per ton, or 1½ cents per pound.

It was contended this cabbage must be sold at the rate of 7 cents per pound in order to make a fair profit. The accuracy of this depends on what constitutes a fair profit.

At 7 cents per pound, a ton would sell for, mark it closely now, $140, or for a 12-ton car, $1680. The point I wish to make is this: It is not the high cost of transportation; rather, it is the high cost of what some people consider a fair profit, that makes the extortionate price necessary, and I think the reading public will agree with me when I say it is extortion. A RAILROAD WORKER.

Be Kind to Animals.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Grateful thanks for your splendid editorial entitled "Dogs and Men."

Statistics show that 90 per cent of the criminals confined in our penitentiaries never had pets during childhood. Teach the child to be kind to the animal and he will be kind to the human.

It is also a well known fact that the higher the morals of a nation the better its animals fare.

The annual "Be Kind to Animals" week has been set this year to run from April 11 to 16. Humane Sunday will be April 17 and may the subject be touched upon in the various pulpits of our city.

The exclusive attention of special humane propaganda during one week enables a larger number of people to be reached than as though cursory endeavors were made throughout the year.

Our own Senator Vest said, "The one absolutely unselfish friend that a man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him and the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous is his dog."

Let us go but half way with our animal friends and they will return us the rest full and running over.

JULIA PAULING.

WHERE DO WE STAND?

Secretary Hughes, in a note concerning the rights of the United States in German territory now under mandates, and particularly in the Yap mandate, combines with a fair statement of American rights as a leading belligerent Power and a party to the peace, an indictment of the United States Senate and a convincing argument for our ratification of the Versailles peace treaty with the covenant of the League of Nations.

Our original rights, asserted by President Wilson and now reaffirmed by Secretary Hughes, are clear and undoubted. As one of the principal Powers engaged in the victorious war against Germany and participating in the peace, we had rights in the disposal of German territories, equal to those of any of the principal Powers. These rights were guaranteed by the treaty of peace, as Secretary Hughes asserts, but we have not ratified this treaty; in effect, we have repudiated it. How long do our treaty rights exist when we, by our action, have refused to join with the allied Powers which have ratified the treaty in carrying it out and sharing its obligations? We have not participated in the councils created by the treaty nor co-operated in organizing and conducting the League of Nations, which is a part of the treaty and its agent in respect to important objects embodied in the treaty.

Can we in equity and reason repudiate the treaty and its obligations and claim its rights and benefits?

Refusing to participate in the work of the principal allied Powers which made the treaty with our assistance and ratified it, we stand outside and protest against its decisions. Refusing to join the League of 40 nations, including the principal allies, and participate in its deliberations and decisions, we stand outside and protest against decisions under the very treaty which we repudiate. If the other principal belligerent nations had joined with us in refusing to ratify the treaty and to organize the League of Nations there would have been no treaty and no League and no rights for us to assert. All treaty rights would have fallen to the ground.

If we go farther and, as the Harding administration contemplates doing, make a separate peace with Germany, the inconsistency of our position will be emphasized. We will then be in the position of claiming the rights and benefits of our own treaty and the rights and benefits without the obligations of a repudiated treaty, the whole operation of which we will, in effect, oppose.

The logic of Secretary Hughes stops short of its conclusion, which touches the action of the United States more than the action of the Supreme Council. We have been derelict in failing to ratify the treaty and participate in the councils of the Powers and in the League. As a participant we could have guarded our rights under the treaty and our counsel with regard to the mandates would have had the potency of a participant in all its rights and obligations.

Are not our rights under a treaty which we decline to ratify in danger of lapsing because we have not ratified it and decline to participate in the execution of it? As an outsider, can we in equity insist upon our treaty rights?

Can we in equity oppose the decisions of a body charged with carrying out a treaty which we decline to ratify or support? In opposing the decisions of the Supreme Council are we not appealing to might instead of right?

Are we prepared to put our might against the decisions of our late allies and all the other nations?

Where does America stand—for ordered peace and co-operation or for might and destruction?

A CIRCLE TO BE SMASHED.

The National Association of Owners of Railroad Securities "have decided," according to a statement of representatives, "to bring about a solution of the (railroad) situation."

It is splendid news that anybody has "a solution of the situation." But the unqualified assurance of the security owners carries an uncomfortable suggestion. They declare that the roads are not meeting their fixed charges and that $350,000,000 worth of securities mature this year. If this means a receivership it cannot be called a solution. It would entail either higher rates, a junking of the properties or Government control, none of which would bring anything but misfortune to the public.

Government ownership or control means but a relapse into the very disease from which the railroads have been regarded as recovering. It means political administration, irresponsibility, inefficiency and labor dictatorship, for all of which the public must pay. It may be a solution for security owners. It is claimed as a solution by large and influential elements of the workers' organizations. But it is not a solution for the public. Whatever means inefficiency means higher rates. Higher rates mean disaster to business. Disaster to business means disaster to labor. It is as certain a sequence as "the house that Jack built."

The only final solution will be in the preservation of the status quo, plus such new administrative devices of economy and efficiency as will protect the principle of individual incentive and prevent a backward plunge into the abyss of irresponsibility and public spoils.

This solution may be realized if private ownership can be kept on the job until the vicious circle which now holds business and the railroads in its grip can be broken. Millions of people are without decent housing. Countless tons of material are awaiting to be shipped and millions of builders and laborers are awaiting work. But freight rates are too high. They are a considerable element in keeping the vicious circle on the job. They are holding back business, and lack of business is holding back the railroads.

It has been predicted on good authority that a good crop will throw the vicious circle partly out of gear and perhaps bring about its collapse. But this hope is blasted if irrevocable action is to be taken to communize the railroads before the crops are ready for movement.

Further economies on the railroads pending the prospective crop relief might save the situation. If the crisis can be weathered it may, in the end, prove more of a blessing than a bane. For, we are constantly studying and learning. We are finding by hard knocks and persistent scrutiny what is wasteful and what is rotten. Let's keep on finding and then, before it is too late, do whatever cutting is necessary to finish the operation.

THE BUILDING EMBARGO.

With the pressure of duties during the legislative session removed, Attorney-General Barrett has turned his attention with commendable promptness to the conditions obstructing the vitally needed revival of the building industry.

Those obstructions are of two classes—known and suspected. The prices of building materials are undeniable; they continue at the conspicuously high levels from which prices generally have receded. What is the cause of such prices? Grave charges are made against manufacturers and dealers. Collusion, secret agreements, the various devices by which such machinations function are alleged. Arbitrary restrictions as to sales are said to be operative by which the distribution of commodities is so regulated as to effect a sinister restraint of trade.

Investigations conducted by the Post-Dispatch have adduced information which seems to warrant official inquiry. Additional information of this character has reached the Attorney-General's office by complaint forwarded by the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce. Further, the scandalous, terrifying conspiracy in New York as disclosed by the Untermyer probe, and the charge by an Illinois legislative committee that a similar camorra exists in Chicago cumulatively urge the action Attorney-General Barrett is preparing to take. Fresh incentive and assurance are also to be found in the warning against illegal practices just issued by Attorney-General Daugherty, with his promise that the Department of Justice will co-operate in any effort of local officials to correct "intolerable conditions."

The housing shortage is a national problem. It is working financial hardships upon people bled white. The exactions go deeper than the pocketbook. The social and moral consequences of lowered living standards, and intensified congestion penetrate the very marrow of family life. If the housing shortage is the result of manipulation for gain, the conscienceless profiteers, wherever found, should be rigorously prosecuted and given the maximum penalty.

No issue of greater public moment can command Attorney-General Barrett's energies at this time. In no other official activity can he so effectually serve the public welfare as by ascertaining why and how the prices of building materials are maintained at embargo figures.

GRACIOUS OBLIVION.

Their lights were blown out at the high fever of the nation's purest passion. Their last memory of us is one of striving together, of sacrifice of self to the general good, of the grand emotion of brotherly love and loyalty. They were fighting a war to end war, after which there would be a rapid return of the pre-war happiness and prosperity, with America leading the world for peace, jurtice and democracy. Today as they lie in state and pass through our streets their eyes are blinded to aught else.

AMBASSADOR HERRICK.

President Harding's selection of Myron T. Herrick as Ambassador to France will be widely and cordially approved. As is well known, Mr. Herrick served in this post under President Taft. His tenure extended into the early days of the world war, during the confusion and danger of which his deportment measured up to the most gallant traditions of American diplomacy under fire, while his energy and executive ability brought relief and comfort to many of his anxious compatriots stranded and desperate in the sudden chaos.

One of the most striking commentaries on that shattering August of 1914 was later given by Mr. Herrick himself in a speech here in St. Louis: "It seemed as if God had forgotten the world." The same thought, though inarticulate, must have oppressed much of humanity in the subsequent agonies. Those days are gone. But among the vivid memories of France in the first shock of the conflict was the fighting spirit of the American Ambassador. France remembers and is awaiting his return with eager welcome.

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the POST-DISPATCH by Clark McAdams

Just a Minute has gone to Mexico with the Chamber of Commerce to see what can be done to re-establish business relations between that country and our own. For a matter of 10 years Mexico has been more or less closed to us. The Mexicans have been having a series of elections in the Latin-American way, and they have been too busy getting the vote shot to care very much about the lesser matter of commerce. We wish them to know at this time that we are still here, and friendly; that we are doing business at the old stand; that we have goods to sell and money to invest. Just a Minute hasn't any goods to sell, unless we can interest the Mexicans in a good line of monkey business which we have carried with some success for more than 20 years. We have no money to invest. Nevertheless, this is our city. Its welfare is our own. The first United States business with Mexico went out of St. Louis by way of the Santa Fe Trail. Our business relations with Mexico therefore date back to the 1830's. In those days we braved the Indians to provide Mexico with our goods, and at this time we are willing to run for those same relations the risk of being misunderstood. We think the Mexicans will hardly misunderstand us. Certainly the spectacle of Just a Minute moving solemnly about in a silk hat and cutaway coat is sufficient assurance of the purity of our motives. It ought to induce calm and amusement. It ought to be a guarantee of the friendliness of our diplomacy. Everybody on the trip is disposed to look at it this way. They said: "Here is Just a Minute, who goes in quest of signs." That can offend nobody, so they think. How could it? That takes the hard edge off the whole affair. It lifts the expedition out of what might have seemed sordid into the rarified atmosphere of what is not for money at all. One trouble about our relations with Mexico is that too many of our people have sought to exploit her. Thus, Mr. Hearst thinks we ought to have intervention in Mexico so he can get back his Mexican estates. Most of us think we ought to have peace, friendship and trade with Mexico, leaving Mr. Hearst and his estates to go hang. There is a powerful propaganda out of and into Mexico for the retrieval of privilege. What sympathy have most of us with that? None in the world. We stand with the Mexicans, who do not want those old and devastating times to return. What the people of St. Louis who have always traded with Mexico think has been made very plain. Our Br'er Carter has said it. We hope to have that well understood before we come home. Meanwhile, with some of us looking into the status of Mexican credits, others of us contemplating the prospect for normalcy, and Just a Minute ascertaining what became of the apostrophe during the somewhat violent elections, we ought to have a pleasant and mutually helpful trip.

A POSSIBILITY.

The long-haired Bolshevist gazed out over his audience of long-haired corelligionists. Solemnly, as one who recites a ritual, he asked:

"My Brothers: From the eastern shores of this so-great land to the Golden Gate of the West men are rising as from a dream. They are no longer content with the old order of affairs; they are shaking off the galling shackles of man's tyranny to man. They are no longer content to follow in the same slot worn bare by the travel of those who have preceded them. With the coming of spring there is to be noted a great preconcerted movement—intense—and actuated by a singleness of purpose. What, I ask you, is the cause of this so-great unrest?"

"Flees!"

JEFF ROTORBAR.

The historian Ferrero doubts if it has done any good to make Europe safe for democracy. He is afraid Europe does not understand what democracy is. He points out that only one European country—Switzerland—has had a continuous republic for any great while, even France having alternated between the opposing theories of government as if uncertain which she really wanted. He considers monarchy the deadest thing in Europe, there being at this time in Europe but a few monarchies left precariously hanging where they were tossed by the flood; but he doubts if democracy lies ahead. Russia has had no sense of that middle ground upon which democracy rests. She has only leaped from the frying pan into the fire. Our own democracy, thinks the historian, is peculiarly the genius of America. It is not something that anybody can have by merely getting rid of a king. There is a thought for our able body of two-story thinkers. A Latin who has lived in this country for some years expresses much the same idea. He thinks we are a wonderful people in that after an election, for instance, all the rancor of a campaign disappears in a day. He wants to know how we do that. Do we not feel on the day after the election the same things felt when we went to the polls? Can you answer that? If you can you know something about us at which a good many people have been for a long time guessing. It has perhaps never occurred to us that our quiet acquiescence in majority rule is unique. Yet that is the case. We have the authoritative word of Ferrero for it. "Those are the people who can do that. We cannot do it," he says in substance. Possibly it is because of our political origin, which derives from the free institutions of England. Possibly Europe, without those traditions behind her, is as full of wonder as to us as we are as to her without having behind us her traditions of monarchy. Mr. Wilson could not have known that any more than he knew how far humanity was incapable of his great ideal. Democracy, then, is an idea. To get the form first and then try to get the idea afterward results in such a mess as Europe is in today. She is safe for democracy, but what is it?

REVIVAL OF RIVER TRAFFIC.

From World's Work.

MANY an American will rejoice to hear that the Mississippi packet and the American buffalo, two of the most picturesque features in the history of the West, are no longer in danger of extinction. Today some of the old packets are sailing from St. Louis to New Orleans, and the buffalo may be seen in considerable number on several reservations; it will not henceforth be so difficult for travelers to visualize the Queen of Rivers as Mark Twain has painted it, or the great prairies over which Buffalo Bill galloped in our boyhood imaginations. For many years the packets were luxurious passenger steamers, carrying the Southern planters and their families up and down the river. The development of modern Pullman cars, together with the speed of the railroad train, has effectively destroyed this function; but the increase in freight rates during the World War has made river transportation of freight a profitable undertaking. So, within the last two years 42 steam freighters have appeared in the Mississippi Valley. Some are new boats; but 31 at least are the real old-timers, distinguished from all modern craft by their stern paddle wheels. Almost forgotten, they have come forth from the seclusion of small, little-known rivers of the Southwest, from small towns of the Mississippi where they have been moored for 30 years, even from the bottoms of unused inlets where they had been sunk. And it seems that they have returned to stay, for many of the cities of the Mississippi are planning extensive harbor improvements for their use. New Orleans, Vicksburg and Memphis are three of the largest cities actively assisting these packets, which can now carry freight at 20 per cent to 40 per cent less than their old rivals, the railroads.

TAFT AND THE SUPREME COURT.

From the New York Times.

IT has long been expected that President Harding would have to fill, during his term, two or three vacancies in the Supreme Court. The indications now are Chief Justice White is to be the first to retire. He will have achieved a notable judicial career. On the bench of our highest court for 27 years, and its Chief Justice since 1910, he has been eminent for learning, for power of lucid statement, and for vigor and industry in keeping the court abreast of its work. To rival him in these indispensable qualities will be difficult for any man who comes after him. If Mr. Taft, as at present seems assured, is to be named in succession to Justice White, the appointment will be extremely well received. It will be felt to be a fit crowning of Mr. Taft's early ambition and public services. He will be the first man to have been both President and Chief Justice. Another Ohio man, Salmon P. Chase, once Chief Justice, aspired to fill the other office also, but for him it was not to be. Mr. Taft has already had experience as a Judge, and his temper has remained judicial. It used to be a complaint of him when he was President that he was "too judicial" for an executive. It was a fault, if a fault at all, which we might have thought a virtue in some other Presidents. Doubtless he will need to familiarize himself with recent legal developments and the later decisions of the courts. And he will have to get through a great deal of unremitting labor. But it will be work congenial to him, and there can be no doubt of his ability and desire to uphold the high traditions of the Supreme Court.

GOVERNOR VETOES BILL TO INCREASE COURT CLERKS' PAY

POSITIONS NOW PAY $5000 ANNUALLY

Bill Increasing Salaries of All Deputies in State License Collector's Office Is Signed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 8.—Gov. Hyde today vetoed the bill increasing by $1000 a year the salaries of Herman Bader, clerk of the Circuit Court for Criminal Causes, and of Ferd Knittel, clerk of the Court of Criminal Correction in St. Louis. This bill had been approved by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment in St. Louis. Bader is a member of the Republican City Committee in St. Louis. The Governor in his veto message said that $5000 a year, the present salary of the clerks, is not a particularly low salary and that the usual reason for salary increases of "underpaid deputies" did not obtain in this instance.

The Governor signed the bill increasing the pay of the employes of the license collector's office, as follows: Chief deputy, from $2500 to $3000 a year; assistant deputy, $2000 to $2200; cashier, $2400 to $2700; assistant cashier, $1800 to $2000; bookkeeper, $210 to $2280; assistant bookkeeper, $1650 to $1800; stenographer, $1200 to $1800; clerks, $1500 to $1800; 11 inspectors, $1200 to $1584; four inspectors, $1200 to $1380.

The bill carries an emergency clause and will go into effect today.

Two Additional Clerks.

A bill authorizing the appointment of two additional deputy clerks of division No. 3 of the Court of Criminal Correction, whose combined salary may not exceed $3750 a year, was signed.

Another bill signed increases the deputy hire allowed Circuit Clerk Nat Goldstein from $12,000 to $13,000 a year, payable $1500 a month.

One of the three Aloe "home rule" bills was signed. It would permit the Mayor of St. Louis to take charge of the Police Department in emergencies and direct its activities until the Police Commissioners take charge.

Gov. Hyde vetoed four other bills. One of them, the so-called "horse racing bill," was designed to permit the appointment and functioning of a commission to promote the breeding in Missouri of a type of horses suitable for cavalry remounts, according to Representative Rollins of Columbia, who introduced it. The bill contained provisions for tests of speed and horse shows to be conducted under direction of the commission, but specifically stated that all such affairs were to be conducted in accordance with provisions of the statutes.

Few Objections.

A few objections were made. The bill, although it did not broaden the present statutes against betting, might provide some sort of defense for racing gamblers. In vetoing the bill the Governor said its useful functions can be performed by the State Board of Agriculture.

A bill to reduce the monthly rate paid by counties to the State for the care of county patients in the State hospitals for the insane from $18 to $13 a month was vetoed on the ground it would cost the State $650,000 for the next two years, which would mean poorer food and clothing for inmates of the hospitals.

Revolver Bill Signed.

The Allender bill for the regualtion of the sale of revolvers was one of a number of bills signed by Gov. Hyde yesterday afternoon. It was introduced by Representative Manning of St. Louis at the instance of former Chief of Detectives Allender of that city, as a crime preventive measure.

The bill carried an emergency clause, and so became effective immediately upon signature. Drastic penalties are provided for its violation, consisting of a fine of $50 to $5000, or imprisonment for six months to five years, or both fine and imprisonment. It does not affect the existing statute against pistol carrying.

Requirements of Law.

The Allender law requires all manufacturers of revolvers or other firearms small enough to be carried on the person, and intended for sale in Missouri, to stamp a serial number and the maker's name on the weapons. To purchase a revolver a person will have to obtain a certificate of good character from the Sheriff of his county and then obtain a permit from the Circuit Clerk.

$35,000,000 FEDERAL AID FOR MISSOURI ROADS IF STATE SPENDS BIG FUND

Chief of U. S. Bureau of Roads Tells Missouri Legislators if $60,000,000 Is Prorated Among Counties State Will Lose Help.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the United States Bureau of Roads, yesterday afternoon outlined to the Ralph delegation from the Missouri Legislature the conditions under which Missouri can receive $35,000,000 of Federal aid to augment its $60,000,000 of bond money for roads. MacDonald, at the invitation of Senator Ralph, expressed a willingness to appear before the roads' committees of the Missouri Senate and House at the extra session of the Legislature next month to tell the Federal requirements and answer any questions about roads.

The features of MacDonald's statement to the delegation today:

No Federal money will be available to Missouri if the $60,000,000 is divided among the counties for expenditure by them. In 10 years $35,000,000 will be available if the $60,000,000 is spent by a State Highway Commission on a connected system of State roads approved by the Federal Bureau.

The Federal Bureau is concerned only in furthering the construction of permanent roads, but will not hesitate to approve gravel roads where gravel roads will take care of the traffic they will be called upon to bear. It will even approve dirt roads in remote sections of the State where traffic is light and upon conditions that the dirt roads are properly graded for permanency and permanent bridges and culverts are constructed. Dirt roads will be approved only in case the State agrees to maintain them and later to surface them.

The State must be responsible for the maintenance of the roads.

If the State does not arrange to spend at least $35,000,000 of its $60,000,000 on a connected State road system, it will lose $35,000,000 of Federal money.

To satisfy the Federal Bureau the State must undertake the job of building roads as a State job and not as a job of supplying isolated communities with roads to satisfy only their local needs.

Expect Rural Co-Operation.

After hearing MacDonald's statement members of the committee expressed the belief that there would be little difficulty in getting through the extra session the proper kind of a law after the members from rural districts learned the facts which control the allotment of Federal moneys for aid to the State in building roads.

The "dirt roaders" and the "pork barrel" members from rural districts who are demanding that the road bond money be distributed to the counties appear to be the only obstacles in the way of a permanent road system in Missouri, and the members of the delegation expect that MacDonald's argument when he appears in Jefferson City will virtually eliminate the selfish interests represented by these objectors.

The Federal Road Bureau officials are confident that the Federal appropriation of $100,000,000 a year for Federal aid will be continued indefinitely. On the basis of distribution of this fund, miles of post road, population and acreage, Missouri is entitled to 3½ per cent, or $3,500,000 a year. It can obtain this only by matching dollars with the Government and by building roads which meet the requirements of the Federal bureau, one of the principal requirements being that a State highway system must be designated.

MacDonald entered into a somewhat detailed statement, in reply to a question by Senator Ralph, who, after outlining the circumstances of the adoption of the bond issue, asked what Missouri could do which would prevent the State from receiving Federal aid.

"It might divide the bond issue money among the counties of the State," replied MacDonald. "That would be one certain way not to get Federal aid. It is the purpose of this department to strengthen the Federal law so that every road project approved by the Federal Government must be a State job on a State-wide system.

"If the counties spend the bond money they will get no Federal aid. The Federal law now requires that we deal only with the State Department. The law also limits the type of road to a substantial type. That does not necessarily mean a completed hard-surface road. We determine what is a substantial type of road by the traffic demands which will be made upon the particular road. Experience has shown that we can determine that very accurately by the population the road will serve.

Hard Surface Roads Needed.

"Approaching large centers of population, such as St. Louis and Kansas City, the road unquestionably must be a hard surfaced paved road. In other sections where traffic would not be as heavy and where other conditions would permit, gravel roads might be accepted. We do not try to build roads for all time any more than a new railroad is built with a view to having the first construction supply the traffic demands forever. We are interested in having built roads which will be capable of maintenance under the traffic demands which will be placed on them.

"The bureau will approve dirt roads where conditions justify. We are approving them now in Iowa on the condition that permanent grades are established and the State agrees to surface them when the grades become settled. Permanent grading means the construction of permanent bridges and culverts."

MacDonald said that in his opinion the traffic would increase approximately 100 per cent on a hard surfaced road which took the place of a dirt road in reasonably closely settled districts. He said that in many rural communities it had been found that traffic actually increased from 300 to 500 per cent when hard surfaced roads were built.

He did not take kindly to a suggestion from one member of the delegation that the Legislature might designate the type of road to be constructed in various parts of the State.

"The type should be left to the State Highway Commission," he said. "There should be no attempt to compel the commission to build a certain type of road anywhere."

Senator Bennett asked MacDonald what the attitude of the Federal Bureau would be if $40,000,000 was set aside by Missouri for State roads and $20,000,000 was distributed to the counties. He replied it would be possible to get Federal aid for the $40,000,000 projects, but none for the $20,000,000.

"We are trying to get just as far away from dealing with the counties as possible," he said. "It has worked out disastrously. It has not been satisfactory."

In the formation of a State Highway Commission MacDonald favored an unsalaried commission, which, he said, should act as a Board of Directors, standing between the people and the department's engineering force. He said there should be an engineer and executive officer in charge of the actual working of the department. This is the system adopted by Indiana, which was visited by the delegation Wednesday.

Arkansas Loses Federal Aid.

MacDonald said that much of the trouble encountered in Arkansas has been due to the fact that the State was not strong enough to enforce regulations on counties and districts which had the expenditure of the money, and that in consequence Federal aid was being denied on many of the Arkansas road projects. A similar condition existed in Oklahoma, he said.

Senator Ralph questioned MacDonald regarding the Federal regulations concerning the use of patented road materials. Ralph said there had been reports in Missouri that the Government would not grant aid on projects which called for use of patented road building materials. MacDonald said the report was erroneous.

"The Fedeal regulation does not permit the use of Federal money on projects which have been let for patented materials unless bids also have been asked for for construction from other materials," he said. "The engineers of the department have not become convinced of the accuracy of some of the arguments advanced by representatives of these patented materials. We demand that bids be taken on other materials for the same jobs."

Before departing from Washington the delegation will tour several roads in Virginia and Maryland in close proximity to Washington, and will inspect the Government's experimental station where road materials are tested.

KOO-DOO, DIK-DIK AND HERBY, THE DINOSAUR, HAVE NEW HOME

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 8.—The koo-doo and the dik-dik and the herbivorous dinosaur, apatosaurus excelsus, and a collection of other animals were moved yesterday. The occasion was the transfer from the old museum of World's Fair fame, in Jackson Park, to the new Field Museum.

Herby, as the dinosaur is known at the museum, is said to have roamed the swamps and marshes and morasses in the vicinity of Grand Junction, Colo., 25,000,000 years ago. So says his discoverer, E. S. Riggs, assistant curator of paleontology of the museum.

Although Herbert was 80 feet long and built more or less like a kangaroo, he walked like a bird, Riggs says. The dinosaur was found in 1901, 40 feet underground.

MALANG URGES A ROAD SYSTEM LINKING CITIES

Former Head of State Highway Board Opposes Scheme to Distribute $60,000,000 Fund Among Counties.

FEARS LEGISLATURE MAY MAKE MISTAKE

If State Fails to Properly Expend Money, It Will Go Back Half Century, He Declares.

John M. Malang of Joplin, Mo., former superintendent of the State Highway Board, urged the adoption of the plan for a system of main roads conneching the largest cities and towns of Missouri, and defended this plan against a scheme for the distribution of road funds to apply on the roads of every county, in an address before the Kiwanis Club at luncheon at the Annex Hotel yesterday. He urged St. Louisans to express their wishes in this respect to the St. Louis and St. Louis County delegations in the Legislature, which will meet in special session next month to vote the method of disposing of the $60,000,000 road bond issue approved by the people last November.

"Missouri now has the funds to put the State in the first rank of good roads states," Malang said. "If the Legislature makes a mistake we will not only lose the money we have voted, but we will be set back 50 years. There are 100,000 miles of wagon roads here. I ask how $60,000,000 is going to improve 100,000 miles of roads if we try to spread this fund all over the 114 counties? I want you to think in terms of State highways, not city or county terms.

"St. Louisans will make an annual payment of $600,000 in automobile fees and otherwise until these bonds are paid off. I say that advisedly. Last year St. Louisans had 53,000 automobiles. They are interested in the highways.

Likes County Idea.

"The State has a road duty to perform and the counties another. When the State links the centers of industry and population with good roads, then its duty is done.

"St. Louis County is beginning to solve the problem of its highways, which are the ends of the State highways radiating out from here. St. Louis County engineers first brought a program of mushroom roads to me, and I told them not a dollar of State money would go in the scheme until a sounder program was prepared.

"Remember that, for in this bond issue you are mortgaging the State for 30 years and you will spend the fund in 10 years. Any road that does not last as long as 30 years is absolutely inadequate. I don't believe we need paved roads in every county, for the traffic would not justify it. All we need is service to the traffic at the lowest cost of operation and maintenance and in the counties off the main routes good gravel roads will last for the life of the bonds."

Malang then explained his map. From St. Louis a main road would go west through St. Charles, into Jefferson City, through Sedalia, on the southern side of the Missouri River, and to Kansas City. A northern branch of this route would go to Hannibal and Keokuk. A southwestern route would follow the Ozark trail through Springfield to Carthage and Joplin, connecting with a route into Southwestern Arkansas, and roads into Kansas and Oklahoma. A southern route would lead to Cape Girardeau and Southeast Missouri. Kansas City would be connected with Joplin and St. Joseph and routes would go from St. Joseph to Hannibal and toward Des Moines, Ia. Branch roads, of lighter construction, would interconnect these routes.

Standard Roads Needed.

"The main roads would be of the type of those at the back door of St. Louis," Malang said. "They would be that way throughout their length for the same reason the Frisco Railroad has as heavy rails in Phelps County as in St. Louis County.

"I did not lay these roads out personally, but they were laid out by the development of the last 50 years. In the cities and the territory along these routes is 74 per cent of the population of Missouri, 74 per cent of the assessed valuation of property and 74 per cent of the automobiles.

"St. Louis will have routes connecting with the highways Illinois is building. It is entitled to these routes paralleling the Mississippi River because of the amount it will pay toward the bonds. The southern

WILSON-DANIELS NAVAL PROGRAM OF 1916 REMAINS NATIONAL POLICY UNDER REPUBLICAN ADMINISTRATION

Three Big Navies Today Are: Great Britain, 1,588,442 Tons in 538 Ships; U. S., 779,193 Tons in 330 Ships; Japan, 340,596 Tons in 43 Ships.

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Persistently thrusting itself forward is the question of disarmament. On the one side are those who believe that the United States, in conjunction with Great Britain and Japan, should take immediate steps toward a proportionate reduction of naval armaments; on the other, those who contend that the future safety of the country lies in completion of the Wilson-Daniels building program of 1916. The question will arise in the next Congress, as it did in the last.

Attention lately has been directed to the conflict of views on disarmament by a series of significant expressions. Following upon the campaign speeches of President Harding in favor of a big navy came a public statement to the same effect by Edwin Denby, new Secretary of the Navy, at a Navy League banquet the day after he took office.

"I love the navy," the Secretary said. "I believe in making it a fighting navy, big enough to meet every contingency. I have never known a time when the navy was not ready to fight, but I have known times when it was not fit to fight. We must equip it and keep it fit to fight. I want a big navy, and I hope we shall conclude our present building program. Our navy should be as large as that of any other nation in the world."

Borah Urges Holiday.

Former Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels has been putting into popular articles the same opinions that he expressed before a congressional committee near the end of the last administration, namely, that until some world agreement on disarmament—not merely an agreement among the three leading naval powers—is reached, there should be no cessation in building the ships already authorized by Congress. He has again emphasized, moreover, that no reduction should be agreed to that does not leave the United States with a navy equal to the best in the world.

On the other side, Senator Borah of Idaho, in public speeches, has been creating sentiment in support of his resolution for a speedy understanding among the United States, Great Britain and Japan, looking to a 50 per cent reduction in their naval building programs for the next five years—precisely the thing that Daniels opposes, because a proportionate reduction at present would leave Great Britain greatly in the lead. Borah was unable to press his resolution to a vote in the last Congress, but expects to bring it forward again in the forthcoming session. Various memorials urging that the United States take the lead in world disarmament have been adopted, similar to the one which a body of Quakers left recently with President Harding and which he received with the noncommittal statement that he would give it his earnest consideration.

Appropriation Bill Held Up.

Since the Republicans will have in the next Senate a wide margin over their opponents, there will be no further necessity for catering to the views of such nonconformist members of the party as Borah and La Follette of Wisconsin. It is a safe assumption, therefore, that the annual naval appropriation bill, which Borah held up in the last session, will be speedily put through. In its present form, as it passed the House, this bill represents a victory for the advocates of completion of the authorized building program. Ninety million dollars is carried for prosecution of the work during the fiscal year beginning July 1 next. The sum is not all that the navy wanted, but will be sufficient to bring the work on the new ships to a stage at which, according to navy reasoning, it would be hard for anyone to arouse effective sentiment for "junking" the vessels. The navy believes that if the 1916 program safely weathers the next Congress, it will have comparatively easy sailing thereafter, though the question of continuing the appropriations for the building will recur in each succeeding Congress till all the authorized ships are completed. The time set for completion is 1925.

Admiral Gleaves' View.

Admiral Gleaves, in a statement made in Baltimore March 24, upon his return to America after a year and a half as commander of the Asiatic fleet, termed the talk of a naval holiday "absurd."

"With all her liabilities and great disparity in wealth as compared with this country," said the Admiral, "Japan is carrying out an 'eight-eight' program, calling for eight battleships, eight battle cruisers and all the submarines and other vessels which go with them, by 1928. No one knows how many submarines she is building; that fact is kept secret. Considering the difference in wealth, her 'eight-eight' program is equivalent to one of '64-64' here.

"Our 'elaborate program' is not nearly so elaborate as it is supposed to be. Going at the present rate, our navy in 1928 will only be roughly equal to the Japanese."

In the opinion of competent naval authorities, based on official and semi-official reports of Japanese activity, the situation is corectly stated by Admiral Gleaves; that is, if the United States does no further building after completion of the existing program, and if Japan executes what is believed to be her program, the navies of the two countries will be practically equal in fighting strength in 1928.

Japanese Activity.

Examination of available official figures by the Post-Dispatch correspondent, made with a view to determining the prospective rank of the American navy in relation to the British as well as the Japanese navy, bears out the foregoing conclusion of the naval authorities. One qualification—the same qualification that was made by Secretary Daniels in careful testimony before a House committee last January—needs to be set out. This is that the Japanese program on which is predicated the forecast of naval equality with this country by 1928, is what is known as a "projected" program—a program which has been decided upon by the Government, but for which appropriations have not yet been made. Complete information as to Japan's intentions is lacking, but various reports received by the intelligence branch of the American navy tend to confirm the view that her present policy is to go forward with the projected program. These reports show, among other things, an unwonted Japanese activity all over the world in various lines related to shipbuilding; observers have noted, for instance, that Japan is buying machinery and copper in Europe, getting submarine engines in Switzerland, and hiring Germans to go into Japan to teach her workmen how to build submarines.

According to former Secretary Daniels, it is understood that shipbuilders in England are building for Japan three battleships and perhaps a dozen submarines. Recent articles in Japanese newspapers quoted by Daniels in his testimony, also indicate a determination to carry out the projected program. Finally, the Navy Department has learned that the Short Bros., famous seaplane builders of England, have just gone to Japan with a force of 30 or 40 men to aid Japan in the development of aviation. All available evidence, say American naval heads, points to the conclusion that Japan is intent upon a large program of naval preparedness and is especially, at the present time, making efforts to improve her standing in submarines and in aviation, in both of which fields she has hitherto been accounted comparatively weak.

Change Since Jutland.

Japan's projected program, known as the "eight-eight," might be called the "eight-eight-eight" program, involving as it does the construction of eight battleships and eight battle cruisers in the eight years from 1920 to 1928. The plan is to lay down two ships a year. These are all to be of the post-Jutland, 43,000-ton type. What that means in the way of bulk and fighting power may be imagined from the fact that the best of the pre-Jutland ships—meaning ships built before the Jutland battle of the world war, demonstrated with new force the decisive value of great-gun power—average only around 32,000 tons. In other words, the post-Jutland excels the pre-Jutland ship by a tonnage equal to the total tonnage of the old Oregon.

The American naval building program contemplates, like the Japanese, the building of 16 capital ships, of which 10 will be battleships and six cruisers. Japan, however, has in this comparison a slight advantage, for whereas all her new capital ships will be of the 43,000-ton type, only 12 of the American, six battleships and six cruisers, will reach that figure. The four others are well on the way to completion as 33,000-ton ships. These are the Maryland, 95 per cent complete, scheduled for commissioning next July; the Colorado, 68 per cent, due next winter; the Washington, 60 per cent, and the West Virginia, 47 per cent. Of the 43,000-ton vessels, the six battleships—South Dakota, Indiana, Montana, North Carolina, Iowa and Massachusetts—average 20 per cent complete, and the six battle cruisers—the Lexington, Constellation, Saratoga, Ranger, Constitution and United States—average 8 per cent. During the war the attention of the navy was directed mainly to building destroyers to combat the German submarine menace, and in consequence the work on the 12 great ships was not pressed.

Age Not Included in Figures.

The conclusion which naval experts draw from available tonnage figures is that if Japan completes her projected program and America completes hers, and then stops building, America will still have a "paper advantage" in total tonnage, in the ratio of 1.4 to 1, but that for all practocal purposes the strength of the two navies will be equal. Against the apparent tonnage advantage—and it should be remarked here that tonnage statistics are notably tricky, since they do not take account of the age of ships—will be Japan's possession of 16 post-Jutland ships, compared with our 12, and the greater average modernity of a navy completed in 1928 than a navy completed in 1925. America will be superior in total ships, battleships, destroyers and submarines; Japan will be superior in battle cruisers and light cruisers.

The most recent comparisons of America's prospective naval strength with that of Great Britain were made at the time of the congressional hearings on disarmament in January, when it appeared that Great Britain had decided upon an indefinite suspension of capital ship building. It was then brought out that upon completion of the known authorized programs of the two nations, the United States would be superior in major ships and in great gun power, and that in total tonnage and effective fighting ships the two would be approximately equal.

Torpedo Boat Strength.

The official report which made these comparisons further stated: "The United States Navy, however, will be considerably weaker than the British Navy in light cruisers and the other ships used for protecting the main body of the fleet and in conducting blockade operations. We will be slightly inferior in submarines, and will have no modern aircraft carriers suitable for operating with the fleet.

"The lack of fleet aviation will place us at a disadvantage in comparison with Great Britain. This means that while our battleship force will be sufficiently powerful to cope with any navy in the world in a main fleet engagement between battleships, yet our fleet would be open to torpedo attack by the enemy's torpedo forces. We would also be handicapped in obtaining information of the enemy's movements and maintaining the blockade of the enemy's ports. Due to this weakness in ships of this class we would be handicapped in conducting attacks against the enemy's fleet with torpedoes."

Under pressure of the British Admiralty, and following the failure of the disarmament advocates in this country to stop execution of the 1916 building program, it is stated at the Navy Department that Great Britain is now planning to build four new capital ships, to be armed with 18-inch guns, and that this program must be borne in mind in examination of official tonnage tables. These tables show:

1. That the total effective fighting strength of the three great navies today is as follows: Great Britain, 1,588,442 tons in a total of 538 ships; United States, 779,193 tons, in 330 ships; Japan, 340,596 tons, in 43 ships.

After Present Programs.

2. That the relation after the completion of present authorized programs (including the projected program of Japan, but not the new four-ship program of Great Britain) will be as follows: Great Britain,

FEDERAL MANAGER DISCUSSES REVIVAL OF RIVER TRAFFIC

Theodore Brent Says Twice-a-Week Sailings Will Give Annual Capacity of 1,500,000 Tons.

SAYS FACILITIES ARE HERE TO STAY

Blames Delay in Restoring Service to Full Proportions to an Ill-Informed General Public.

A promise of twice-a-week sailings this summer which will give the Government river service an annual carrying capacity of 1,500,000 tons of freight a year is made by Theodore Brent of New Orleans, Federal manager of the operation, in an article on river transportation in the current issue of Greater St. Louis the publication of the Chamber of Commerce. "The facilities are here to stay," Brent states in the course of his discussion which follows in full:

"The revival of inland water transportation on our interior rivers is a logical development, much desired by many citizens, greatly delayed by the long maintenance of an ill-informed general public. For the latter the railroads, a compact organization of vast resources, with easy access to the sources and means of publicity, have been chiefly responsible.

"The general public has been led to believe that inland water transportation could not compete with railroads, and, being constantly assured by certain sources that such was the case, has been apathetic.

Extent of River System.

"The Mississippi River system comprises more miles of waterway than most any single system of railway in the United States. The main stem, between New Orleans and Cairo, a thousand miles, makes its own permanent right-of-way of a depth of at least nine feet at low water. Numerous branches, such as the Ohio, Kanawha, Tennessee, Green, Cumberland and others are either partially or entirely improved with locks and dams, giving a series of pools of fixed depth.

"All of these rivers have to be maintained at public expense—to have their banks revetted or to be enclosed within levees in order that the great volumes of water they carry may be controlled and may not destroy surrounding property, for the lower Mississippi can hardly be called a stream in the ordinary sense. It is a great delta like the Amazon.

"The public works which control and direct the flow are the very means which cause the river to scour and make a deep channel capable of navigation.

"The nation and the states have for years been spending millions to preserve and improve the banks of the river and by this means have been keeping available a great national highway capable of such vast commerce that even those who study the question closely can hardly realize the magnitude of its possibilities.

Congress Governing Authority.

"Congress is the sole governing authority dealing with commerce between the States. As in all other affairs in this country the corporations and individuals are unrestrained in their business practices until they show a tendency to abuse public confidence and allow selfish considerations to elbow aside the general welfare.

"So the railroads made and kept their rates and charges so low as to discourage every other form of transportation. Where there was competition or the possibility of competition with a waterway, their rates were below the cost of service, and in the interior where there was no other form of transportation available, they made the rates sufficiently high to recoup such losses.

"Their great body of lobbyists carefully watched all laws proposed in Congress to see that no measure might pass which interfered with their right to dictate rates in their own interest. Their vast and able array of lawyers appeared before all courts to press for their construction of all laws which were enacted in the public interest.

"By these means they moulded public sentiment, the formulation and construction and interpretation of law. And through these means they maintained for over 20 years an actual monopoly of common carriage. All those lines of water transportation which they could not destroy they bought up and made innocuous.

Railroads Guard Monopoly.

"Most monopolies guard their rights and neglect their duties. It was so with the railroads.

the traffic tendered the railroads increased 166 per cent, while the miles of single track railroad only increased 37 per cent, locomotives only 71 per cent and freight cars only 77 per cent.

"Then the war came, and the great strain of war commerce was thrown upon this structure which was not strong enough to bear the strains of peace-time traffic, and it brown down. Congress then was compelled to take a careful survey of what the nation had to work with. It took over the railroads and began to operate them as a unit. The many barriers which single railroad lines had built up, the one against the other, were broken down, and commerce freed from many artificial restraints. But there was not enough of anything—tracks, terminals, cars, motive power.

"The Railroad Administration started the construction of 100,000 boxcars and a large number of locomotives, and began to allot these to railroads whose equipment lists showed that they were needed, and almost with one accord these railroad corporations refused to have them or pay for them, so that in the end equipment trusts had to be formed under Government ownership to take over a large part of these facilities.

Government Takes Move.

"It was inevitable that in such a situation the National Government should move in a logical way to solve its own difficulties. The Railroad Administration began to put transportation equipment of its own on its own highways, the rivers and canals.

"The project which most directly affects St. Louis is the Mississippi-Warrior service. This was organized by the administration in July, 1918, and its Federal manager instructed to put into operation all the boats and barges he could find, and to build a permanent fleet which, as a beginning, was planned to consist of six powerful towboats of 2000 horsepower each, and 40 barges of 2000 tons dead weight carrying capacity each.

"The service, with a makeshift fleet, has now been in operation for more than two years, and last year carried 150,000 tons of freight. The new barges have all been received, but the power boats have not. The line is still dependent upon old, weak, unreliable towboats. With the receipt this summer of the new power, the service will be able to maintain two sailings every week in each direction between St. Louis and New Orleans, and to carry a million and a half tons of freight annually.

"The barges are all of steel with some 36 water-tight compartments each. They have 16 top and 16 side openings each, and are safe craft, capable of transporting freight and delivering it in as good order as if it were carried over the railroads.

Through Bills of Lading.

"The Mississippi-Warrior service issues through bills of lading with all of the railroads reaching all the points on the river, and has a broad basis of joint rates which permit St. Louis merchants to direct their imports through New Orleans and upstream over the barge line and distribute them at will throughout the whole Mississippi Valley.

"The bills of lading of the barge line assume all the liabilities of safe carriage and delivery ordinarly tendered to the public by the railroads. No insurance is necessary to be taken out on shipments via the barge line.

"The docks and terminal facilities at New Orleans are well known to all the people of Latin America. The Federal Barge Line has access to all of these docks, the same as the railroads, for the interchange of commodities with the steamships.

"At St. Louis the city has invested upward of a million dollars in the development of a modern terminal of ample proportions and equipped with those facilities regarded as best suited for the quick and cheap interchange of traffic between barges and cars.

Freight Handling Facilitated.

"When the barges arrive at St. Louis with sugar, coffee, sisal and other Mexican products which have been delivered to them by the steamships at New Orleans, railroad cars are conveniently placed on this new dock and the freight is loaded into the cars and switched to the industry of the St. Louis consignee, where delivery is made in the same manner as though the freight had come through from New Orleans by rail, except that there is a saving of 20 per cent in the freight charges, due to the cheaper method of transportation.

"All these changes have come in the space of three short years, and the new facilities are here to stay, for when Congress found the true state of affairs in transportation and the public became aware that they had been misled and there was every reason to believe that water transportation could be performed cheaper than rail transportation, where the Government was maintaining adequate channels, they changed the national laws, so that it is no longer possible for the railroads to destroy the water lines.

"The rivers with good channels are as much a part of the national transportation system today as the railroads, and we may confidently look forward to the time in the near future when they will be carrying a large part of the burden of the growing commerce of the country."

ARREST MADE AT INSTANCE OF VICTIM OF OLD SWINDLE

Prisoner Denies Complicity in Fraud Last December Which Netted $900 and $800 in Bonds.

David Sinkevitch, 34 years old, of 26 South Seventeenth street, an Austrian, was arrested last night at the instance of John Cicerich, 32, a saloon keeper at 2800 South Eighteenth street, who declared that Sinkevitch was one of two men who had swindled him out of $900 cash and $800 in Liberty bonds last Dec. 24 by an old confidence game. Cicerich yesterday met Sinkevitch on the street and followed him to a point near his home, where he called a policeman.

Cicerich was taken to a room in the St. Francis Hotel at the time of the swindle and introduced to a man lying on a bed who declared that he was dying, wanted to die in California and was seeking an honest man to care for several thousand dollars which he ostensibly placed in a small tin box. Cicerich proved his honesty by depositing all his cash and Liberty Bonds in the box, but later, upon opening the tin box, found that it contained rags and paper.

Sinkevitch denied participation in the swindle. A bank book found in his possession showed deposits of $1273.17 in a Dayton (O.) bank six days after the swindle.

MAN BEATEN WITH POOL CUES AND ROBBED

Chauffeur Held Up by Passengers in East St. Louis and Robbed of Auto.

Elva Urosev, 45, 3519 North Broadway, was found by the police last night at 7 o'clock lying unconscious on the floor of his pool room at 715 High street. He was taken to the city hospital suffering from a fractured skull, scalp lacerations and bruises on his body. He said that he had resisted two men in their attempt to hold him up and that they had beaten him with pool cues, robbing him of $22. A broken cue was found on the floor of the pool room. The police were summoned to the place by a telephone call that there was trouble there.

Chauffeur Beaten and Robbed of Auto by Passengers.

The East St. Louis police reported that they were caring for James Breen, 505 North Channing avenue, a service car driver, who was suffering from scalp wounds sustained when three men held him up and beat him at State and Forty-second streets, East St. Louis. The men were passengers he had picked up near 700 North Broadway. They stole his automobile.

Robert Ford, 4329 West Belle place, a negro, reported at 1:30 a. m. that three negroes who had hired his large service car, had stolen it from him near Newstead avenue and West Belle place. Thirty minutes later Gus Vlahopolos, a restaurant keeper at 1007 South Jefferson avenue, reported that two negroes had stopped at his restaurant in a large car answering the description of Ford's, and had robbed him of $27 and his keys, locking him in the restaurant.

THREE ELECTED TO REPUBLICAN HOUSE STEERING COMMITTEE

Knutson Again Chosen Whip—All Assignments to Go to Caucus Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Representatives John I. Nolan, California, Sidney Anderson, Minnesota, and Frank L. Greene, Vermont, yesterday were elected members of the Republican Steering Committee of the House by the Committee on Committees.

Greene takes the place of Representative Winslow, Massachusetts, who, by reason of his elevation to the chairmanship of the Interstate Commerce Committee, declined to serve longer. Nolan, it is understood, was put on in order to give representation to labor, and Anderson as the representative of the agricultural interests.

There also was a strong demand to include western members under the plan of reorganization of the committee which provided for an increase in membership from five to seven. This committee directs the legislative program and it is understood that there were more than a score of applicants for places on it.

Old members who will remain on the Steering Committee, in addition to Representative Mondell, Wyoming, the Republican leader, as chairman, are Dunn, New York; Darrow, Pennsylvania; Longworth, Ohio, and Madden, Illinois.

Representative Harold Knutson, Minnesota, was re-elected whip. The new Steering Committee and standing committee assignments will be presented to the Republican caucus Saturday for approval.

Publication earlier in the week of the makeup of about a dozen committees started a row by some members not satisfied with drawings, and in view of the clamor for changes, the general committee voted to keep the general list secret until finally ratified.

STIFEL ESTATE SUES FOR RENT

Action Involving $5281.44 Brought Against F. R. Tate and C. J. Cella.

A suit was filed yesterday by the estate of the late Otto F. Stifel, brewer, against Frank R. Tate and Charles J. Cella, theatrical promoters, for $5281.44 rent and taxes alleged to be due on account of the Imperial Theater, Tenth and Pine streets.

The petition recites that Tate and Cella contracted in March, 1919, to lease the building from Stifel for five years at an annual rental of $8250, the agreement also providing that the lessee was to pay one-half of the taxes in excess of $450 a year. Seven months' rent and $468.44, defendants' portion of the taxes, remain unpaid, it is alleged. The theater has been closed for several years.

YOU'LL GET RID OF BLACKHEADS SURE

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, and that is to dissolve them.

To do this, get two ounces of calonite powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only causes irritation, make large pores and do not get the blackheads out after they become hard. The calonite powder and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.

The Circuit Clerk, who will receive 50 cents for each permit issued, must keep a record of each permit and the accompanying certificate. Every dealer or other person selling a revolver will have to keep a record.

In the case of St. Louisans, certificates of character will be obtained through the Sheriff, and not through the Police Department.

Barber Fee Increased.

The Governor also signed a bill relating to the State Board of Barber Examiners, which increases the annual examination fee paid by every barber from $1 to $2, and increases the pay of the three members of the board from $3 to $5 a day, when they serve. It provides that hereafter all fees received by the board must be turned over to the State Treasurer and sums may be paid out only on the State Auditor's warrant. Heretofore the board has handled its own funds and turned over any surplus remaining at the end of each fiscal year.

It will be remembered that on March 4 the Governor asked the resignations of the three members of the board after it was disclosed that they were supposed to have lobbied for the passage of the bill increasing their salaries. The chairman of the board, Charles Lewis of St. Louis, admitted that he had bought liquor for legislators in the interest of the bill. He and the other members, W. S. Dodd of Kansas City and D. E. Fisher of Joplin, resigned. Their places have not been filled. An audit of the board's accounts in February was reported to have criticised the board for "loose methods of keeping accounts."

The Governor signed the bill providing for a State Board of Optometry, comprising five members, which will examine and issue certificates to persons desiring to engage in the profession of fitting eyeglasses. The examiners will receive $7 a day during examinations, and the licensees will pay a licensing fee of $25. The law becomes effective Oct. 1.

A bill applying the general plumbing regulations of St. Louis to St. Louis County was signed.

On the ground that it merely re-enacted an existing statute, the Governor vetoed Senator Blodgett's bill defining the duties of the Assessor of St. Louis.

Of two others vetoed, one would have provided certain procedure for changing the names of streets in the smaller cities of the State and was killed because of defective structure and the other would have provided for reduced fare or free transportation to ministers, charity and welfare workers and the blind. Gov. Hyde held the bill to be in conflict with a Senate bill already signed.

Many Other Bills Signed.

Other bills signed make the following changes: Increase the age of consent from 15 to 16 years; fix punishment for burglary at from five to 20 years for the first degree and from two to 10 years for the second degree; enable nonresident property owners to sign protests against street and alley improvements; authorize the appointment of a State board of vocational education; authorize the State Board of Agriculture to pay 30 per cent of the first $1000 offered as premiums by county fairs; fix punishment at three years in the penitentiary, one year in jail or a fine of $1000 for abuse of a child by its parents, foster parents or lawful guardian, and establishes a penalty of $1000 fine or up to a year in jail for wife or child abandonment or neglect.

route leads to the lead region and the new Arkansas roads.

"Everybody will probably agree on the need for the St. Louis-Kansas City road. It is wise to cross the Missouri River at St. Charles and Jefferson City, because we cannot afford new bridges.

"The road for which I have probably been cussed and discussed more than any other is that to Joplin. I do not want that because I live in Joplin, but because it is the natural outlet for St. Louis to the Southwest and to the largest lead, zinc and oil fields in the world, and to the natural gas and coal fields of Kansas and Oklahoma. It also goes to the Texas Panhandle, where the bulk of future tourist travel will go.

"With the development of the main roads and of Mississippi River transportation St. Louis will become 'the depot of the United States,' instead of New York. I am asking that $40,000,000 of the $60,000,000 be spent on these main roads, to be improved with concrete bases and smooth, hard tops. And I am not a friend of the cement people, either. If the Legislature does not pass the right law we will refer it and take a chance with the people.

Malang is general manager of the Joplin road district, in charge of the extension of the improved highways in that region. I. R. Kelso of Cape Girardeau was a guest at the luncheon and sat at the speakers' table. He is opposed to the main highway system, and wants the fund distributed throughout the counties.

Dry Amendment Again Rejected.

By the Associated Press.

TRENTON, N. J., April 8.—A second attempt at the present legislative session to have the New Jersey Senate ratify the Federal prohibition amendment failed today through the lack of one vote. The vote was 10 in favor of ratification to eight against the resolution, 11 votes being necessary for passage. The House passed the resolution, early in the session. The anti-saloon forces back of the bill to place New Jersey in line with the ratifying states admitted that the measure is virtually dead this year, but declared that efforts to have the next Legislature adopt the resolution would be made.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST PLANTER IN HANDS OF JURY

J. S. Williams Accused of Killing Negroes on Georgia Farm to Conceal Peonage Conditions.

ALIBI RELIED ON AS MAIN DEFENSE

By the Associated Press.

COVINGTON, Ga., April 8.—The case of John S. Williams, farm owner charged with the murder of a negro farm hand to conceal peonage conditions on his plantation, was given to the jury here today at 3:51 p. m.

Williams, who took the stand yesterday and asserted his "absolute innocence" of the charge, was the only witness for the defense. He was not sworn and his testimony was therefore concluded with the direct examination because of a Georgia law which does not permit the cross-examination of an unsworn defendant.

Manning, negro farm boss for 14 years on the Williams place, and self-confessed accomplice of the planter, was pointed to by Williams as the man having a "probable motive" for the killings. Charles C. King, pleading for Williams' acquittal, told the jury Manning, ignorant of the penalty for peonage, had become alarmed at the Federal investigation, and that the evidence indicated he was the only person who had a motive for the murders.

Main Defense Arguments.

King asserted the defense expected to rely largely on Williams' "alibi," which he said Williams had established "as far as possible" by describing how he was at home the night the three negroes were killed in this county, and asserted the State had offered no legal corroboration of the testimony of a confessed accomplice as required by law.

Graham Wright, Assistant Attorney-General, pointed to various testimony as corroboration. He termed Manning incapable of planning and carrying out the crimes "under the eyes of Williams and his family," and named Williams as the guilty man.

Manning will also be put on trial for the murders, it was announced today and his attorney, E. Marvin Underwood, said he would not enter a plea of guilty.

Manning had testified for the State that by Williams' orders the negroes were weighted down with rocks and thrown alive into rivers or knocked in the head and buried where they fell, and Williams, taking the stand yesterday, briefly recited all he said he knew of the deaths of Linsey Peterson, Willie Preston and Harry Price, the three drowned the same night in Newton County. He is on trial for the murder of Peterson and he did not go into the other cases.

Spectators Pack Courtroom.

The defendant, accused by the State of "Georgia's most atrocious murders," was as cool as any of the spectators who packed the courtroom almost to suffocation to hear his story.

These were the first criminal charges of any kind ever filed against him, he declared, in his 54 years of life and told, proudly, that his four grown sons were among the first to answer the country's call to war. He admitted he might have been technically guilty of peonage, as he had worked negroes who owed him money. He had so told Federal investigators when they first came to the farm, he said, and had also declared he always paid and fed the negroes. These agents replied the negroes on his place were among the "best fed and clothed they had seen," he declared. If he were technically guilty of peonage "most Georgia farmers also were," he said.

"I am absolutely innocent," he told the jury in conclusion, as he reverted to the murder charge.

The State had rested earlier in the day with introduction of Renae Manning, wife of Clyde Manning, and Sheriff B. J. Johnson of Newton County, in an effort to corroborate parts of Manning's story. The woman testified the negroes left with Williams, Manning and Charles Chisholm, the night they were last seen alive, as Manning had declared. Sheriff Johnson said Manning identified the three bodies found in Newton County and later confessed and told where the others could be found.

No Limit on Arguments.

The fact that no defense testimony other than that of Williams was introduced permitted Williams' counsel to open and close. No limit was placed on the time of arguments and four attorneys spoke yesterday.

King opened for the defense, followed in order by Wright for the State, W. H. Key of Monticello, Ga., for the defense and Solicitor-General Brand for the State. W. M. Howard, former Congressman from Georgia, will close for the prosecution and the final plea will be made by Green F. Johnson of Monticello, Chief Counsel for the defendant.

Didn't Know His Brother

"My brother got so bad with stomach and liver trouble that when I saw him after a year I didn't know him. He was emaciated and yellow as a pumpkin and was often in great pain. He couldn't have lived long the way he was going. Doctors and medicine gave him no relief. I picked up a little booklet on Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which he said described his case perfectly. The first dose of it gave him great relief and in a month he was good as ever. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Judge & Dolph, 3 stores, Enderle Drug Co.'s 5 stores, Cloughly-Koppenbrink, Johnson Bros. Drug Co., H. J. REPUBLICANS ADOPT WILSON-DANIELS POLICY FOR A BIG NAVY

	Great Britain.	U. S.	Japan
Battleships	26	27	22
Destroyers 345		293	114
Light cruisers...	49	10	15
Battle cruisers ..	6	6	20
Submarines 117		97	50
Aircraft carriers..	4	...	...
Destroyer leaders	25	...	...
Cruisers	2	...	...

Having in mind the policy of Great Britain in the past, American naval experts assert that she will undoubtedly keep her navy up to the highest efficiency by ruthless scrapping of old vessels and the gradual replacement of them with post-Jutland ships. Thus, while her tonnage figures will at no time seem excessive in comparison with those of the next Power, her navy will be undergoing steady improvement. It is the theory of the British Admiralty, as well as of the General Board of the United States Navy, that the capital ship with its great gunpower remains, and for an indefinite time will remain, the backbone of any navy. The Jutland battle, as has been said, strengthened that conviction. It was a fight between big ships and was decided by the greater power of the British capital craft. Not a single British vessel was disabled by the 107 torpedoes fired by the Germans. The British, with a correspondingly large number of torpedoes, sank but one of the enemy's ships, the old Pommern. There were no submarines in the battle, and no aircraft.

"Two-Power" Standard.

The naval policy of Great Britain formerly was what was known as the "two-power standard." That meant a navy equal to the sum of the navies of the next two Powers. Ten or fifteen years ago, seeing no menace in the possession of an adequate fighting force by the United States, Great Britain modified her policy to a "one-power standard." It became her controlling purpose to keep a wide margin of supremacy over Germany. She is now building again to a "one-power standard," aiming to keep on at least a parity with the United States and Japan. Great Britain would be quite satisfied, according to well-informed opinion here, if she could "peg" the British and American navies on an equal footing and discourage the Japanese from further competition.

The present American building program was set in motion after President Wilson had declared in 1915 that the United States ought to have "incomparably the most adequate navy in the world." A plan was drawn up by the General Board of the Navy, at the direction of Secretary of the Navy Daniels, for a building program that would achieve that end in five years. The bill embodying this plan, which called for 156 ships at a cost of $500,000,000, was passed by Congress in 1916 and approved by the President. Consummation of the plan was delayed by the war. The prevailing sentiment in Congress, as shown by recent debates, is for its continuation, with a view to completion by 1925. Building costs have so risen that the total outlay required will be more than $900,000,000.

Secretary Daniels consistently held to the position that the United States, if it entered the League of Nations, should be prepared to do its full share of police work on the seas; and that if it remained aloof from the league it should have a navy equal to the best in the world.

Daniels Opposes Holiday.

"In 1913," said Daniels, discussing the Borah resolution, "I was opposed to a naval holiday for one year. In 1921 I am opposed to the proposition for a half holiday by the United States, Great Britain and Japan, or any other few Powers. Holidays indicate a cessation from work for a brief period, with a view to returning to the old job when the holiday is over. The only wise course is to end competitive navy building, not for one year or five years, and not by a few nations, but for all time by all nations. The time is ripe for securing such agreement now, and I would regard it as a serious mistake to fail to embrace the opportunity for a permanent policy of reduction by accepting in its place a substitute in the shape of a terminable and unsatisfactory holiday. The world is asking for no play time but for serious business."

"You are opposed to a proportionate reduction?" Daniels was asked.

"Yes."

"I do that."

All attacks thus far have failed to shake the building program of Daniels—Daniels, who went into office reputed to be a "pacifist," and emerged from it preaching the doctrine of a big navy as an essential to the national safety if the United States continued to play a lone hand among the nations. The Daniels program, like so many other policies of the much-attacked Wilson administration, remains a national policy under Republican control. Nothing foreshadowing a change in it has come from any authoritative quarter of the Harding administration; on the contrary, there is affirmative evidence in the other direction. Competitive building or a world disarmament agreement, whether through the agency of the League of Nations or some other form of association—these appear to be the alternatives.

ATHENS UNABLE TO CARE FOR ITS WOUNDED SOLDIERS

By the Associated Press.

ATHENS, April 8.—Wounded Greek soldiers are arriving in such numbers from the Smyrna and Brusa fronts that sanitary authorities in this country are unable to care for them properly. Two thousand injured men arrived at Piraeus yesterday and found inadequate hospital accommodations, the institutions being without beds and equipment and having deficient personnel.

Queen Sophie has appealed to the American Red Cross in Paris for nurses and four classes of doctors have been called out by the Government. The wounded men are being brought in tram cars from Piraeus to this city.

Former Prison Warden Dies.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 8.—Col. Ephraim Lillard, former Warden of the State prison of Kentucky and a veteran of the Confederate forces in the Civil War, died yesterday at the home here of his daughter, Mrs. J. R. Newton. He was born in Anderson County, Kentucky, in 1847, and for many years was active in politics in the bluegrass country. Mrs. Betty Lillard, his widow and two sons and a daughter survive Col. Lillard.

At noon tomorrow, at room 130 Jefferson Hotel, they will meet persons interested in such a movement.

ARMY GOODS STORE STAMPED!!

Frantic Buying Marked the Greatest Sale in the History of St. Louis

Long before the advertised hour of 9:30 o'clock, at which time we were to throw open the doors of this Mammoth Merchandise Palace, which would show to the merchandise buyers of St. Louis that Barney's was to do exactly what his printed announcements told you—break the back of High Merchandise Prices in St. Louis. This Big Demonstration proves conclusively that Barney's Made Good Five minutes after the doors opened the Army of Salespeople were working like bees making out sales checks, which only meant a part of what people were used to paying for good quality merchandise. Thousands of dollars' worth were sold. Thousands of dollars' worth more were brought from the warerooms for tremendous selling.

An Apology Although we employed every available salesperson in St. Louis, they were swamped, utterly covered up at times. We have more experienced help coming for tomorrow, and will endeavor to see that all are waited on hereafter promptly. (Signed) BARNEY'S.

I will endeavor at all times to give you full value for your money, and stand behind every purchase—or money back. The police of St. Louis, I wish to commend for the very efficient manner in which they handled the enormous crowd. The Post-Dispatch should share honors in this success, from the fact that I got my message of good values across to you.

AGRARIANS DEMAND INVESTIGATION OF HAPSBURG PLOT

Members in Hungarian Assembly to Ask for Punishment for Those Behind Attempted Coup.

ANTI-CARLISTS HAVE LIST OF PLOTTERS

By the Associated Press.

BUDAPEST, April 8.—Investigation of the circumstances surrounding the attempted return of former Emperor Charles to the Hungarian throne has been demanded at a meeting of agrarian members of the National Assembly. A resolution was introduced recommending that the incident should be considered as closed, but it was defeated, and there appeared little disposition to drop the question of responsibility for the incident.

It appears that the anti-Carlists had confidential agents in the immediate vicinity of the former Emperor while he was in this country, and it is declared they have a list of men associated with Charles in his attempt to re-establish himself on the throne. The agrarian Deputies have urged their punishment on a charge of treason.

In addition the anti-Carlists accuse the Hungarian Government of a "blameable lack of energy respecting the King."

Say Charles Had Court.

They declared that Charles held a regular court at Steinamanger, appointing officers and highest dignitaries, creating Barons and administering to them the oath of office. Opponents of the restoration of the Hapsburgs appear to be most concerned with the role played by Bishop Mikes of Steinamanger, who in a sermon last Christmas forecast the "King's resurrection" at Easter time. The attitude of Gen. Lehar, Governor of West Hungary, is also strongly criticised. He is charged with playing a double game, because under the pretext of doing patriotic work in West Hungary, he is alleged to have prepared the ground for the return of Charles.

The Hungarian National Assembly has adjourned until after Regent Horthy and Premier Paul Teleky have conferred relative to the ministerial crisis, which has arisen as a result of the visit of former Emperor Charles to this country.

During yesterday's session of the assembly, an official note from the Premier was read. It stated the Premier "considered the stability of the Government endangered, owing to the situation of certain ministers in connection with recent events."

Asks for Adjournment.

"I must, therefore," the note continued, "make propositions to the Regent regarding the Government, and so must ask for an adjournment of the assembly until the Regent has reached a decision."

Newspapers of the city have published the manifesto former Emperor Charles issued, with the Government's permission, before his departure from Steinamanger for Switzerland.

"I returned to Hungary's sacred soil," the manifesto declared, "because I was unable to live away from my beloved country, and because I was convinced that only the crowned King can restore tranquility and order which is necessary for prosperity.

Wishes to Aid Country.

"The union of Austria and Hungary ended with Hungary becoming independent. My desire is to strengthen that independence. My heart aches at being prevented from working hand in hand with the nation for reconstruction.

"Realizing, however, that my return would involve the nation in insupportable trials, I depart, but, though in my exile, I will devote all my energies, and, if necessary, sacrifice my life for the interests of Hungary."

"I have faith in Providence, and the time will come when I can remain in my beloved fatherland. In the meantime, I ask the nation to support the Regent, who is fulfilling the heavy duties of the nation's and the King's common interests."

SIX BUSINESS MEN TAKEN IN CUSTODY AFTER FATAL SHOOTING

Daughter of One Said to Have Told of Mistreatment by Victim in Flint (Mich.) Shooting.

By the Associated Press.

FLINT, Mich., April 8.—Six Flint business men, among them a wealthy coal merchant, were taken in custody by the police here yesterday pending investigation of the death of Hyman Potashnik, dealer in secondhand goods. Potashnik was shot to death in his room above his store in the heart of the business district yesterday morning.

According to the police, they have obtained a statement from the 15-year-old daughter of one of the men held that she had been mistreated by Potashnik.

VIVIANI FLOUTS IDEA GERMANY IS UNABLE TO PAY

SAYS FRANCE PAID 5 BILLIONS IN 1871

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 7.—France's determination that Germany shall pay her debts was given impressive expression by Rene Viviani, Extraordinary envoy to the United States, in another day of crowded activity in New York.

Addressing the Chamber of Commerce, the former Premier of France defended his country's policy in demanding war reparations from Germany. Last night, at a dinner given by the American Committee for Devastated France, he related eloquently the gratitude of his countrymen for America's aid in the war and in reconstruction. In addition, the visitor attended an official reception at the city hall, where greetings were exchanged with Mayor Hylan.

Although M. Viviani is unable to speak English, his addresses in his mother tongue never failed to move his audiences by their apparent sincerity and strength of appeal. On several occasions, in his address before a gathering of business men at the Chamber of Commerce, the audience rose to its feet in applause because of the sheer force of feeling in his appeal. He is considered one of the greatest orators of the French nation.

Says Germany Is Able to Pay.

In his address the former Premier flouted the idea that Germany is unable to pay what is demanded of her.

"Some have said that the claims of France are exaggerated," he said. "It is a lie."

He added that he had just received word from his Government that Germany proposes to pay her war debts "from supplementary profits made from her foreign trade."

"In order for her to do this," he declared, "she will need to absorb 40 per cent of the world's trade, which would mean that the countries which control the commerce of the world would be reduced to misery."

In his address at his reception by Mayor Hylan, M. Viviani compared today's visit with that of 1917, when he and Marshal Joffre were swamped by a "tremendous wave of wonderfully sympathetic humanity."

"Now the war is over, and we have won," he said, "I come here as a pilgrim of France to tell the American people of France's love and gratitude."

"Lafayette's Services Returned."

Looking at a life-sized picture of Lafayette on the wall of the reception room, M. Viviani referred to his work in aiding in the American revolution, and added: "American has returned his services to us a hundred fold."

"But," he continued, "our present relations are not those of creditor and debtor, but those of peoples saturated with the same ideals. Future generations of France will always be grateful and will always remember what America did. The name of America will be blessed in the humblest home of the remotest hamlet of France, where America is considered as a mother—not only a tender mother, but a mother full of strength and help."

"In 1871, for a war which lasted six months," he continued, "France paid 5,000,000,000 of francs, which did not include one cent for any reparations, as that war, like this one, had been fought on French soil.

"If instead of having been the victors we had been the vanquished, we should have found no magnanimity. Nevertheless the allies and ourselves do not insist on receiving one cent for the war expenses, which amount to a thousand billion francs, and which Germany is unable to pay. We only claim that the military pensions to our widows and to our mutilated men as well as the reparations of the occupied departments should be paid in kind or in cash by Germany.

Can't Obtain Reparation.

"Everyone knows that Germany can pay in kind, but has never presented any serious offer. It is just this reparation that France cannot obtain, under the pretext that the sums are too high.

"If the world wishes to be the unmoved spectator of this scandal, if those who have fought for right are capable of losing interest for right itself, France still could be willing to face her own destinies."

France invites the other nations, he said, to take into consideration that, after being forced to concentrate her efforts on herself to re-establish her balance alone, she would not be the only nation badly hurt from the moral and economical crisis; the whole world would suffer through that situation."

"The United States already has understood that situation," he said, "and, in the loyal and energetic note recently delivered by the American Government to Germany, she showed, as everybody expected, that she would not desert the cause of justice after having so nobly sacrificed for it."

Shocker Puts Browns Ahead In Spring Series by Shading May in Brilliant Mound Duel

Fohl's Star Right-Hander Holds Cardinals to Four Hits, While Southpaw Allows Six and American Leaguers Win 1 to 0—Contest Most Spectacular Played This Spring.

In as pretty a pitching duel as one would expect to see in mid-season, Urban Shocker, the Browns' star spitter, shaded Jakie May, the little southpaw, yesterday, 1 to 0, and as a result the tribe of Lee Fohl is now one up on the Knot-Holers in the spring series. Some 2000 spectators were on hand at Sportsman's Park yesterday to witness the battle.

Shocker, who was beaten by May in the second clash of the series, stopped Rickey's sluggers yesterday with four safeties, and only one Knot-Holer got as far as third. This athlete was Rogers Hornsby, who got to the hot corner in the second frame. From then until the ninth not a Cardinal got beyond first. In the final session successive passes to Hornsby and Mann put the Cardinals' leading slugger on second.

May, although defeated, was not far behind his rival. The little left-hander, who has been a question mark with the Rickeymen ever since he joined the club, twirled a game that on a majority of occasions would have brought him a victory. He stopped Fohl's clubbers with six swats. But Jakie was unlucky enough to have the Browns bunch two of these with a sacrifice hit in the second and this was enough to bring about his downfall.

May Apparently Has "Arrived."

Jakie again indicated yesterday that he is going to prove a big aid to Rickey's pitching staff this season—if he can continue as he has started. In his two outs against the Browns he has stopped the A. L. clouters with 12 hits in 57 attempts, for an average of .211. Only three runs have been scored against him.

The little left-hander has easily twirled the best ball of any of the pitchers Rickey has used against the Fohlmen to date. And in the two clashes he has been forced to extend himself to the limit on more than one occasion because of errors behind him.

One of the principal features of May's work yesterday was his control. In the past May has had trouble getting the ball over the plate. But statistics on yesterday's clash show he located the pan with great regularity. He passed only three batters—Severeid in the second, Jacobson in the third and Shocker in the seventh. And these three were the only ones who saw even three wide pitches float past.

Jakie Shows Great Control.

"Dope" on the game shows that in the eight rounds he worked May had only four more called balls than Shocker, who is known for his control, in the same time. The figures were 34 for Jakie and 30 for Shocker. Shocker put nine wide of the plate in the final round, bringing his total to 39. Shocker pitched 101 times in downing the Knot-Holers, while May hurled 104 times.

The figures:

SHOCKER.
Innings.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	T.
Strikes..	9	10	5	6	8	8	4	4	8	62
Balls	5	5	5	5	1	6	2	1	9	39
Totals.	14	15	10	11	9	14	6	5	17	101

MAY.
Strikes..	9	11	10	7	8	10	13	4 ..	70
Balls....	3	9	8	2	2	2	6	2 ..	34
Totals.	12	20	18	9	10	12	19	6 ..	104

The two clashes Shocker has pitched in the spring games are evidence that the right-hander is ready for the opening of the regular American League campaign. In the 18 rounds he has labored he has yielded just 10 hits, while three markers have been tallied against him. He was in hot water several times yesterday, but whenever hits were needed Urban tightened up and set down the Knot-Holers without any damage being done.

The One Run of the Game.

The lone run of yesterday's game came in the second round. Jacobson opened by dumping one down in front of the plate and beating May's toss to first. Williams' martyr death advanced Jake to second, from where he tallied on Tobin's line single to center field.

Following this marker, the Browns had several chances, but could not come through with safeties when needed. For instance, in the fourth Tobin was safe on May's fumble and advanced to third when Smith was safe at first when Fournier, after picking up Earl's bounder, hit Tobin in the back with the ball. Severeid crashed one to Hornsby and Smith was forced at second. Tobin tried to sneak home, but was nipped.

Lavan's Great Play.

In the fifth Gleason singled and reached second on Lavan's error, but May got rid of Sisler. In the next round Williams doubled with one out and was sacrificed to third, but Smith's best was a pop to Fournier. Lavan came to May's assistance in the seventh, when with Severeid on third and Shocker on first, Sisler crashed a bounder behind second. Lavan raced over for a sensational stop and while lying flat on the ground, threw to Toporcer, forcing Shocker.

The Browns also turned several sparkling fielding plays behind Shocker. In the fourth, with Hornsby on first, Mann crashed one that bounded from Shocker to Smith, who fielded the ball in time to head off Mann at second. In the sixth, with Toporcer on first, Hornsby cracked one through the box which Shocker partially stopped. Gerber raced behind second, scooped up the ball and stepped on second. Double plays stopped Rickey's men in the third and ninth.

It was the best game of the series to date, both from a pitching and spectacular fielding standpoint.

MERRIMAN WINS MEDAL HONORS IN NORTH-SOUTH GOLF TITLE TOURNAMENT

PINEHURST, S. C., April 8.—B. P. Merriman of Waterbury, won the medal for the low score in the qualifying round of the North and South amateur golf championship here yesterday when he defeated Perry Adair of the Druid Hills Club, Atlanta, in the play-off. They played the championship course, Merriman doing a 75 and Adair a 76.

Adair started with a fine birdie three at the first hole, drove a long ball down the middle and banged a spoon shot two feet from the pin. At the ninth hole Merriman got a two to be out in 36, to 37 for Adair. The latter was unsteady at the tenth and eleventh and thirteenth holes, failing to get his approaches dead. He dropped three more shots at these holes to Merriman, who played them in par fours.

The Atlanta golfer finished strong, picking up shots at the fourteenth and seventeenth and eighteenth. Merriman had to sink a 6-foot putt on the home green to win. The cards:

Merriman:
Out	553	452	632—38
Adair:
Out	355	353	624—36
In	556	542	434—39—76

Merriman will play Frank Dyer of Upper Montclair, and Adair will meet Gardiner White of Nassau, today.

KEEN KUTTERS DEPART.

Sixteen players of the Keen Kutter soccer football team, St. Louis municipal champions for the recently completed season, will depart at 9:55 tonight for Memphis, where they play the Memphis municipal title-holders, tomorrow and Sunday. About 10 enthusiasts will accompany them.

batting average of only .161. Not very hefty for a club that in 1920 topped the N. L. in clubbing.

Shocker Turns Nice Play.

Urban Shocker turned a nice play against Leslie Mann, the former Brave, in the second inning, when with Hornsby on first he took Mann's bounder close to the third base line and tossed him out at first base.

Fans Are on Umpire Moran.

The fans were on Umpire Charley Moran in the third inning, when on an attempted double steal he called George Sisler out at the hot corner. From the stand it looked as though Sis was on the bag when Hornsby took the throw from Clemons.

Gleason Again Stars Afield.

Bill Gleason, the Browns' new second sacker, again starred in the field. He handled five putouts and four assists without a slip. He rapped out one hit in four attempts. He is outswatting George Toporcer, his bespectacled rival with the Cardinals, .228 to .056. Toporcer, however, is putting up just as good a fielding game as the new Brownie.

No Word From Holdouts.

It was announced by officials of the Cardinals yesterday that no word had been received from Milton Stock and Jack Smith, the teams' two holdouts.

Gov. Hyde to Hurl First Ball.

Gov. Hyde will pitch the first ball at the opening of the American League season at Sportsman's Park next Wednesday, when the Browns oppose the world's champion Cleveland Indians. Along with the invitation from the local management went a new baseball and glove.

Murphy's Left Has Fisher Near K O In Closing Round

By John E. Wray.

Jimmy Murphy's experience and generalship enabled him to quell the stormy Joe Fisher in the South Broadway Athletic Club's eight-round boxing feature last night. After Fisher had rushed and cuffed him around the ring for a margin in the first round, during which the Mound City bantam was carefully studying his foe's stock in trade, James began to scientifically cut him down from a tornado to spring zephyr, the job being completed in the final session. In this period Fisher, who started out like a whirlwind, was stopped to a standstill and only averted a knockout by covering.

Fisher, an Italian boy from Fort Worth, Tex., was very aggressive and rushed Murphy through the ropes on two or three occasions; but his swings were nicely timed by Murphy, who was always just out of reach of or underneath the blow. Murphy's judgment of distance was so good that he made Fisher appear very wild.

Fisher Badly Stung.

In the final round he reached Fisher solidly and made the visitor's knees bend. The rugged Italian hung on desperately for some time. Murphy shook him off and administered severe punishment but the bell rang without the final punch being put across.

Neither fighter was cut or bruised, a slight nose bleed being Fisher's only souvenir. There were no knockdowns, but the condition of the canvas was such that Murphy several times slipped to the floor. The same thing hapened to other fighters during the evening.

Webb Confused Over Count.

Harry Webb, who learned boxing in the army during the late war, made a fair showing against Sailor Jerabek in the first round of their match. He showed a splendid physique and despite a limited experience he was cool and swung a wicked right hand at times.

In the second round he reached Jerabek with a mighty swat that made Jerry's glass jaw rattle; but Jerabek is game and before the round was over he swatted Webb with a right that droped him. Webb rose to one knee and apparently not hurt, walked in that position while Referee Heisner counted him out. As the "ten" was tolled off Webb leaped to his feet and started to sail into Jerry, but the referee stopped him. Evidently Webb thought that he was entitled to 10 seconds on the floor, instead of nine.

Riley Fights With Broken Hand.

In the first bout the rugged, hard-hitting righthander Gene Riley broke his left hand on Arthur Burke's head. He fought a game bout with one hand entirely useless to him, carrying it across his breast. Burke's advantage was too great and he won on points. Riley's hand was in bad shape after the bout, according to the club's physician.

Flanagan vs. Collander.

It was announced from the South Broadway ring last night that Patsy Flanagan and Kewpie Collander would appear in the main event of the S. B. A. C. boxing feature next week.

Flanagan denied the story given out by Al Edwards, manager of Joe Fisher, that he (Flanagan) had gone under Edwards' management.

Sharpe for Commissioner.

Harry Sharpe, former referee and boxing expert for the Post-Dispatch, who for several years has been with the Red Cross service, is back in the city in civilian clothes, ready to resume his business career.

In case the Governor signs the boxing bill, here is the man St. Louis should have for its representative on the Boxing Commission. If the State were combed from end to end for a man who combined experience, executive ability and absolute integrity it could hardly find the peer of Sharpe. Sharpe drafted the St. Louis Boxing Commission code; unfortunately the commission had no civil or legal authority and was powerless to enforce its mandates.

Straw Vote Indicated Fans Want Dempsey to Meet Wills for Title

F. B. COSTAIN, who is here with Wills, the colored heavyweight champion, representing Paddy Mullins, Wills' manager, told the Post-Dispatch that when Dempsey agreed to give Wills a fight "if the public wanted it," the New York Telegram sought a test of public opinion and selected 750 fans as representative.

The ensuing ballot on the question whether it was right for Dempsey, a white man, to defend his title against a negro, resulted in a vote of 735 to 15 in favor of making the match.

Dempsey refused to accept the test vote and a few days ago in Canada outspokenly stated that he had no intention of ever meeting Wills and drew the color line against him.

O'DOWD LEFT HOSPITAL YESTERDAY, FOLLOWING INJURY IN WILSON GO

Mike O'Dowd, who was sent to the hospital three weeks ago, following an operation for an injury suffered in his title bout with Johnny Wilson, March 17, at Madison Square Garden, was released yesterday, it was announced here by F. B. Costain, who is associated with O'Dowd as manager.

Following the bout, the night of the fight press dispatches carried the announcement that O'Dowd had been badly hurt and would have to undergo an operation. The nature of the injury was such, the examining doctors announced, to indicate that O'Dowd had been fouled.

O'Dowd had been examined at 2 o'clock before the fight and had been pronounced in the very pink of physical condition, the club's doctor reported. He was one of the conference of doctors who examined Mike after the bout.

Among other injuries, Mike was found to be suffering from double rupture, for which he was operated on, and which it was stated was caused subsequent to the afternoon examination.

Following the fight there was a heated disagreement among sport writers as to whether O'Dowd had been hit illegally. Bat Masterson, the veteran, was one of those who declared that only a blind man could have failed to see the low blows; while Robert Edgren said no illegal blows below the belt had been landed by Wilson.

Whether O'Dowd will be able to fight again has not been disclosed.

O'Dowd Won't Box for Many Months.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Mike O'Dowd, the former middleweight champion, is not apt to fight again for a long time, Paddy Mullins, his manager, is going to send him up to the mountains, where he will take it easy for the summer. Mullins is hopeful that his fighter will regain his strength, and will be able to try conclusions with Johnny Wilson again; but his fans do not expect to see him in the ring again for a year. He is only 27 and can spare a year to build up in; but after that he won't have more than a couple of years left.

MIDGET SMITH GETS REFEREE'S DECISION OVER JACK SHARKEY

NEW YORK, April 8.—At the end of 15 fierce rounds of fighting Midget Smith was awarded the decision over Jack Sharkey at the Manhattan Casino last night. At the end of the bout James Furey, one of the judges, declared in favor of Smith; James Devitt, his colleague, declared for Sharkey; the referee, Tom Smith, cast his vote for the Midget.

It was a wonderful fight, and many thought that Sharkey was entitled to at least a draw. Smith made a spectacular finish in the last round, bringing Sharkey down in a mixup, but the latter did not take a count. They fought all over the ring, Sharkey going down again in Smith's corner, but this time it was a slip.

Sharkey's performance was far better than any he has given since his first fight with Joe Lynch.

ST. LOUIS ACADEMY NINE DEFEATS CHAMINADE, 2-1

The St. Louis Academy team continued its success yesterday afternoon by defeating the Chaminade College nine, 2 to 1, on the latter team's diamond. This was the third victory for the embryo Billikens during the past week.

The game was a pitching battle between Stanton of the victors and Kane of Chaminade, each allowing five hits. Only one error was committed by each team, which is tight fielding, considering the early stage of the season.

Carter Meets Klinger.

Lloyd Carter, local heavyweight wrestling champion, will meet Joe Klinger in a finish bout at the Standard Theater following the regular performance tonight. Carter has defeated the best heavyweights in the city, but will meet a sturdy grappler in Klinger. The latter will carry a weight advantage.

Figures Tend To Upset Confidence Of Robin Rooters

Scullins Beat Millers 3 to 0, While Millers Twice Have Played Eries to a Tie.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Dopesters who want to figure on the relative chances of the Robins Dry Dock F. C. and the Scullins in the final to be played a week from Tuesday, can mull over the appended record which the Robins have hung up for the current season. There is an unaccountable confidence on the part of the Robins rooters. They seem to think the defeat of the St. Louis outfit is a foregone conclusion. There has been an impression that the Scullins were not the best team in St. Louis, that the Ben Millers were entitled to that distinction and that their elimination from the competition was a fluke. The fact that they trimmed the Ben Millers for the St. Louis championship 3 goals to 0, may cause some of them to revise this impression. There is, however, a direct line of dope that makes as though the Scullins have the edge.

The Robins have played the Eries six times this season. Four times they have tied. Once the Eries won and once the Robins won. The Robins in this victory were on the home grounds, under regulation size, and in a game played under such conditions that a strong protest was made because of the alleged encroachment of Robins' rooters on the field of play. It was in this protest the committee made its famous double-jointed decision, refusing the Eries a replay on the ground there was not sufficient encroachment to bother the players, then fining the Robins' management $100, the highest fine ever levied, for not guarding against the encroachment. That happened to be the national cup competition and eliminated the Eries, who, two weeks later, beat the Robins 3 to 0. The Eries have twice played the Ben Millers, both times to a tie. Now the Scullins beat the Millers 3 to 0, making the Scullins look three goals better than Erie, which at the least is even up with Robins.

The Robins' record follows:

SIX-DAY BIKE RIDERS ARE FINED FOR FIGHTING

CHICAGO, April 8.—Several serious spills, a fist fight and the gain of a lap furnished the thrills last night in the six-day bicycle race, in which the Corry-McBeth team was leading the field by a big margin.

The point score for the three leaders was: Corry-McBeth, 179½; Reliens-De Graves, 27½, and Killer-Cavanaugh, 27. Hill and Kockler broke into the point column for the first time when they regained a lost lap and became even with the field.

Easton, of the Easton-Kaiser team, and Corry, each were fined for engaging in a fist fight on the track. Reliens was the most seriously injured in the several spills.

OUSTED MEMBERS OF SOX ARE ORGANIZING CLUB TO PLAY INDEPENDENT TEAMS

CHICAGO, April 8.—Three ousted members of the White Sox club, who were released because of indictments in connection with the 1919 world's series scandal, are organizing a team of their own with the object of playing clubs not in the major leagues, according to George K. Miller, an investment broker, who is associated with other brokers in backing the scheme.

The three players are Joe Jackson, former outfielder, Charles Risberg, former shortstop, and Claude Williams, former pitcher. It is stated that two other former members of the Sox club, Fred McMullin, third basemen, and Oscar "Happy" Felsch, outfielder, will also be included in the lineup.

Another player, Joe Gedeon, formerly with the Washington and St. Louis Americans, is also expected to join. In addition to those named Miller said that three other former big league players would be included.

The new organization is now trying to obtain dates with independent clubs and both players and backers were optimistic in their outlook on the venture.

KRAHN OF DETROIT WINS 2 RACES AT PALLADIUM

CARPENTIER'S FORFEIT IN BANK IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 8.—Georges Carpentier's $50,000 forfeit money, guaranteeing his appearance in a ring with Jack Dempsey on July 2, has been deposited in a local trust company vault, it was announced here today by Tex Rickard, promoter of the bout.

Rickard added that he had been informed by Carpentier's manager that the French heavyweight would arrive in this country the first week in May to begin training.

TRAUTWEIN SHOWS WELL AS PIKERS WIN PRACTICE CONTEST FROM SOLDIERS

Three pitchers were unable to stop the hitting of the Washington University baseball nine, yesterday, and as a result the Pikeway players had an easy time in taking a practice contest from the Jefferson Barracks team, 7 to 1. The game went seven innings.

The most pleasing aspect of the contest from the collegians' viewpoint was the showing made by Pitcher Trautwein, who is doing his first mound duty. The rangy hurler set the soldiers down with three hits, retiring the first 14 men who faced him. With Captain Lyons, De Bolt and Scurlock showing well, the addition of Trautwein gives Coach Bascom a well rounded pitching corps.

Henry Hurd still continues to hit hard and opportunely, so will give a hard battle before he concedes an outfield berth. Berger, Magualo and Tom Thompson had been considered as the garden set; but Hurd will undoubtedly start many of the contests.

Tigers will meet Butler Brothers, a municipal League team, in a practice game tomorrow afternoon at Francis Field.

KRINGS NAMED CAPTAIN OF KENRICK HIGH FIVE

Raymond E. Krings was elected captain of the 1922 Kenrick High School basketball team, at a dinner tendered to this season's squad last night. He played a stationary guard and was one of the team's mainstays through the season.

Eight players received their letters and the silver footballs, awarded by the University of Missouri for their efforts in the State tournament. The players are Rotermund, Kortika, Krings, Duggan, Muehling, Mears, Schwandemann and Klosterman. Letters were also awarded to Ryan and Poeppering.

Burman Boxes Ray Moore.

TOLEDO, April 8.—Joe Burman of New York and Roy Moore of Chicago and St. Paul, are here ready for their 12-round no-decision bout at the Coliseum tonight. Both arrived yesterday and worked out in a public gymnasium. They are to weigh 119 pounds at 3 o'clock this afternoon, according to the articles of agreement filed with the Toledo Boxing Commission.

Penn Five Elects Captain.

PHILADELPHIA, April 8.—William C. Grave of Springfield, Mass., has been elected captain of the University of Pennsylvania basketball team for next year. It was also announced today that Eddie McNichol and Joe Fogarty will be retained as coaches of the Pennsylvania quintet next season.

Sisler Swatting .211 in Series; Sothoron to Hurl Again Saturday

George Sisler, the Browns' ace slugger, is in a batting slump. For the five games to date, Sis has a batting figure of .211 and has driven only one run across the plate, that against Roy Walker with a sacrifice fly. Sisler owns four swats and not one of them has been a line drive to the meadows. Hornsby, who poled two raps yesterday, is hitting .333 and has a big lead on the Brownie ace.

Against May yesterday, Sisler looked especially bad. He was swinging at what looked like bad balls. Three times he came up with men on the paths and three times he failed. In the first, he tapped to May with Gleason on second; in the fifth he fouled out with a runner on second; while in the eighth he was robbed of a hit by Lavan with mates on third and first.

Sisler also has looked bad on the bases. Yesterday in the first round he was picked off first by May's snap throw to Fournier after the pitcher had failed several times to nip him.

Sixth Contest Tomorrow.

The sixth game of the series will be played tomorrow. Today is an open date and both managers will send their athletes through practice sessions. Allan Sothoron will likely hurl for the Browns tomorrow, while Schupp or Walker will be on duty for Rickey.

Brownie Hurlers Stop Cards.

Sothoron, Shocker and Davis have stopped the Cardinals with two runs, only one of them earned, and only 15 hits in the last three contests. In this time the Knot-Holers have been at bat 93, which gives them a team

Wills, Barred by Dempsey, Meets Jack Thompson at Odeon Tonight

Negro Heavyweight Champion Battles the "Human Gorilla" Under Pastime Club Auspices—Has Little Hope of Title Fight With Conqueror of Willard.

Harry Wills, the dusky heavyweight champion of the world, will be meeting no stranger, tonight, at the Odeon, where he is primed to step eight rounds against the rugged cave-man, Jack Thompson, also of the race of Ham. Wills is prepared to step at about a $1500 gait, the sum being his retainer for the evening's display.

The acquaintance of Jack and Harry extends over about six years, pugilistically at least. Beginning in 1916, up to their forthcoming clash, Thompson and Wills have fought six times. On the occasion of their initial encounter Harry bumped Jack into cuckooland in the ninth round, but in subsequent meetings he has been unable to repeat. Their last five bouts resulted as follows: Three no decision events, one referee's decision in Wills' favor and one "no contest." The last took place in 1920 at San Francisco and the deponent sayeth nothing as to the cause of the said "no contest."

All of which indicates that Jack will take his usual gruelling at the hands of Wills, and possibly may run into a finishing wallop. Wills, on his record, appears perfectly safe.

About That "No Contest."

F. B. Costain, who is here representing Wills, was asked about the "no contest" bout at San Francisco, and explained that the fight was made the medium of a heavy betting plunge on Wills to knock out Thompson, because of a previous "knock" over the same boxer, and because, in several bouts on the Pacific Coast the colored champion had made a great impression.

"Wills broke Thompson's ribs and battered him badly, forcing Thompson to hold on and use wrestling tactics. Wills did his best, but could not shake loose from Thompson in four rounds. Because he did not knock out Thompson he was criticised. But to show that the management appreciated Wills' efforts, he was paid his guarantee in full.

"The fact is that, since then, Thompson has fought Wills and put up a great fight for 15 rounds at Tulsa, Ok., because he opened up more. Wills again battered him, but could not knock him out, or even off his feet."

Thompson is a human gorilla. Long of arm, broad of shoulder, almost as heavy as Wills but not quite as tall, he is credited with ability to take a fierce beating and still be aggressive. Early in his career he was stopped by Langford and Wills; but since that time no fighter has been "taking" him.

Wills Whipped them All.

Wills and Langford have fought 16 times, as per the record book, and perhaps on other occasions that are not "present or accounted for." Wills started in by being flattened by "Them;" but after six years of earnest endeavor he worked himself into a reversal of this verdict by stopping Langford. Sam McVey and Joe Jeanette are others who figure in various ring episodes with Wills, who, however, manages to dominate the colored field effectually.

That Wills is a first-rate fighter is shown in his climb toward the top at Langford's expense and by his quick knockouts of the negro giant, Bill Tate (Dempsey's sparring partner) and of Fred Fulton, one-time candidate for the championship.

Six feet three inches in stature, weighing 215 pounds, with an enormous reach and plenty of skill, he has every physical attribute that goes to make up a real scrapper. He is 29 years of age. That his merits have made a profound impression in other quarters may be inferred from the attitude of the present world's champion, Jack Dempsey,—or rather from the position taken by his manager, Jack Kearns.

After the Fulton fight Wills challenged Dempsey, who was at the ringside. Dempsey then accepted the challenge, "if the public demanded it." Since that time he has failed to make good the acceptance and recently he declared that he never would fight Wills and that he drew the color line.

Odeon Boxing Card

TIGER NINE TO OPEN SEASON TOMORROW AGAINST DRAKE

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 8.—Wet grounds today caused postponement of the first game of the Missouri-Drake baseball series. A double-header will be played tomorrow.

While the lineup of the Missouri team may be changed at the last minute, Coach Johnnie Miller's final choice is believed to be as follows: Stroeter, first base; Huber, second base; Lam, shortstop; Fulbright, third base. O'Reilly will start in left field, Capt. Charley Lawrance in center, and either Bunker or Lee Simpson in right. Simpson and Bunker are both catchers, but one or the other is certain to be included in the outfield because of the hitting ability they have shown. Bunker has had more work during the last week, and appears to be Miller's choice.

Other games on the Tiger schedule:

April 13-14—Oklahoma A. and M. at Stillwater.

April 15-16—Oklahoma University at Norman.

April 22-23—Ames at Columbia.

MINNESOTA ENTERS TEAM IN ONE-MILE RELAY RACE

PHILADELPHIA, April 8.—The University of Minnesota, runnerup to Pennsylvania for the one-mile relay championship at the relay carnival last year, has entered a team in this event again this season. Three members of last year's team, including Johnson, who gave Eby such a close race, are still at Minnesota.

The one-mile race is one of the features of this year's meet. In addition to Pennsylvania and Minnesota the entries include the French team, Syracuse, Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, Notre Dame and Cornell.

Minnesota also will compete in the sprint medley relay and the four-mile relay race.

Chess Match Postponed.

HAVANA, April 8.—The tenth game in the match for the world's chess championship between Dr. Emmanuel Lasker and Jose Capablanca was postponed last night owing to a slight affection of the eye from which Capablanca was suffering. BRITISH STRIKE HAS PARALYZING EFFECT ON MARKET

NEW YORK, April 8.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Adverse news regarding the British coal strike and successive raising of the rate on call money from an opening of 6 per cent to 6½ at noon and 7 during the last hour, had a paralyzing effect on the stock market. Trading during the morning was unusually dull and while it became more active during the afternoon the day's total was a small one. Prices displayed a heavy tone from the start and toward the close rails were again fractionally lower while the declines in industrials amounted to from fractions to 2 points in the more active issues.

Exchange Rates Reflect Strike.

"The increasing gravity of the strike situation in England was reflected in the day's quotations in exchange rates. The market for sterling was extremely unsettled; demand bills declined 2 cents to 3.89c, but early in the afternoon there were reported to be very large offerings, for which no buyer could be found. The continental exchanges, with the exception of German marks in which there was practically no trading, showed the same general trend as sterling. Francs dropped from 7.08c to 7.03c, lire, which on preceding days had exhibited considerable strength, shared in the general weakness, declining from 4.38c to 4.35c. Spanish pesetas were notably weak, opening at 14c and receding to 13.87c. Danish kroner likewise declined sharply from 18.22c to 18.05c. The South American market continued to exhibit unsettlement as on yesterday. Canadian dollars declined from $9.50c to $9.35c.

Cotton Unstable.

"The cotton market, as a result of the situation in Great Britain was devoid of features. May cotton opened at 11.70c, 9 points below yesterday's closing, and after selling up to 11.78c broke on reports of further unfavorable developments abroad to 11.63c, rallying later to 11.70c. Wheat for May and July delivery also sold below yesterday's closing prices. May wheat, after reaching $1.36⅝, or ½c above yesterday's closing, registered during the day a drop of 3⅛c, but recovered somewhat in the afternoon, closing at $1.34¼, or 2¼c below the previous day. Wheat for July delivery closed at 1.21c, or 1¼c below yesterday.

Fall in Wholesale Prices Small.

"Cables from London indicate that the fall in wholesale prices during March, as measured by the economists' index number, amounted to only 1.5 per cent. This is the smallest decline since last September and compared with 7.9 per cent in February, 5.2 per cent in January and 10.2 per cent in December. A marked slackening in the rate of decline is suggested, which tends to nourish comforting conclusions regarding a stabilization of the general price level. It must be remembered, however, that European commodity prices reflect changes in the exchange rates. Thus the sharp increase in the value of sterling which occurred early in the year precipitated a fresh series of declines in British commodity prices. With sterling subsequently coming to an equilibrium at about $3.90, this impulse toward lower commodity prices naturally has been removed. While it is safer to base judgments regarding the general trend of prices on the movement of our own indices, it is interesting to note that British prices now stand only 89 per cent above the 1913 level, as compared with 210 per cent above a year ago, when the peak of their movement was reached. Accordingly the average has fallen 39 per cent in the year."

Wall Street News and Comment
—SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 8.—The two matters of more immediate restraint in the financial situation today were first, of course, the British labor crisis, and, second, the partial reversal of the tendency of previous days. Word came during the day that the British army reserves had been called out, that volunteers had been asked for, and in fact, that everything was being made ready for the eventuality of a gigantic labor.

While London dispatches did not picture any undue disturbance in the London share list, the strain finally told upon sterling exchange, which in the afternoon broke very sharply, more than 2 cents in the pound.

Following the sudden advance in call money right at the close of business yesterday, the renewal rate was marked up this morning to 6 per cent, and quite a part of the new loans were arranged at 6½. This was tantamount to a warning to Wall Street borrowers that their bids for accommodation cannot be lowered too much without the interior calling in its balances the way that was done two months ago.

The situation, to be sure, is much better than it was at the beginning of February, but banks in the interior and cities have the temptation of a 7¾ per cent commercial paper rate to set against the current Wall Street quotations, and these cannot get down as low as they have this week without making the contrast too strong.

The effect of these unfavorable incidents upon the stock market of the day was felt in a renewal of selling later in the day, following an extremely dull forenoon. The early price changes were very much mixed.

Traders working on the short side concentrated their main efforts upon the steel group, still counting upon a very poor showing for the independent companies in the first quarter, the reports for which are due soon. While the steels were sagging off, the Central Leathers, American Sumatra and one or two other of the recent weak stocks had quite a fair recovery.

The low prices were reached in the last hour, when the principal part of the break occurred in the sterling market. With sight sterling down to $3.89—the lowest in several weeks and some 5 cents in the pound below the high of a week ago—a keener impression than at any previous time during the strike situation in England. The fixing of Tuesday for the beginning of the vast effort of the three big labor unions which caused the abrupt drop in sterling, and led to an active resumption of the selling movement in stocks. At the same time the call money rates ran up to 7 per cent, contributing a further unsettling influence. The other markets outside those of money exchanges and stocks were likewise more or less upset. Cotton was weak directly because of the foreign news, but in the case of wheat the decline was rather a belated response to the April estimates of the winter wheat crop.

It was to be noted that the return to a 7 per cent call money rate did not bring any similar hardening in time money. This class of funds continued to be offered at 7 per cent, with borrowers not disposed to pay more than 6 per cent. It was clear from this that the interior bankers were not only affecting the supply of day to day funds used by speculative borrowers on Stock Exchange collateral. In the share list the weakness in the final dealings was very general, involving industrials and rails alike. Bear raiding still seemed to be the chief factor, and it was certain that no important liquidation was under way. But the immediate outside surroundings were too favorable to encourage much resistance to the effort to get prices down.

The Bond Market.

The upturn in money rates put somewhat of a damper upon the hope of another considerable revival in the bond market, which would prepare the way for a renewal of syndicate operations bringing out new issues. There was a let-up in the bond trading comparable to that in stocks, but the rising tendency of prices was not altogether checked. The movement was much more irregular, yet with quite as many gains as losses on the day. Liberty bonds were lower, but no more so than was called for as a proper reaction from their advance early in the week. British Government issues, in face of the industrial crisis, were comparatively quiet. Japanese bonds and the City of Tokios held their high record levels, but did not continue the advance. Belgian 6s of 1925 were quoted a half point lower at 90¼, but other Belgian issues held steady. Norway 8s, which have been very strong right along recently, were still dealt in a slight fraction above 100. Danish Government 8s retained their full recovery of the last week, selling at 98¼.

Hudson and Manhattan bonds were again in demand, with the 5s up to 66, and the adjustment incomes up nearly a point to 35. There was a jump of nearly two points in Bush Terminal Buildings 5s to 74. Demand for Utah Power and Light 5s continued, carrying them up another fraction to 79¾. Responding to the favorable annual report, U. S. Rubber 7½s sold up to 101¼, which was a new high. Westinghouse Electric 7s came down a bit to 98⅞. Bell Telephone of Pennsylvania 7s were a feature, reaching a new high of 103⅞. Cerro de Pasco 8s failed to maintain their improvement, losing a half point to 105¼.

Railway bonds were variable. The new Chicago & Northwestern 6½s, which seemed to have been selling out of line with the Pennsylvania 6½s, drew near to the latter, making a new low of 98 5-8. New York Central debentures were heavily dealt in at 88½. Northern Pacific 3s at 55 were up a point, and New York, Chicago & St. Louis first 4s at 73¼ were up a point and a quarter. New Haven 5s rose a point to 62. Baltimore & Ohio 4s were a shade better.

Allis-Chalmers.

The 1920 report of the Allis-Chalmers agreed pretty well with expectations. It showed earnings of $9.35 a share for the common stock as compared with less than $7 in 1919. Very significant was the fact that the profits of the last quarter were above the average—amounting to $3.91—while unfilled orders at the close of the year were over $17,000,000 against $16,000,000 at the end of the previous year. This showed, what has been common to the makers of electrical equipment, that their earnings and volume of business generally did not suffer at all from the slump toward the close of 1920, that they earned more rather than less during the last three months of the year than they had earned on the average for the previous quarter.

To Vote on Increased Stock.

SHARON, Pa., April 8.—Stockholders of the Standard Tank Car Co. will be asked April 14 to vote on a proposition to increase the common stock from 100,000 shares of no par value to 150,000, it was announced here today. The stockholders will also vote on a proposed amendment to the charter.

Paris Market Quiet.

PARIS, April 8.—Trading was quiet on the Bourse today. Three per cent rentes, 56 fr., 10c. Exchange on London, 5 fr., 29c. Five per cent loan, 83 fr., 95c. The dollar was quoted at 14 fr., 10½c.

Foreign Exchange and Domestic Money

NEW YORK, April 8.—The market for European exchange was acutely unsettled by the labor developments in England, the failure of the coal conference yesterday being followed by heavy offerings of sterling at sharp declines, numerous lots ranging from £100,000 to £250,000. In the early afternoon many of these offerings remained unsold and demand sterling was then down 2 cents to $3.89.

Similar conditions prevailed in continental exchange, which was in supply on a large scale and generally followed sterling in the downward movement. German was quiet and without material change. The feature of South American exchange was the weakness in exchange on Uruguay, pesos falling from 70.12 to 68.50.

NEW YORK COTTON MARKET NERVOUS AND IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, April 8.—Liverpool advices made an unfavorable impression on sentiment in the cotton market here at the opening today. The early cables were higher, but Liverpool lost the advance before the local opening, and private reports indicated increased nervousness over the labor situation. Otherwise, traders found no special factor in the general news and the early ruling of the market here showed more nervousness and irregularity than any decided trend. The opening was unchanged to 6 points lower and prices fluctuated between 11.70c and 11.78c for May and 12.25c and 12.32c for July after the call. It was reported that a Southern authority estimated the reduction in acreage at 29 per cent.

Trading remained very quiet later in the morning, with the attention of traders almost entirely absorbed by English labor news. This emphasized the seriousness of the situation, and toward midday prices sagged off a few points, with May selling down from 11.78c to 11.70c and July from 12.32c to 12.23c, or about 8 to 10 points net lower. Trade advices received here from Liverpool and Manchester reported continued buying of cotton goods for shipment to India.

There was no change in the general news, but prices held a shade steadier during the early afternoon on scattered covering, with March selling up from 12.17c to 12.21c, compared with 12.33c at the close yesterday.

CURB IRREGULAR' BUT PRICE CHANGES SMALL

Commission Houses Inactive and Dealings Are on Small Scale.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Irregularity prevailed on the curb market today, but price movements in most cases were confined within fractional limits. Commission houses were less active than in some time, and the trading element also showed little inclination to do business. As a result dealings were on a comparatively small scale.

Celluloid Co. shares were traded in for the first time, the common selling at 103 for an odd lot, while the 8 per cent preferred, after changing hands at par, was advanced to a point in the bid price without bringing out any offerings. British-American Tobacco coupons were more active than in a long time, but the price held about unchanged, the demand from foreign interests being taken care of by selling for the account of local traders.

Small recessions ruled in the oil list. Simms Petroleum was fairly active at only a fractional change in price. Carib Syndicate was under pressure, and declined, and a number of other issues were slightly lower. Transactions in the Standard Oil group were somewhat larger than recently, but quotations showed little change from the previous close.

Mining shares were moderately active and displayed a steady tone. Interest was centered in the low-priced issues.

There was a steady tone in bonds, but price changes generally were small. Vacuum Oil 7s attracted attention, selling up to a new high record.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Raw sugar was unchanged early, with the committee quoting 5c for Cubas cost and freight, equal to 6.02c for centrifugal. There were sales of 40,000 bags. Uncontrolled sugars were sold at 3-16c below these quotations. Refined was unsettled and unchanged to ¼c lower. One refiner reduced his list price to 7.75c for fine granulated, with others quoting 8c.

Futures were easier and prices at midday were 2 to 4 points net lower under selling by commission houses.

Sugar futures closed steady. Sales, 5600 tons; April, 4.68c; May, 4.78c; July, 4.90c; September, 4.96c.

WHEAT MARKET HEAVY ON LOCAL EXCHANGE

Wheat futures closed lower on the Merchants' Exchange today, while corn and oats also were down. Cash wheat sold off, exporters taking the grain. The gossip that exporters were reselling in the West excited some influence on prices.

The wheat market was inclined to heaviness at the outset. On top of the bearish Government crop report yesterday came favorable reports from the growing belt. The British industrial situation also was a factor. Traders contended that the estimated winter wheat crop was calculated on an average deterioration and that the less this season will probably be under the average, which will mean a larger crop than the 621,000,000 bushel estimate.

Some export business was reported. Corn followed wheat futures. Oats were fairly steady early.

The Statistical Situation.

Opening quotations on the Merchants' Exchange were: May wheat $1.35¾, July wheat $1.10¾, May corn 58⅝c, July corn 62⅝c, September corn 65⅝c, May corn 38⅝c, July corn 39¾c, September corn 40c.

The condition of Iowa's winter wheat crop April 1 was 94 per cent of normal, the joint Government and State report shows. This was said to be unusually high, considering the small amount of snow in the winter. The vitality was reported good. About 426,000 acres were sown in the State last fall, compared with 458,000 in the autumn of 1919.

The condition of the Kansas wheat crop on April 1 was 88 per cent of normal, as compared with 73 per cent a year ago and a 10-year average of 80 per cent on the same date, says the monthly crop report issued by Edward C. Paxton, crop statistician for Kansas of the United States Department of Agriculture.

St. Louis grain receipts today were: Wheat, 48 cars local and 43 through; corn, 48 cars local and 9 through; oats, 18 cars local and 7 through; hay, 278 cars local and 122 through.

Clearances: Wheat, 233,000 bu.; corn, 159,000 bushels; wheat and flour, 328,000; flour, 20,000 barrels.

CROP CONDITIONS DEPRESS WHEAT IN CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, April 8.—Bearish industrial and crop conditions tended today to depress values in the wheat market. A house with southwestern connections was conspicuous in the selling. Bulls, however, contended that the difference of present grain prices from those of a year ago had more than discounted all weakening factors. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to ⅜c lower, with May $1.35¾ to $1.36 and July $1.12⅛ to $1.12¾, were followed by numerous minor changes, mostly below yesterday's finish.

Gossip later that exporters were offering to resell led to increased pressure by the bears. The close was nervous, 1c to 2¼c net lower, with May $1.34 to $1.35¼, and July $1.11 ⅞ to $1.12.

Scantiness of receipts operated subsequently as a check on the bears. The close was unsettled ⅛@¼c to ⅜c net lower, with July 63¼c to 63⅜@½c.

Oats duplicated the action of other cereals, starting a shade off to ⅛c advance, July 39¼c to 39¼c, and later declining a little all around.

CATTLE—Receipts were smal today and selling averaged about steady with the week's decline, with the possible exception of yearlings, which were virtually unsalable early. Veal calves topped at $8.50, showing an advance of 25c over Thursday. The bulk of lights sold from $8 to the top. Beef steers and most butcher stock show a decline of 50@75c for the week.

HORSES AND MULES—Horses and mule receipts fell off to 50 head today and the small volume of business transacted was unchanged from the previous day. Markets have proved uneven for the week, selling ranging from steady to $10 or more lower. Most decline has been on Pennsylvania and plain horses of all kinds and small mules.

This Is the Day You Vote On the School Tax

Don't forget to vote. Your vote is needed. The fate of our schools may depend upon what you do today. Our school revenue is inadequate now to meet the operating expenses of our schools, without using a dollar for new buildings. What do you think the situation will be if the school revenue is reduced 20%, as it must be under the State Constitution, unless an additional tax is voted today? The issue is clearly drawn. It is either 10c more and progress or 15c less and calamity. If you don't vote, your children may pay a big price for your indifference.

Go—by all means go. Polls will be open until 7 p. m.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

As we have no information bureau, it is impossible to answer queries by mail or telephone. Query for Sunday must be mailed a week beforehand.

J. R. K.—Address Henry Ford at Dearborn, Mich.

LEAVENWORTH.—A $3 gold piece of 1855 is worth $3.25 to $3.50. Coin dealers pay such premiums on old coins.

IGNORANT.—The Ten Commandments are found in the fifth chapter of Deuteronomy. The great commandment is found in Matthew 22, verses 36 to 40.

READER.—If things are as you suspect we advise you to have a good talk with the woman, ask for an explanation, and insist that she change her habits or forfeit your friendship.

MISS RITA.—A pie paste of lard and butter may be made as follows: Rub ½ pound of fresh lard into 1 pound of flour, using just enough very cold water to bind it together, roll it out rather thin and spread butter over the surface. Now fold the paste, turning it twice, roll it out again, dredging the board with flour, spread on more butter and fold again. The same process is continued a third time, using in all a quarter of a pound of butter.

PEGGY BROWNE.—The Street Department of the city of St. Louis cleans hard surface streets from once a day to once a week, depending upon localities. Its maintenance is managed through a general superintendent and a system of districts and foremen. The sewage of St. Louis flows into the Mississippi River, there being no cost attached except sewer maintenance, and its efficiency being perfect except for the pollution of the river. In other cities garbage is disposed of by reduction, incineration and feeding to hogs. St. Louis garbage is fed to hogs.

G. W. R.—"Sphere of influence" may be defined as an area over which an outside power exercises economic control. Sometimes this economic control entails more or less of political control, such as operation of the controlled country's customs service and the right of trial of subjects of the controlling power before its diplomatic or consular representatives instead of the controlled country's courts. Existing spheres of influence are wholly or largely in the hands of the allies in the recent war and Japan, as a result of the war, none being exercised by the United States.

LEGAL INFORMATION.

(Prepared by a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

A. B. C.—A book account runs 5 years before it is outlawed.

KATE.—See the Free Legal Aid Bureau at the Municipal Courts Building.

EX-SOLDIER.—Write to the Secretary of State, Albany, N. Y., for information concerning the bonus in that State.

A CONSTANT READER.—You cannot be compelled to pay for half of a retaining wall, but it might be wise to do so.

MRS. R. T.—Upon the death of your husband you could not get anything except the insurance without administration.

FLO.—The names "Mason" and "Turner" are English. You can have the children you adopt rechristened and give them your name.

SALE.—Such a contract is principally a contract of sale, but it might be both a sale and a bailment, depending on the terms of the agreement.

AN EAST SIDE READER.—Make application for the restoration of your civil rights to the President of the United States at Washington, D. C., if you were sentenced by a Federal Court.

FRANCE V.—At present a girl becomes of age at 18 in Missouri, and can marry at that age without her parents' consent, until the new law making the age 21 goes into effect 90 days hence.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS.

(Answers prepared by a physician of authority. Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnoses or treatment of individual cases will not be given. Questions that cannot be publicly discussed, if showing evidences of sincerity, will be answered when accompanied by stamped envelope.)

E. M. S.—If the dry condition is confined to the face, fats in the form of ointments should be used, vaseline is very good. If the condition is general over the body it is most likely the skin disease known as ichthyosis, or "fish skin disease". In such an event you should have the advice of a good dermatologist, as it is a stubborn disorder, difficult to treat.

AFFLICTED.—1. Operation for hydrocele does not injure the part. 2. If done by the open, surgical method an anesthetic is used and consequently it is not painful. The condition can be cured painlessly by injection, without practically any detention from work or any hospital bills. 3. The work needs the service of a surgeon. A list for your selection will be sent if the request is made accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope.

DAILY READER.—Fleas, when infesting the premises, are difficult to get rid of unless a thorough sulphur fumigation is done, and this method may damage household effects and clothing. Try wiping the floors and woodwork with coal oil or turpentine. Thoroughly spraying, room by room, with Dalmatian Insect Powder, and leaving the room closed for a time, is sometimes effective. They may be trapped by placing a small piece of raw meat in a saucer containing a small quantity of coal oil. If all else fails a thorough sulphur fumigation will rid you of them. Call at Room 64, Municipal Courts Building.

MARY.—The treatment of diabetes may be divided into diabetic, hygienic and medicinal. The diabetic treatment is by far the most efficient, no permanent results are obtained without it. A diet list for this disease will be forwarded upon request, when accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope. Hygienic treatment consists of bathing, attention to the skin, out of doors muscular exercise and perfect ventilation indoors. Like all diseases in which treatment by drugs is relatively inefficient, this disease has its full share of reputed remedies, most of which are useless. This cannot, however, be said of opium. It certainly is a most useful agent, but it has the disadvantage of locking up the secretions. Codein, being comparatively free of this disadvantage, has become the favorite alkaloid of opium used in this disease. It may be given in one-fourth grain doses three times a day, increasing one-fourth grain daily, until the desired effect is produced or until it proves useless. If the sugar disappears the drug should be gradually withdrawn. If constipation results purgative waters may be used. After opium, arsenic is the drug holding second rank, and often, in mild cases, the drug of choice. Fowler Solution in small doses, three drops twice daily, continued indefinitely, is a favorite method. Other drugs are bromide of potash, bromide of arsenic, antipyoin, antifebrin, phenactin, salicylate of soda, jambul, iodide of potash and lactic acid.

ETHEL M. KELLEY, NOVELIST, PRESENTS

Modern Girl's Own Story From Her Own Viewpoint

Sees No Harm in Short Skirts and Low Necks, but Deplores "Flask Parties"—Thinks Mother Should Know More About Daughter's Friends and Where She Goes.

By MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL.

At last we have it—the Modern Girl's own story from the Modern Girl's point of view.

Mrs. Grundy has scolded her, the college boys have "knocked" her, friendly souls have come to her defense. What, all the time, has she been thinking? What is her own reaction to life? When she looks in the mirror of her heart and mind does she see a bold, immodest convention smasher or a high spirited, romantic, sorely puzzled youngster?

The answer is in "Beauty—and Mary Blair," written by Ethel M. Kelley, but in form and essence the flapper herself. In this basically serious and realistic novel of American girlhood, published only a few days ago, a typical New York girl, who is not of "society" or of the slums, but a resident of that—comparatively—unexplored territory lying between Central Park West and Riverside Drive, pictures herself and her world from the inside looking out.

In the girl's own words, from the facts of the girl's life, the rest of us find the answers to such questions as WHY "nice" girls make restaurant dances a rendezvous for the young man whom their parents hardly know; WHY these girls are kissed by men whom they have no thought of marrying; WHY they no longer confide in their mothers—and other "problems of modern girlhood" which so exercise our professional and amateur censors. "Beauty—and Mary Blair," by the way, has shocked some of them out of their boots, and is sure to create other electrical disturbances. But I should like to make it compulsory reading for every father and mother.

For this is what its charming young author said to me, when I called at her apartment to talk over Mary Blair and Mary Smith and Jane Jones and all the other flappers:

"The girl of today had rather be what she calls 'a good sport' than what her grandmother called 'a perfect lady,' but she is as truly innocent as the girl of any generation. There's nothing the matter with her except youth and high spirits. What IS wrong is the morale of her family, the disintegration of its life, and the responsibility therefor rests on father and mother—not on little daughter!"

Or to express the situation in Mary Blair's words: "What do you say to your mother when you've just seen your father basking in the smiles of a hand-painted siren, breaking the prohibition laws with the aid of a concealed flask? There is no doubt that it's uncanny to have your father or mother philandering, however innocently."

"With all the subversive, erratic teachings that are floating around today, it seems to me especially important that fathers and mothers should show their children the difference between right and wrong, should set up definite standards and insist that the young things conform to them. Somebody's got to keep the books. It is nonsense to say that a girl is unmanageable—when all she needs is to be spanked and put to bed!" continued Miss Kelley, smiling, but with a firm tilt of her prettily rounded chin.

"There's nothing wrong inside with 99-100ths of our boys and girls. But they need to be taught, to be guarded carefully; they are not old enough or wise enough to go their own way. That is simply a fact—and nothing they say about it can change it. Parents nowadays let little girls of 14 run around as if they were of age. But they're not—in law or development."

In "Beauty—and Mary Blair" Mary remarks, apropos of her semi-secret meetings with a certain young man:

"As for mother, she ought to be looking after me; I know that. She ought to find out where I go and why I go there. Fortunately my reasons and motives for what I do are perfectly sound. But supposing they weren't? I'm an adult, but quite a young adult, and sometimes I might be sincerely in need of the admonitions of a mother; but mother for some reason or other is not among those present at time of writing. She isn't attending to her business of mothering."

"The modern mother isn't, in too many instances," insisted Miss Kelley. "The modern father is dodging his responsibility of fathering. Perhaps he isn't like Mary Blair's father, who helping hand-painted sirens to break the prohibition laws, perhaps the mother isn't philandering with a music hound and picture sleuth, like Mrs. Blair. But she is likely to be doing club work, or saving starving Armenians, or waving her country's flag, instead of carefully bringing up her daughter; just as father may be so busy at his office that he has no time to get acquainted with his son. Every one seems so much more interested in doing other people's work instead of his or her own. Or dodging responsibilities at home and seeking them abroad.

"Incidentally, I think prohibition having the worst possible influence on the young, because they cannot help seeing how it is turning us into a nation of law-breakers and cheats. Whoever heard of flask parties, when it was possible to serve light lunch? Just as strong alcohol itself has a worse physical effect on boys and girls than on adults, so the constant defiance of the law has a more psychological effect."

Miss Kelley refuses to blame the modern girl on many of the specific counts made against her. "Our grandmothers showed as much of the upper part of their bodies as girls show today," she pointed out, "and I'm inclined to think that a display of calves is more modest than the efforts to make a tempting mystery of them. As for petting parties, they are merely a new name for the spooning, the buggy riding of the earlier generations. To the girl they mean romance, sentiment—nothing more appalling; they are a natural manifestation of the cosmic urge.

"As for the modern boy's point of view"——

"Mary Blair's Tommy expresses that," I laughed. For, in the words of that normally naive youth: "He likes a girl that knows where she gets off, and that makes a fellow comfortable and that keeps herself right up to the mark. He'd prefer to have her have a permanent wave if she gets it done right, and to have her be a good sport without ever getting out beyond a certain point where the ice is too thin."

"Modern youth is innocent," Miss Kelley concluded. "But of all things in the world innocence is most often misunderstood. To prevent that, to help innocence to understand itself sanely, to stop foolishness—that is what parents are for."

Or, to give Mary Blair the last word: "I think a family ought to co-ordinate as one man. When the head of it moves—either paternal head—the children ought to wiggle so many fingers and toes."

BEAUTY -o- AND -o- HEALTH

By Dr. Charlotte C. West

The Fingerprints of Time.

At 35, unless the gods have singled one out particularly, the advancing years begin to leave their traces. The tissues of the face and neck begin to sag, the complexion has, as a rule, already lost its freshness, and the figure shows a tendency toward lankiness or stoutness, according to one's habit. The hair begins to grow thin in patches, or gray in spots. Tricks of manner have become habits, and if one has acquired the unpleasant practice of punctuating every remark with a frown, or of drawing down the mouth or pursing the lips, or of chewing gum constantly, as so many Americans do, the overworked muscles lose their resiliency and fall into ugly lines.

The first signs of encroaching years appear at the chin and throat, both in men and women. Fastidious men dread a "statesman chin" as much as women do the extra fold of tissue which heralds to the world the fact that they are no longer "young." This unsightly sagging of the muscles is caused very largely by the habit of carrying the head low upon the chest. Professional beauties, society women and notable actresses never permit the chin to sink downward. The head is held high, the chin up and forward, whether asleep or awake, and by this means the sharp edge of the lower jaw is maintained—one of the most beautiful lines in the female form.

When the cheek muscles sag down below the jawbone and the chin rests in folds upon the neck, no woman, however lovely her character, looks young or attractive.

The tell-tale lines about the ears betoken age as a rule. Not always, for one occasionally sees them on very young girls, while in some quite elderly women they are never traced. The fact is that they depend very largely upon the manner in which the ears are set in the head. When loosely set the skin is apt to fall in tiny wrinkles that can be massaged away with daily manipulation.

Pinning back the ears with a fold of muslin during sleep is said to obviate the tendency of loose tissues to crumble, and the old-fashioned custom of mothers of a bygone age, who encased the heads of their children in nightcaps to train their too obvious ears into position, is a capital thing to pursue for the same purpose when one is grown up. When these tell-tale lines defy treatment the hair can be fluffed and drawn down to hide them from view.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

A Scare That Didn't Work.

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Chatterer the Red Squirrel was indignant. He was very indignant. In fact, Chatterer was sputtering angry. You know he is short-tempered, and it doesn't take a great deal to make him lose his temper. He had watched Mrs. Bear and the twins start out from the great windfall and had silently followed, keeping in the tree-tops as much as possible and taking the greatest care not to let Mrs. Bear or the twins know that he was about.

Inside he had chuckled to see the twins do exactly what Mother Bear did. When she sat up and they sat up beside her they looked so funny that he had hard work to keep from laughing right out. He had seen many funny things in the Green Forest, but nothing quite so comical as those two little Bears, hardly bigger than Peter Rabbit, gravely doing just exactly, what their mother did.

"Get out of this tree!" he yelled. "Get down out of this tree before I throw you down."

So Chatterer followed, all the time hoping for a chance to give those twin cubs a scare. But he didn't want to try it while Mother Bear was around, so he waited, hoping that she would leave them alone for a few minutes. Finally Mother Bear set the twins to climbing a certain tree. It was then that Chatterer became so very indignant. His sharp eyes snapped as he watched the twins scramble up that tree. He hoped they would fall. Yes, sir, Chatterer really hoped those twin cubs would fall.

You see, the trouble was that Chatterer didn't like the idea of those little Bears learning to climb trees. He felt that the trees belonged to the Squirrel family. It was bad enough to have Bobby Coon and Unc' Billy Possum climbing them. Now, to have two lively little Bears learning to climb was too much. It was altogether too much.

"They haven't any business in trees," sputtered Chatterer to himself, taking care not to be heard. "They haven't any business in trees. They belong on the ground, not in trees. I won't have them in the trees! I won't! won't!"

Now, of course, Chatterer knew right down in his heart that those cubs had just as much right in the trees as had he. The real truth of the matter was that as long as those little cubs remained on the ground Chatterer feared them not at all. He could be as saucy and impudent to them as he pleased. He could tease them and try to scare them and feel quite safe about it as long as their mother wasn't about. But if those cubs were going to learn to climb, and he had a feeling that they would make very good climbers, matters would be altogether different.

Chatterer watched the twins and he watched Mother Bear. At last the latter disappeared from sight. Unseen by the twins, Chatterer leaped across to the very tree in which they were sitting, but above them. "I'll give them such a scare that they will either fall down or will scramble down and never'll want to climb another tree," muttered Chatterer.

Silently he crept up behind them. Then he opened his mouth and yelled at them. "Get down out of this tree!" he yelled. "Get down out of this tree before I throw you down!"

He was so close to those little Bears that his voice seemed to be in their very ears. They recognized it as the voice which had scared them two or three times when they had first come out of the great windfall to play. It was so close and so unexpected that it startled them so that they almost let go their hold. Then Boxer turned and for the first time had a good view of Chatterer. He was looking at a very angry Red Squirrel, but instead of being afraid and starting to scramble down from that tree, as Chatterer had expected him to do, Boxer suddenly started straight for him, and it was plain to see that Boxer was an angry small Bear.

UNCOMMON SENSE

By JOHN BLAKE.

Fast Trains Run on Schedule.

When the passenger department of a railroad wants to cut down the running between two important towns, the operating department makes out a time schedule.

Engineers and conductors know exactly when they must arrive at way stations, how long they must stop, and when they must arrive again.

Nothing is allowed to interfere. If there is a delay between two stations it must be made up as soon as possible. This requires more coal, more strain on the nerves of the engine driver, and more alertness on the part of the switchmen and yard men. But that care has got to be expended.

Without a schedule no express train could make fast time. And without a schedule you will never get where you ought to be in the time that should be alloted for the journey.

Set yourself a goal you mean to reach at 30 years. If because of sickness, or a mistake in your calculations you do not reach it in that time, set a goal for 35 years far enough ahead to take care of the lost time.

Make that if you can. It will require extra effort, and extra nerve strain, but stick to the schedule.

Gradually you will find that you are carrying your schedule in mind, and bending all your efforts to keep it.

Sometimes you will fall behind, but you will always know it when you do, and work hard to make it up.

It is in making up time that all trains keep schedule, and it is in making up time that you will keep yours.

Jog along without any particular running time, and you will never know whether you are getting where you ought to get.

Keep a time card in your head, and you will miss every day that you lose—and put it into next day's schedule as extra time to be made up.

Figure how fast you can go without overstrain—provide for rest and repair, and then go ahead. It is the only way you will get where you ought to be at the end of the journey.

The Housewife's Scrapbook

When purchasing linoleum for the floor it is a good idea to order a lining of felt. This precaution will probably prolong the use of the linoleum. It also deadens sound and makes the floor warmer in winter. It prevents the linoleum from expanding or contracting and it gives a softer tread, all advantages worth considering.

You can easily clean your velvet suit or coat. Hang the garment on a hanger or a dress form, if you have one. Fit a piece of rubber tube over the spout of the tea kettle and thoroughly play the escaping steam over the garment. Then give the clothes a light brushing and you will have saved a cleaner's bill.

MAXIMS OF A MODERN MAID

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

The modern girl's middle name may be Jezebel, but at least she doesn't linger on purpose in the shadowy vestibule when he says good night—and then moan, heartbrokenly, "Oh, Algernon, how could you!"

Before marriage it is man who brags about his love affairs; after marriage it is woman who fondly recalls how many men used to be "just crazy" about her.

One advantage of life in the "great, friendless city" of New York is that it is SO big that one can lose one's friends whenever one is so inclined.

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love—and takes a right-about turn after he has read the details of the spring divorce suits.

It is so much easier to live with a selfish person than with one who is self-sacrificing—and knows it.

A marriage for love may be a leap in the dark, but a marriage of convenience is a deliberate choice of the broad path that leadeth to destruction.

When you fall in love with a man who is tied to a wife there MAY be a chance that you will some day marry him; but when you set your heart on one who is wedded to a bachelor flat, a golf club and a collection of habits, your case is hopeless.

Circus Stuff

SECOND INSTALLMENT.

After supper that evening Harmony walked into the cook tent, interrupted the hum of vanishing soup, stood on a box of canned apples, and made the hands a speech.

As I have often said, this here Harmony Childs is one of the most gifted word architects I ever knew. Besides having a pleasing way with him and a friendly grin that makes people want to trust him, our comrade and chief has an uncanny power of linking together a lot of ordinary words, and making the result sound like somebody begging you to take a thousand dollars of their money and spend it on your family.

In other words, Harmony is a natural pleader, and if he had been born a lawyer, no railroad would ever win its case against a poor widow woman.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he began, when the eaters looked up. "Bernal P. Tufts no longer owns or operates this circus. I am the new boss. If you stick to me till we reach King City I will pay off in full, together with a nice bonus in cash for one and all."

That is a brief condensation of what he said, but he used up 10 minutes in adorning the simple statement with the flowers of rhetoric he knows so well, and which I don't remember, and couldn't repeat if I did. At the end of the speech Mr. Childs stepped down from the canned apples and those sad, simple, and unpaid circus performers rose up and gave him a small cheer. They agreed to trust in Harmony and his two friends, and collect all back pay when the outfit reached King City, which is a county seat, a great oil center and the hub of a populous and prosperous farming community. There was money in King City, and the performers knew it.

Under the new management a number of changes occurred the moment B. P. Tufts faded from view. They consisted of improvements dictated by the new manager and agreed to by everyone, except Omar, the human porcupine and the world's first conscientious objector. When he heard what Harmony laid out for him to do he soared like a wounded moose.

"Certainly I can box," he told Harmony, "but I won't. I knew you'd drag me into this fool thing, somehow."

It was plainly apparent that Tufts' Mammoth Circus needed new blood, new tents, new performers, new acts, new seats, and almost new everything. These things could not be procured until money was earned, but in the meantime there were certain changes that could be made immediately, and Harmony ordered them.

He started in a small way by appointing himself ringmaster, director-general, and managing editor. In order to insure greater honesty at the door and acquire whatever half dollars started our way, the regular ticket seller was removed to the horse department, and I was installed to handle the cash. After some thought, Harmony selecting a trifling bit of work for Omar to perform at each exhibition, the idea being to liven up the regular schedule and inject a little pep.

Mr. Gill was required to put on a pair of underdrawers and box three brisk rounds. The gentleman with whom he was to do this boxing was none other than Dorlando Hergesheimer, the tiger tamer. At this point it seems essential to reach back into the details and look over certain features of the organization bequeathed us by the departed Tufts.

When we took it under a friendly wing, that circus contained just one wild animal, if you don't count Henri, the cook, who was always more or less volcanic by nature. This wild animal was a Bengal tiger, referred to as Nero, and while I never knew much about tigers as a class, and have, in fact, avoided them, I could still see that there was reason for the dread in which Nero was held by the circus employes.

This wild animal had only one friend in the world, and that was Dorlando Hergesheimer, the dauntless and unshaved trainer. On the advertising he was billed as Dorlando the Fearless, and he was all of that, because Nero was no joke tiger. He had a full equipment of saw teeth and a rotten disposition, and he never lost either for a minute.

Nero was a lean and hungry-looking beast, with concave flanks and a couple of hips that looked as if somebody had broken them and set them back wrong. On his upper jaw were a pair of fangs labeled sudden death, and when he snarled, as he did, you could see clear down his red and inflamed throat as far as his third speed forward. He could bite a man's leg off with one chew, and would, if given the slightest encouragement.

If you passed his cage in a careless manner he had a playful habit of reaching for you with his left paw, and during the first week Omar went by, looking innocently for a tin pan, and Nero slapped him one and removed a $12 suit of clothes without touching a button. Omar bled a little and declared war on Nero, and that war continued from then on.

Every time our little third ingredient sauntered by the tiger wagon he either hit Nero with a small, three-cornered rock or pounded on the end of his tail with a broom handle. Neither of these attentions brought the two of them closer to a warm friendship. On the end of Nero's tail was a knobby, bushy growth, and this hairy apex was extraordinarily tender. When Omar learned this anatomical fact, he got him an iron bar and played for the tail consistently.

As Nero was the only real, live wild animal in the Tufts Mammoth Circus, naturally he was necessary to its continued existence. Likewise and hence, Dorlando Hergesheimer, the fearless and joyless tamer of jungle beasts, was essential to our success. Harmony perceived this at once, and did everything he could to make Dorlando's life a happy one. But not Omar.

In addition, there was Jimmy Ricks, a left-handed tight-rope walker and comedian, and, besides him, Joe Lavelle, a rheumatic clown, who began clowning the year Gen. Grant entered high school. Paddy Sheehan and Ella Lohman were our trapeze performers, and there was nothing the matter with them, except that Paddy's tights were in a state of extreme thinness, and we had no chance to buy him any others. As for Ella's spangles, and so forth, they were all right, because a woman can always keep such things in repair, despite poverty and all, but Paddy had dismally concluded that as the show was going on the rocks he might as well let his tights go with it.

"Yeh," said Omar reproachfully to him, "but some day you're going to wish you had new tights on, and it's going to be too late for wishing. I'm telling you, Paddy."

May Cruze was the lady bareback rider and weighed 93 pounds in her war paint. She was a sweet little thing, engaged to a Sicilian grocer in Oakland, who wrote her letters threatening to kill her with a knife if she didn't quit circusing and marry him. The trick cyclist was Henry Pease, who proved twice a day that the human male animal can get himself ossified and still ride a bike. Jimmy Jinsen's Educated Seals rounded out the list of artistes, and brings us down to the band, which was composed of four ruddy beer drinkers, related to the German nation by marriage. They played a snare drum, a fife, a cornet of the E-flat type, and a trombone, and those four sons of the Blond Beast could take an ordinary tune and make it heard above the soughing of a monsoon.

They weren't good or artistic or even unanimous players, but they had fine compression, and you could hear that band 32 miles on a cloudless night. They didn't mind the lack of the weekly envelope, but they did complain in their quaint, gargling tongue over the hideous scarcity of beer saloons.

Then we had a small corps of billposters, tent and wagon men, cooks and ticket sellers, and, when we added ourselves to the list of liabilities, there was us, or there was we, if you like it better.

Everybody had to be fed during the period of poor cities, but all agreed to hang on until we reached King City, where we would have to make good or follow B. P. Tufts in his disappearing specialty.

As I said, Harmony arranged the boxing exhibition between Omar Gill and Dorlando Hergesheimer because of what he considered the general paucity of genteel entertainment, and the difficulty of dragging the performance over a couple of hours with the materials Mr. Tufts left us.

Dorlando agreed readily enough to box with Omar before the simple country folk who might attend our show, but he put in a proviso of his own. He made it plain that he would have to thrash Omar at each and every show. He desired to emerge a victor, as became one who tamed tigers. Would it seem fitting for a tiger tamer to be defeated by a little fat man who looked a good deal like a perambulating vasaba melon? Not at all.

"All right," said Harmony in reply. "All right, Dorlando. I'll fix it so you win."

Then he told Omar what would be required of him, and if you were standing on the west coast of Denmark you could have heard Omar's shrieks of rage. Many years before, when Mr. Gill was a lad in Oakland, he had been an amateur boxer, who had won medals and such, and who took pride in his ability to put up his dukes. Now he was called upon to let a tiger-taming four-flusher whim him before private citizens.

"I'm looking to quit this circus at any minute," he said to Harmony. "I have my feelings!"

Harmony merely grunted. No change was made in the proposed boxing matches, and the circus moved on. Before reaching King City he had to play through a mess of small towns, lacking in real financial nourishment, in order to get the necessaries of life. The villages between us and manna lay along the bottom of the San Dimas Valley and they were indeed a poor lot, including a bunch of half-dead settlements with few people, no money and no ambition to see circuses or anything else.

They were sun-cooked and lifeless lot, and if we gathered in 200 spectators we had a big day. This discouraging state of affairs continued down the valley, while we played dismally through San Potosi, Crelin, Wheeler's Springs, Obat, Bufbage, Navapai, and Lawson.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY
By James J. Montague.

TO THE FACULTY OF VASSAR.

Most grave and reverend gents and dames,
We know that it's your bounden duty
To teach your charges higher aims
Than seeking to enhance their beauty.
We know, of course, that you regret
As knees appear, and skirts grow shorter,
That college maidens are too set

Ourselves when young have oft applied
The lash to fashion's affectations;
The fact that modesty has died
We've hailed with sighs and deprecations;
The duds we see where e're we stray
Arouse our fevered apprehension
And yet the maidens go their way
And never pay the least attention.

Not even when we've pointed out
That these sartorial curtailments,
Without the shadow of a doubt
Result in various bronchial ailments.
And that the more a girl took off
The more her frame grew hollow chested,

And so, most grave and reverend dames,
Although your troubled apprehensions
About young ladies' togs proclaims
The worthiness of your intentions,
The more you speak your honest mind
The more their raiment will diminish,
And in the end you'll only find
You've started something you can't finish!

SAFE DISTANCE.
England has one consolation. Australia is not as close aboard as Ireland.

THE ONE SOURCE OF SUPPLY.
